Chapter 1

Introduction

1Since many have undertaken to draw up an account of the things fully attested among us, 2as delivered to us by the original eyewitnesses who became stewards of the word, 3it seemed good to me also, having meticulously traced everything again from the top, to write it down in sequence for you, O most excellent Theophilus, 4so that you may know the reliability of things you have been told.

The Birth of John the Baptizer Foretold

5 It came about in the time of Herod, king of Judea, that there was a priest, Zechariah by name, of the rotation of Abijah. 2 He had a wife from the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth. 6 Both were upright in the sight of God, walking blamelessly in all the commandments and requirements of the Lord. 7 But a child they did not have, because Elizabeth was barren. And they were both advanced in age.

8 And it came about, that once when his rotation was on duty and he was serving as priest before God, his lot fell 9(normal custom for the priesthood) to go into the temple of the Lord, and to burn incense. 3

10 The hour of incense came, and all the people in the assembly were praying outside. 11 Then an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing at the right side of the altar of incense. 12 Seeing it disturbed Zechariah, and fear fell over 4 him. 13 But the angel said to him: "Fear not, Zechariah, for your request was heard. Your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall call his name John. 14 Joy and gladness will be with you, and many will rejoice over his birth. 15 For he will be great in the eyes of the Lord. Wine and intoxicating beverages by no means shall he drink, and he will be filled with the Holy Spirit, beginning yet in his mother's womb. 16 He will turn many of the children of Israel toward the Lord their God. 17 And he will proceed in front of Him, in the spirit and power

NOTE regarding the critical apparatus in these footnotes. Due to feedback I have received about what manuscripts I cite, that there was some "cherry-picking" of which minuscules to cite, I have changed my footnotes. In order to make it objective, I now use only one criteria that is objective: I only cite witnesses 8th century or earlier, and I cite all witnesses 8th century or earlier that I have access to. The result is very revealing.

1 1:2 Or, "as delivered to us by those who from the beginning were eyewitnesses and servants of the word." The word I translated "became" is the Greek word γίνομαι - ginomai, which usually means became, or came about, or happen. But Luke often uses γίνομαι in place of the simple word in Greek for "to be." That is why most translations translate it here as simply "were." But the reason I did not translate it that way, is that it would result in a non-Lukan use of the title "the Word" for Jesus. For you see, if we say, they were eyewitnesses and servants of the word from the beginning, that would be the only possible explanation of the idea of "being eyewitness of the word." That means they beheld Jesus as the word, in the Johannine concept of I John 1:1 and John 1. Otherwise, what would it mean? That they saw Jesus write the word down? But I do not believe that is what Luke is saying. I believe he is saying that the men who were the first eyewitness of Jesus, were given the trust of being stewards of the word, of the message. See Acts 1:21-22, which Luke also wrote. There we read how it was decided that the original eyewitnesses became official stewards of the word.

2 1:5 The priests were divided up into divisions that took turns in rotation, doing the priestly duties.

3 1:9 It is said that a priest received only once in his lifetime, if at all, the privilege to enter inside the shrine to burn incense. The Levites were divided into 48 semi-annual rotations. So a particular priest's rotation was on duty only about twice a year. Then as to the individual who would go inside to burn incense, it was the custom of the priesthood to decide whose turn it was by casting lots. Zechariah's lot fell.

4 1:12 See the Septuagint, Psalm 54:5.
of Elijah, such that the hearts of fathers will turn toward their children, and the disobedient toward the outlook of the righteous: a prepared people will be arranged for the Lord."

18Zechariah said to the angel, "By what will I know this? For I am old, and my wife is well advanced in age."

19And in answer the angel said to him, "I am Gabriel, one who stands in the presence of God, and I have been sent to speak to you and to tell you these glad announcements.

20And behold, you will be silent and unable to speak, until the day these things take place, because you did not believe my words, which will be fulfilled in their time."

21And the people were waiting for Zechariah, and wondering about his delay in the temple. 22And when he came out, he was not able to speak to them, and they knew: a vision he had seen in the temple. He kept motioning to them, and remained mute. 23And when his days of service were completed, he went home.

24After those days, his wife Elizabeth conceived, and she hid herself for five months. 25"The way the Lord has done this for me," she said, "these are days he has looked with concern upon me, to take away my disgrace among the people."

The Birth of Jesus Foretold

26And in the sixth month, the angel Gabriel was sent out from God, to a town in Galilee named Nazareth. 27To a virgin pledged to be married to a man named Joseph, of the house of David. And the virgin's name was Mary. 28And the angel went in to her, and said, "Hail, O favored one! The Lord is with you."

29But she was very troubled by the utterance, and wondered what sort of greeting this might be. 30Then the angel said to her, "Fear not, Mary, for you have found favor among women."

5 1:17a The Greek says John will proceed in the power of Elijah "to turn." The verb for turn, ἐπιστρέφω - epistrephw, is in the infinitive form, ἐπιστρέψαι - epistrepsi. This is an "infinitive of result," a Hebraism.

6 1:17b The wording "the Fathers," in English tends to mean "all the fathers." But in this context, the number of fathers is set by verse 16, "He will turn many." Thus, there would be many fathers whose hearts will turn ἐπί τέκνα - epi tekna (toward children.) There is no possessive pronoun "their" here in the Greek. But if we leave it out here, in English, if someone's heart "turns toward children," that might be understood to mean, he decides he now wants to have children. This verse must be an allusion to Malachi 4:6 in the Hebrew, and not the Septuagint. In the Hebrew it is fathers, plural, and children, generic. The Septuagint says δεῖ ἀποκατασταθῇ καρδία πατρός πρὸς υἱὸν, "who will turn the heart of the father to the son." Several translations make the word πατήρ (pater) generic here, and so translate it as "parents to their children." I can understand that. But so many people already have an understanding of this verse, based on what seems to be a reality in this world that there are more children and fathers estranged, than children from their mothers. For example, the Bible says "Who ever heard of such a thing as a mother killing her child and eating him?" Apparently, it is harder to believe that a mother would do that to her child, than a father. Note that Malachi in the Hebrew also says that He will turn the hearts of the sons to the fathers. The question is, what is broken? Is it more fathers estranged from their children, and children angry at their fathers? Or mothers to the same extent? I think it is the former. That is why I am leaving it fathers and children, because that is more what is broken in the absence of the power of the Spirit. 7 1:18 Zechariah may have felt his question justified in that Abraham asked the same thing-- for a sign. See Genesis 15:8. But this reflects a lack of belief in God's statements. Jesus said later, "A wicked and adulterous generation asks for a miraculous sign, but none will be given it except the sign of Jonah." (Diathess. 11:17-18; Mt 12:38-39; Lk 11:16, 20) The apostle Paul said, "For Jews require a sign, and Greeks seek after wisdom..." (I Cor. 1:22)

And the Lord God will give him the throne of his father David, 33 and he will reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there will be no end."

34 And Mary said to the angel, "How will this happen, since I am not knowing a man?" 11

35 And in answer the angel said to her, "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you. For this reason also, the one to be born will be called holy, 12 the Son of God. 36 And behold, Elizabeth your relative, even she in her old age, has conceived a son, and this is the sixth month with her, she who was called barren. 37 Therefore with God, nothing 13 will be impossible." 38 "Here am I, the slave girl of the Lord," Mary said. "May it be to me according to your statement." Then the angel left her.

Mary Stays With Elizabeth

39 At that time Mary got up and went with speed to the hill country, to a town of Judah, 40 where she entered the house of Zechariah, and greeted Elizabeth. 41 And it came about that when Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the baby in her womb did leap, and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit. 42 And she shouted out in a loud voice, saying, "Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb! 43 And why does it come to me, that to me the mother of my Lord should come? 44 For when the sound of your greeting came into my ears, the baby in my womb did leap in exultation. 14 45 Blessed is she who believed that there will be a completion of the things announced to her from the Lord!"

Mary's Song

46 And Mary said:

"My soul does magnify the Lord, 15 and my spirit did rejoice 11"
in God my Savior,

because he looked toward the lowly station of his servant.

So behold: all generations after now will consider me blessed, because the Mighty One did great things for me.

And holy will be his name,

to those who fear him,

into age after age.

He scattered those who were proud in the thoughts of their heart.

He pulled down rulers from their thrones

and lifted high the humble.

Hungry ones he filled up with good things

and rich ones he sent away empty.

He helped his servant Israel, and remembered

about mercy

'to Abraham and his seed for ever,'
as he said to our fathers.'

...ὁ δυνατός, καὶ ἰδίων τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ, καὶ τὸ ἐλεός αὐτοῦ εἰς γενεάς καὶ γενεάς τοῖς φοβουμένοις αὐτόν. Traditionally, this ὁ δυνατός, καὶ ἰδίων τὸ ὄνομα is considered an example of the Hebraistic use of καί to co-ordinate words with independent clauses; so Friedrich Blass, and thus read: "The Mighty One did great things for me, wherefore his name is holy." But ἰδίων is ambiguously both masculine and neuter, and the flow seemed to group together "his name and his mercy" as that which is holy. In the Greek, ἰδίων τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ, καὶ τὸ ἐλεός αὐτοῦ...τοῖς φοβουμένοις, "holy his name and his mercy," the words 'holy,' 'name,' and 'mercy' are all three neuter singular; 'name' and 'mercy' are subjects; and 'holy' is the predicate adjective, and there is no verb, except the implied copula verb ἐστίν, 'is'. The O-V-S syntax is more common when a single verb has a double subject. ἐστίν is by far the copula most frequently omitted but implied in Greek, and a preference for omission is observed in (1) proverbs, (2) impersonal constructions, especially those expressing possibility or necessity, (3) questions, and (4) exclamations. And the τοῖς φοβουμένοις, "to those who fear him," is something like an "ethical dative," (also a Semitism), thus meaning, "his name and his mercy will be holy in the eyes of those who fear him." For is not the kindness and forbearance of God meant to lead you to repentance and holiness? (Romans 2:4) For other examples of the ethical dative, see Jonah 3:3, Acts 7:20, II Peter 3:14, and possibly the ἔρχομαι σοι of Rev. 2:5. We have examples of the ethical dative in English literature also. See Milton's Paradise Lost, Book I, Lines 25-26: "I may assert Eternal Providence, And justify the ways of God to men." In other words, justify the ways of God in the eyes of men, in the sight of men.

Mary through the anointing of the Holy Spirit looks both backward and forward: backward to the "from everlasting to everlasting, to generation of generations" of Psalm 103:17, and forward, as in Psalm 146:10, "into age after age," in harmony with Paul in Ephesians 2:7, that God sent Yeshua "so that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus." In Psalm 89:1, the "From everlasting until everlasting" covers both past, present and future. But the "time" tense here is still relative to and set by verse 48 as the future, where she speaks of "all the ages from now on." Her phrase in the Greek, "into age after age," εἰς γενεάς καὶ γενεάς, is almost identical to the Greek phrase of Psalm 146:10. This same phrase is also used in Lamentations 5:19, and Psalm 49:11 (and many others) as a parallelism to "for ever." Psalm 146 is clearly a Psalm she loved. Psalm 45:17 says, "I will cause your name to be celebrated in all generations; therefore the peoples will praise you for ever and ever." This shows that "all generations" is a parallelism to "for ever and ever." See the preceding footnote about the verb "is" being omitted when expressing possibility. "And holy may be his name, and his mercy to those who fear him."

The Greek verb is an infinitive, an infinitive of illustration or result, a Hebraism; so also several instances in Zechariah's song.
Mary remained with her about three months, and then returned to her home.

The Birth of John the Baptist

And the time was fulfilled for Elizabeth to give birth, and she produced a son. Her neighbors and relatives heard that the Lord had magnified his mercy to her, and they rejoiced with her.

And it came about that on the eighth day, they came to circumcise the child, and they were about to call him by the name of his father, Zechariah, and his mother responded and said, "No! He shall be called John."

And they said to her, "There is no one among your relatives called by that name."

Then they signaled to his father, to find out what he wanted him to be called. And he asked for a tablet, and wrote as follows: His name is John. Everyone was surprised. And immediately his mouth was opened, and also his tongue, and he spoke, blessing God.

An awe came over everyone who lived around them, and all through the hill country of Judea these things were being discussed.

And everyone who heard, kept thinking about it, saying, "What then will this child be?" For the hand of the Lord was certainly with him.

Zechariah's Song

And his father Zechariah was filled with the Holy Spirit, and he prophesied, saying:

Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, because he has turned to concern himself and has accomplished redemption for his people.

He has raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of David his servant, as he has said through the mouths of his holy prophets since eons ago, salvation from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us— to demonstrate mercy to our fathers to remember his holy covenant, the oath he swore to our father Abraham: to give us rescue from the hand of our enemies, that we may serve him without fear in holiness and righteousness before him all our days.

Yes and you, child, will be called a prophet of the Most High; for you will go on before the Lord to prepare his paths, to give his people the knowledge of salvation through the forgiveness of their sins, because of the tender feelings of our God with which the Sunrise from on high will look over us to appear to those sitting in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet along the path of peace."

And the child grew and became strong in spirit; and he was in the deserts, until the days of his being presented to Israel.

Chapter 2

The Birth of Jesus

1 And it came about in those days, that a decree went out from Caesar Augustus, that all the inhabited earth should be registered. 2 This was the first registration that took place while Quirinius was governor of Syria. 3 And all were making their way to be registered, each to his own town.

4 Thus Joseph also went up, from the town of Nazareth in Galilee, to Judea, to the town of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was from the house and line of David; 5 to be registered along with Mary, the one pledged to him, who was pregnant. 6 And it came about that while they were there, the days for her to give birth were completed, 7 and she bore her firstborn son. And she swaddled him and placed him in a feeding trough, because there was no room for them in the inn.

The Shepherds and the Angels

8 And there were shepherds in that same region, camping out in the fields, keeping watch over their flocks by night. 9 And an angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone all around them, and they were terrified. 10 And the angel said to them, "Fear not. For behold, I am announcing to you a great joy that will be with all the people. 11 Because for you is born this day, in the town of David, a Savior, who is Messiah the Lord. 12 And this will be a sign to you: you will find a baby swaddled, and lying in a feeding trough."

13 And suddenly, there was with the angel a great company of the army of heaven, praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest realms! And on earth peace, good will toward men!"

2:1 The whole inhabited earth... This is hype, commonly used in order to magnify the emperors. The meaning is the whole empire. The registration here is the recording of the names for the purpose of adding everyone to the tax rolls. The phrase could also be translated that a census should be taken of all the inhabited earth. The tax is a poll tax, or head tax, or a capitation, as forbidden in the constitution for the U.S.A. This was a form of tribute forced upon the conquered by the conqueror.

2:7 Or swathed, or podded. In this practice, the baby was bound up tight with bands of cloth for reasons which may be reasonably guessed. The cloth would absorb any blood, amniotic fluid and wax still present after cleaning; this would have both practical and ceremonial cleanliness ramifications, since the mother's blood was ceremonially unclean. The dead were wrapped somewhat similarly. Furthermore, the infant wrapped in such a way would be prevented from rolling. This last reason could have been especially applicable in Jesus' case, since he was placed in a stone feeding trough. The stone surface was not necessarily level or even. In addition, swaddling could have prevented the infant from rolling or flopping its limbs during travel on an animal. Native Americans swaddled a papoose to a sled of sorts to facilitate traveling. Traveling or not, a woman of that circumstance had a heavy burden of chores, and the swaddling could have kept the infant out of trouble while mother's eye was not upon it. Many Mediterranean lands practiced swaddling well over a thousand years later. See also Job 38:8,9; Ezekiel 16:4-6. Note that the Ezekiel passage implies that a baby not swaddled, is unclean, and undignified. (The passage refers to Jerusalem.) It is important that a translation of this Luke text use the same word as used in Job and Ezekiel, so that the reader catches the connection.

And it came about that when the angels had departed from them into heaven, the shepherds were saying to one another, "Let's go over to Bethlehem, and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us."

And they went speeding, and found both Mary and Joseph, and the baby lying in the feeding trough. And once they had seen, they gave an exact report of the message spoken to them concerning this child. And all who heard it were amazed at what the shepherds said to them. As for Mary, she memorized these words, and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God, because of the fact that all the things which they had heard and seen, were just as it had been told to them.

Jesus Presented in the Temple

And when the eighth day had arrived, the time to circumcise him, he was called the name Jesus, the name called by the angel before he was conceived in the womb. And when the days of their cleansing according to the Law of Moses had been completed, they took him up to Jerusalem to present him to the Lord, as it is written in the Law of the Lord, "Every male to open a womb shall be called holy to the Lord," and to offer a sacrifice, in keeping with what is said in the Law of the Lord: "a pair of doves or two young pigeons."

And behold, a man was in Jerusalem whose name was Simeon. This man was righteous and devout, waiting for the consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him. It had been communicated to him by the Holy Spirit, that he would not see death before he had seen the Lord's Anointed. And he came by the Spirit into the temple, at the same time that the parents of the child Jesus brought him to do for him what the custom of the Law required. And Simeon took him into his arms and blessed God, and said:

"Now, Master, keeping your word, you are dismissing your slave in peace. For my eyes have seen your salvation, which you have prepared in the sight of all the peoples:

The UBS textual commentary says that the majority text reading is probably a scribal oversight, because, "at the end of a line εὐδοκίας would differ from εὐδοκία only by the presence of the smallest lunar sigma, little more than a point, for which it might have been taken—thus εὐδοκίας:"

Also according to the UBS textual commentary, the earlier reading is a Semitizing construction characteristic of Luke chapters 1 and 2. This Semitic expression is found in Hebrew in the Dead Sea Scrolls in several Qumran Hymns: "the sons of his (God's) good pleasure," 1 QH iv.32 f.; xi.9; and "the elect of his (God's) good pleasure," viii.6; and also in Aramaic, in a fragment from Qumran, "among men of his good pleasure," see J. A. Fitzmeyer, S. J. (Theological studies, XIX [1958], pp. 225-227. The Sahidic translation of this phrase of the angels' song reads, "And peace upon earth among men of his desire." Similarly, later in this gospel, a voice from heaven says about Jesus, "You are my beloved son; in you I had good pleasure." See Galatians 6:16. Interesting that the same people who object to the NA27 text in Luke 2:14 where instead of "peace, goodwill toward men," it limits the blessing to "men of his good pleasure," yet in Revelation 22:21 where the NA27 text says "the grace of the Lord Jesus be with all," they object, and prefer that that blessing be only to the saints. This shows that the TR-only and KJV-only mentality is not reasonable, neither spiritual, but a cult following of one translation, and carnal, like where Paul says some say, "I am of Paul," and others, "I am of Apollos," etc.
And the child’s father and mother were marveling at the things being said about him. And Simeon blessed them, and said to Mary, his mother: “Behold, this one is being laid down to cause the stumbling or rising of many in Israel, and to be a sign that will be continually denounced—yes a sword will be run through your own soul too—so that the thoughts of many hearts will be revealed.”

And there was also a prophetess, Hannah, daughter of Penuel, of the tribe of Asher. This woman had grown to be very old, having lived with a husband for seven years after her virginity, and then being a widow to eighty-four years of age, one who hardly left the temple, but served night and day, in fasting and praying. And coming up at that very time, she gave thanks to God, and spoke about the child to all those expecting redemption in Jerusalem.

And when they had completed everything required by the Law of the Lord, they returned to their own town of Nazareth. And the child grew and became strong; he was filled with wisdom, and the grace of God was upon him.

The Boy Jesus at the Temple

Now his parents would go every year to Jerusalem for the festival of Passover. And when he turned twelve years old, they went up, according to the custom of the Festival.

And the thoughts of many hearts will be revealed.”

28 2:32 In a physical sense, as is intended here, a Gentile is any person or nation that is not Israelite; that is, not a blood descendant of Jacob. (God had changed Jacob’s name to Israel).

29 2:33 See Luke 2:41. Erasmus was correct, but the KJV does not follow him here. Never once in all 5 of his editions. Said he, “In some Greek manuscript I read ‘Joseph’ instead of ‘father’; in my opinion it has been changed by someone who feared that Joseph be called Jesus’ father” (“In Graecis aliquot codicibus lego pro pater, Joseph; quod arbitror inmutatum a quopiam, qui vereretur Ioseph vocare patrem Iesu…”); ‘aliqoqot’ added in 1519—ASD VI–5, p. 484 ll. 42–44; similarly in Resp. ad annot. Ed. Lei, ASD IX–4, p. 126 ll. 506–509). So we see that Erasmus figured that copyists changed the original “father” to Joseph, for the very same reasons that KJV Onlyists prefer the reading “Joseph.” But they forget that the KJV calls Joseph Jesus’ father in several other passages. Erasmus was correct, but the KJV does not follow him here.

31 2:34 “I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone…” “A stone of stumbling, a rock of offense…” “The person who trips over that stone will be turned into powder…” On the other hand, many New Israelites will rise up or stand up, as a result of Gentiles being grafted into the Olive Tree. This is the same word as used for resurrection, and also for some brand new thing or person coming into existence. See for example Isaiah 56:6-8.

32 2:38b 2:40 Greek, καὶ ὥστε - kai hoti egeneto, “and when he became” twelve... Luke does not use "kai hoti egeneto" as a transitional phrase. Never once in his gospel or in Acts did Luke use even just the word "hote" in a transitional phrase, but rather, he always used it to indicate precisely the timing of something. Here Jesus, the Lamb of God, is just turning twelve shortly before the Passover festival. This may mean that Jesus’ birthday was in our late March or early April. The Magi that knew of Jesus’ birth and came from the east, were astrologers. For them, signs involving the planet Jupiter (Zeus) represented royalty and kings. So if there was a sign or conjunction involving Jupiter, the Magi would take note. Jupiter was in retrograde motion in April of the year 6 B.C. Thus, that star would “stand still.” We know from the gospel of Luke that the shepherds were “keeping watch over their flocks by night.” They only did that during birthing time, to protect the ewes and newborn lambs. In other words, they did that during Spring time. Furthermore, Luke says here that Jesus turned 12 years old around Passover time. Astronomer Michael Molnar (http://michaelmolnar.com/) has found that there was a conjunction of Jupiter (while retrograde and “standing still”) with the moon, in Aries, on April 17, 6 B.C. This would harmonize with Luke's spring timing, and also with the fact that both Matthew and Luke say Jesus was born during the reign of Herod, who died in 4 B.C. Thus I say it is practically certain that Jesus was born in spring time, and that April 17, 6 B.C. is the best theory put forth yet as to his exact day of birth. One thing...
And when the days were completed and they were returning home, the boy Jesus remained in Jerusalem, and his parents were not aware of it. Thinking he was in their company, they went a day's journey, and then began looking for him among their relatives and acquaintances. And when they did not find him, they went back to Jerusalem to look for him. And it came about that after three days they found him, sitting in the temple, in the midst of the teachers, both listening to them and questioning them. And all those who heard him were amazed at the understanding of his responses. And when his parents saw him, they were stunned. His mother said to him, "Son, why have you treated us this way? Look at how distressed your father and I are, searching for you."

And he said to them, "Why would you be searching for me? Shouldn't you have known that I would have to be among my Father's things?"

But they did not understand what he said to them. Then he went down with them and arrived in Nazareth, and continued to subordinate himself to them. But his mother was recording all these words in her heart.

Jesus kept growing in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and with people.

Chapter 3

John the Baptizer Prepares the Way

In the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, with Pontius Pilate governor of Judea, and Herod as tetrarch of Galilee, his brother Philip tetrarch of Iturea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias as tetrarch of Abilene, during the high priesthood of Hananiah and Kayafa, the word of God came upon John the son of Zechariah in the desert. And he appeared, in all the areas around the Jordan, proclaiming a baptism of repentance for forgiveness of sins, as it is written in the scroll of the words of Isaiah the prophet:

"The voice of one calling in the desert,
Prepare the way for the Lord,
make the paths straight for him.
5Every valley shall be filled up, every mountain and hill laid low.
The crooked places shall be made straight,
the rough ways smooth.
6And all flesh shall see the salvation of God."

7So John would say to the crowds coming out to be baptized by him, "You spawn of snakes!  Who warned you to flee from the coming wrath?  8Then produce fruit characteristic of repentance.  And do not begin to say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father.'  For I tell you that God can raise up children for Abraham from these stones.  9Even now the axe is poised at the root of the trees, and every tree that does not produce good fruit will be cut down and thrown into the fire."
10And the crowds would ask him, "What should we do then?"
11And in answer he would say to them, "The person who has two tunics should give away to the one who has none, and the person who has foodstuffs should do the same."
12Revenue agents also came to be baptized, and they asked him, "Teacher, what should we do?"
13He said to them, "Collect nothing in excess, beyond what is prescribed for you."
14Some soldiers were also questioning him, saying, "And us, what should we do?"
And he told them, "You should no longer shake down anyone, nor frame anyone, always staying content with your pay."
15And all the people were waiting expectantly, wondering in their hearts if John might possibly be the Anointed One.
16John responded speaking to everyone, "I baptize you in water, but one who is more powerful than I is coming, the thongs of whose sandals I am not worthy to untie.  He will baptize you in the Holy Spirit and in fire:  17his winnowing fork is in his hand to clear out his threshing floor, gathering the wheat into the barn.  But the chaff he will burn up in unquenchable fire."
18And with many and varied other exhortations John was preaching the good news to the people.
19But when Herod the Tetrarch was rebuked by him, regarding Herodias his brother's wife, and all the other evil things he had done, 20Herod piled this on top of them all: he shut John up in prison.

The Baptism of Jesus
21When all the people were being baptized, Jesus was baptized too.  And as he was praying, the heavens were torn open, 22and the Holy Spirit descended on him in the bodily form of a dove.  And a voice from heaven said, "You are my Son, whom I love; with you I am well pleased."

The Genealogy of Jesus

41 Isaiah 40:3-5a
42 3:23a καὶ αὐτὸς ἦν Ἰηνούς ἀρχόμενος ὡσεὶ ἐτῶν τριάκοντα.. Most translations render this something like, "And Jesus himself was about thirty years old when he began his ministry." The trouble with that is that the words "his ministry" are not in the Greek. The usual reasoning for this rendering is that the word "began," ἀρχω is reminiscent of Luke's use of the same word, and in the same middle voice, in Acts 1:1, where he says he wrote about all that Jesus "began both to do and to teach." I find this an unacceptable leap. The KJV says, "And Jesus himself began to be about thirty years of age..." The trouble with that is, how can you begin to be about thirty? The thirtieth year has a beginning, but "about thirty" does not. So what was it that was beginning? The lexical authorities on koine Greek tell us that the word ἀρχω in the middle voice is often pleonastic or

Superfluous, in accordance with late Jewish usage; so Josephus, Dalman, Worte; and JWHunkin on the Pleonastic ἀρχαιν in the New Testament. Acts 1:1 is specifically given as an example of this; thus Acts 1:1 would be "everything he did and taught." Here in Luke 3:23, both εἶμι and ἀρχαί are in the continuous aspect. Chapter 4

The Temptation of Jesus

1 Jesus, full of the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the desert,
2 being tempted forty days by the devil. And he ate nothing during those days, and at the end of them he was hungry.
3 And the devil said to him, "If you are the Son of God, speak to this stone, that it become a loaf of bread."
4 And Jesus responded to him, "It is written, 'A human being shall not live on bread alone.'"
5 Then leading him upward, the devil showed him all the kingdoms of the inhabited earth, in a moment of time.
6 And he said to Jesus, "All this authority and their glory I will give to you, for it has been handed over to me, and I give it to whomever I wish.
7 Now then, if you worship in front of me, it will all be yours."
8 In answer Jesus said to him, "It is written: 'You shall worship Yahweh your God, and him only shall you serve.'"
9 Then the devil led him into Jerusalem, and had him stand on the gable of the temple. And he said to him, "If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down from here.
10 For it is written: 'He will command his angels concerning you to guard you carefully, 11 and they will bear you up in their hands, so you will not strike your foot.'"

Jesus answered and said to him, "It says: 'You shall not test Yahweh your God.'\textsuperscript{51}

And having carried out every sort of temptation, the devil left him until an opportune time.

\textit{Jesus Begins to Preach}

And Jesus returned to Galilee in the power of the Spirit, and a rumor about him spread throughout the whole region. \textit{And he taught in their synagogues, being praised by everyone.}

\textit{Jesus Rejected at Nazareth}

And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, as was his custom. \textit{And he stood up to read.}

And the scroll of the prophet Isaiah was handed to him. Unrolling the scroll, he found the place where it is written:

\begin{enumerate}
  \item \textit{The Spirit of Yahweh is upon me, because he has anointed me; to preach good news to the poor, to announce release for the prisoners and sight for the blind, to send off the crushed into liberty, to proclaim the year of Yahweh's favor...}\textsuperscript{53}
\end{enumerate}

\textit{Jesus also adds a phrase from a totally different passage in Isaiah, 58:6, "to set at liberty those who are oppressed." To me, the fact that Jesus selected another phrase from a completely different passage as well, just proves how selective he was being for phrases, and that lends more credibility to the idea that he skipped one phrase from the Isaiah 61 passage. Another interesting fact is that the phrase sight to the blind here in Luke 4:18 is not found in the Hebrew of Isaiah 61, but only in the Septuagint, the ancient translation of the Old Testament into Greek.}

The standard textual criticism arguments are: (1), \textit{lectio brevior lectio potior} ("the shorter reading is the better reading") - unless homoioteleuton or otherwise explains omission), and (2), that the first reading best explains the other reading; that is, there is no good explanation why scribes might have omitted the phrase, but an explanation why scribes might have added the phrase is that the additional phrase completes the gap compared to the Isaiah passage- it harmonizes Luke to Isaiah. But there would be nothing remarkable about Jesus selecting and reading only the phrases that were pertinent to what he wanted to say. Indeed, all Greek editions agree that Jesus did not finish the sentence from Isaiah; and that is why some translations, including mine, end the quotation with an ellipsis..." Moreover, Jesus also adds a phrase from a totally different passage in Isaiah, 58:6, "to set at liberty those who are oppressed."
And he said to them, "No doubt you will quote to me this proverb: 'Physician, heal yourself!' The things we heard were happening in Capernaum, do here in your home town.'"

And he said, "Truly I tell you, no prophet is accepted in his home town. I tell you, in Elijah's days, during the three years and six months that the sky was shut and there was a great famine covering the whole land, it is a fact that there were plenty of widows in Israel. Yet it was not to any of them that Elijah was sent, but to Zarephath in the country of Sidon, to a widow woman there. Again, in the case of Elisha the prophet, there were plenty of lepers in Israel, and not one of them was cleansed; only Naaman the Syrian."

And all the people in the synagogue were furious when they heard these things. They got up and drove him outside the town, intending to throw him down the cliff. But he walked right through them, and went on his way.

Jesus' Teaching Has Authority

And he went down to Capernaum, a town in Galilee, and on the Sabbath began to teach them. And they were amazed at his teaching, because his word was authoritative.

And in the synagogue there was a man who had a demon, an unclean spirit. He shouted out with a very loud voice, "Ha! What business do you have with us, Jesus, you Nazarene? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are—the Holy One of God!"

And Jesus rebuked him, saying, "Be quiet and come out of him!" And the demon threw him down before them all and came out of him, doing him no damage.

And astonishment overwhelmed them all, and they spoke to each other, saying, "What is this message, that with authority and power he commands unclean spirits, and they come out?" And a rumor went out about him into every place in that region.

Jesus Heals All in Capernaum

And rising up out of the synagogue, he went into the home of Simon. And Simon's mother-in-law was suffering a high fever, and they asked him about her. So he stood over her and rebuked the fever, and it left her. And she got up at once and proceeded to wait on them.

And as the sun was setting, everyone who had anyone ill with various kinds of sickness brought them to him, and laying his hands on each one of them, he was healing them. Moreover, demons were coming out from many, shouting and saying, "You are the Son of God!" And he would rebuke them, not allowing them to speak, because they knew him to be the Messiah.

Jesus Keeps Moving

And when day came, he left and went off to a solitary place. And the crowds were searching for him, and they came up to him and detained him from leaving them. But he said to them, "I must preach the kingdom of God to the other towns also, because on that basis I was sent." And he kept on preaching in the synagogues of Jewdom.
Chapter 5

The Calling of Simon, Andrew, James, and John

1And it came about that as he was standing by the Lake of Gennesaret, with the crowd pressing urgently around him and listening to the word of God, 2he saw two boats standing idle by the lake; the fishers had gotten out of them, washing the nets. 3And getting on board one of the boats, which was Simon's, he asked him to put out a little from shore. And sitting down, he taught the people from the boat.

4And when he had finished speaking, he said to Simon, "Put out into the deep, and let down your nets for a catch."

5And in response Simon said, "Master, working hard through the whole night we took nothing. But on the basis of your word, I will let down the nets."

6And when they had done so, they had enclosed a great number of fish, and their nets were beginning to tear.

7So they signaled to their partners in the other boat to come and help them, and they came, and they filled both the boats, such that they began to sink.

8And when Simon Peter saw this, he fell at Jesus' knees and said, "Go away from me Lord; I am a sinful man!"

9But Jesus said to Simon, "Don't be afraid. From now on you will be catching human beings."

A Leper Healed Spreads the Word

12And it came about that he was in one of the towns, and behold, a man covered with leprosy. And when he saw Jesus, he fell on his face and begged him, saying, "Lord, if you are willing, you can cleanse me."

13And reaching out his hand, he touched him, saying, "I am willing. Be cleansed." And immediately the leprosy left him.

14And he ordered him to tell no one, but "Go, show yourself to the priest, and offer for your cleansing what Moses commanded, as a testimony to them."

15But word about him was spreading all the more, and many crowds would walk alongside to listen, and to be healed of their sicknesses.

The Paralytic Lowered Through the Roof

17And it came about during one of the days that, as he was teaching, Pharisees and teachers of the Torah also were sitting there, who had come from every village of Galilee and from Judea and Jerusalem. And the power of the Lord was present for him to heal the sick.

18And behold, men carrying on a pallet a man who was paralyzed. And they were trying to carry him in, to lay him before him. 19And not finding a way to carry in because of the crowd, they went up onto the roof, and lowered him with his bed down through the tiles, into the middle, in front of Jesus.

20And when Jesus saw their faith, he said, "Friend, your sins are forgiven you."

that Jesus was traveling in Galilee; and other copyists were motivated by the desire to harmonize Luke with the accounts of Matthew and Mark. The reading "of Judea," however, can be translated as "the land of the Jews," or something to that effect, which in meaning would be inclusive of Galilee.

5:12 The Greek word was used for various diseases of the skin—not necessarily leprosy.

5:13 Jesus is following the Law, Leviticus 14, as to what to do regarding healing of leprosy. In all the history of Israel subsequent to the giving of the Law and Leviticus 14, no Jew had ever been verified as healed of leprosy.
And the Torah scholars and Pharisees began to reason as follows: "Who is this fellow who speaks blasphemy? Who can forgive sins but God alone?"

But knowing their reasonings, Jesus in response said to them, "Why are you debating this in your hearts? Which is easier: to say 'Your sins are forgiven you,' or to say, 'Get up and walk'? But so that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins..." He said to the paralyzed man, "I tell you, get up, pick up your mat and be on your way home." And immediately he stood up, in full view of them, and taking up that upon which he had been lying, he went away toward home, praising God.

Everyone was stunned with amazement. And they glorified God, and were filled with awe, saying, "We have seen remarkable things today."

A Revenue Agent Joins Jesus

And after these things he went out, and he saw a revenue agent by the name of Levi, sitting at the taxes post, and he said to him, "Follow me." And he rose up and followed him, giving it all up.

Then Levi held a great banquet for him at his house. And there was also a large crowd of revenue agents and others who were reclining with him. And the Pharisees and their Torah scholars grumbled to his disciples, saying, "Why do you eat and drink with revenue agents and sinners?"

And Jesus responded and said to them, "It is not the healthy who need a doctor, but those who are sick. I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

Jesus Questioned About Fasting

They then said to him, "The disciples of John are often fasting and making prayers, and likewise those of the Pharisees, but yours go on eating and drinking."

And Jesus said to them, "Can you make the members of the bridegroom's party fast during days in which the bridegroom is with them? But the days will come. Yes, when the bridegroom is taken away from them, then in those days they will fast."

And he also spoke a parable to them: "No one tears a patch from a new garment and places it onto an old garment. For then, he will both tear the new, and the patch from the new will not match the old. And no one puts new wine in old wineskins. For then, the 5:21 The Greek for blasphemy is in the plural, an idiomatic pluralization of abstract topics that frequently serves as a designation of concrete phenomena. Here it would mean something more like "words of blasphemy," referring to the one incident of blasphemy in verse 20. Other examples of this kind of plural are Matthew 14:9, 15:19.

5:27 The Greek word here translated "revenue agent" is τελώνης, a combination of the words τέλος for excise off the end tally, and the word ὠνέομαι which means to "buy." Hence, tax-buyers, or tax owners. The accounts receivable which the due taxes represented were purchased by something like collection agencies. According to Bauer, the τελώναι were not the holders of the 'tax farming' contracts themselves, (the actual holders were called publicani), but were subordinates (Latin, portitores) hired by the publicani. The higher officials, the publicans, were usually foreigners, but their underlings were taken, as a rule, from the native population, from the subjugated people. The prevailing system of tax collection afforded the collector many opportunities to exercise his greed and unfairness. Moreover, since the tax was forced upon the conquered by the conqueror, the collectors of the tax were personal reminders to the populace that they, the payers of the tax, were conquered. Hence the collectors of the tax were particularly hated and despised as a class. They were pre-judged to be both embezzlers, and traitors or collaborators with the occupying foreign power.

These are meaningfully different, since having the possessive pronoun first, as in "their Torah scholars and Pharisees" makes it sound like "their" refers to the Jews as possessors, and both Torah scholars and Pharisees as the subject, whereas "the Pharisees and their Torah scholars" makes it sound like only a subset of the Torah scholars, those belonging to the sect of the Pharisees, is being talked about. Chapter 6

Man Over the Sabbath

1And it happened during a Sabbath63 to be passing through grainfields, and his disciples were plucking and eating the heads, rubbing them in their hands.64 2But some of the Pharisees said, "Why are you doing what on a Sabbath is not permissible?"65

3And in answer to them Jesus said, "Have you never read what David did when he and those with him were hungry? 4How he went into the house of God, and taking the loaves of offering, he ate, and gave to the ones with him, which was not permissible to eat, except for the priests only?"

5Then he said to them, "The Son of Man is lord of the Sabbath."

6And it came about that on another Sabbath, he went into the synagogue and was teaching, and a man was there whose right hand was shriveled. 7And the Torah scholars and the Pharisees were carefully watching him, whether he would heal on the Sabbath, in order to obtain cause to prosecute him. 8But he knew their reasoning, and said to the man with the shriveled hand, "Get up and stand in view." And he got up and stood.

9Then Jesus said to them, "I ask you, is it permissible on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save life or to destroy it?"

10And looking around at them all, he said to him, "Stretch out your hand." He did so, and his hand was restored. 11And they were filled with rage,66 and discussed with each other what they should do to Jesus.

65 6:2 The Greek word translated "permissible" is the impersonal participle ἡξεστίν - ἡξεστίν, which is derived from the same root as ἡξοφύλακα - exousia, the word for authority. If an activity was ἡξεστίν, that means it was "loosed," or ruled by the rabbis to be something "allowed" by the Torah. If something was not ἡξεστίν, as is the case here, that means it was "bound," that is, the rabbis had adjudged that it was forbidden by the Torah.
The Twelve Apostles

12And it came about in those days that he went out into the hills to pray, and spent the whole night praying to God. 13And when it was day, he called his disciples to him, and from them he selected twelve, whom he then designated apostles: 14Simon, whom he also named Peter, and his brother Andrew; James and John; Philip and Bartholomew; Matthew and Thomas; James son of Alphæus and Simon the Zealot; 16and Judas son of James; and Judas of Kerioth, who became a betrayer.

Blessings and Woes

17And when he came down, he stopped at a level place with them and with a large crowd of his disciples, and with a great multitude of the people from all of Judea and Jerusalem, and from the coastal areas of Tyre and Sidon who had come to hear him and to be healed of their diseases. And those oppressed by unclean spirits were being cured. 18And the entire crowd was trying to touch him, because power was going out from him, and curing everyone. 19And he lifted his eyes toward his disciples, and began to speak:

"Blessed are you who are poor, for yours is the kingdom of God. Blessed are you who are going hungry now, for you will be satisfied. Blessed are you who are weeping now, for you will laugh. Blessed are you when people hate you, excommunicate you and shame you and cast out your name as evil, because of the Son of Man.

Rejoice in that day, and skip for joy! For behold, great is your reward in heaven, because the same things their ancestors did to the prophets.

But woe to you who are rich, because you have received your share of comfort. Woe to you who are well fed now, for you will go hungry. Woe to those who are laughing now, for you will mourn and weep. Woe to you when all people speak well of you, for the same their ancestors did to the false prophets.

Love Your Enemies

27"But I say to you who are listening, love your enemies, treat well the ones hating you, bless the ones cursing you, pray for the ones insulting you. 28To the one striking you on the cheek, offer the other cheek also. And the person taking your jacket, do not prevent him from taking your shirt as well. 30To everyone asking you, give, and from the one forcefully taking your things, do not demand them back. 31And just as you wish people would do to you, do likewise to them.

32"And if you love the ones loving you, what credit is that to you? For the sinners also love the ones loving them. 33And if you do good to the ones doing good to you, what credit is that to you? The sinners also do the same. 34And if you lend to the ones from whom you foresee repayment, what credit is that to you? Sinners also lend to sinners, in such a way they may receive the equal back. 35But love your enemies, and do good and lend, expecting nothing, and great will be your reward, and you will be children of the Most High, for he is kind to the unthankful and evil. 36Be compassionate, just as your Father is compassionate.69

The Law of Reciprocity

37"Do not be judgmental, and you will not be judged. Do not be condemning, and you will not be condemned. Be forgiving, and you will be forgiven.

38"Be giving, and it will be given to you. A generous container: compacted, shaken70 and running over they will hand into your arms. For with the standard you measure out, it will be measured back to you."

Correcting Others

39And he also spoke a parable to them: "Can a blind person lead a blind person? Will they not both fall into a ditch? 40A student is not above the teacher, but rather, every student when fully trained will be like his teacher.

41"Why do you look at the speck in your brother's eye, but the log that is in your own eye you do not consider? 42How are you able to say to your brother, 'Brother, allow me to take out the speck that is in your eye,' while you are not seeing the log that is in your own eye? You hypocrite, first get the log out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly the speck that is in your brother's eye, to remove it.71

A Tree and its Fruit

43"Now there is no good tree producing bad fruit, nor again a bad tree producing good fruit. 44For each tree is known by its own fruit. For they do not gather figs from thornbushes, neither do they pick a grape from a brier.

45"The good person, out of the good stockpile of his heart, brings forth good, and the evil person out of the evil, brings forth evil. For out of the abundance of the heart one's mouth speaks.

The Two Kinds of Builders

46"And why do you keep calling me 'Lord, Lord,' and yet not do the things which I say? 47Anyone who comes to me and hears my words and does them, I will show you what that person is like. 48That person is like a man building a house, who dug and deepened and laid a foundation on the rock. And when a flood occurred, the river dashed against that house, but was not able to shake it, because it was well built.

69 6:36 Exodus 34:6-7; Psalm 103:8-14; Joel 2:13; Jonah 4:10-11
70 6:38 In other words, settled. Along with being pressed down and compacted, the container would be holding the most it possibly could.
71 6:42 Note that Jesus is not forbidding the correcting of others, nor telling us not to remove a speck from someone else's eye. But strangely enough, that is how many people interpret this passage. Rather, what this passage is saying is that we should examine ourselves before we correct others. And then do correct others. See Luke 17:3, and several other passages in the New Testament.
"But the one who has heard them and not done them, is like a man who built a house on the ground without a foundation, against which dashed the river, and very soon it collapsed, and the destruction of that house was great."

Chapter 7

One Centurion's Faith with Authority

1 When he had finished all his sayings in the ears of the people, he entered Capernaum. 2 And the slave of a certain centurion, who was very valuable to him, was sick and about to die. 3 And having heard about Jesus, he sent elders of the Jews to him, asking him to come and heal his slave. 4 So when they came to Jesus, they were pleading earnestly with him, saying, "He is worthy that you confer this upon him, for he loves our nation, and he built us the synagogue."

5 So Jesus went with them. And when he was not far from the house, the centurion sent friends saying to him as follows: "Lord, don't trouble yourself, for I am not fit that you should enter under my roof. 6 So also neither did I consider myself worthy to come to you. But say with a word that my slave must be healed."

7 And when Jesus heard these words, he was amazed at him, and turning to the crowd following him, he said, "I tell you, not in Israel have I found such faith." 8 And when the ones who had been sent returned to the house, they found the slave well.

Jesus Raises a Dead Man at Nain

11 And it came about that on the next day, he went into a town called Nain, and his disciples and a large crowd went along with him. 12 And as he approached the town gate, behold, a dead person was being carried out, the only son of his mother, and a considerable crowd from the town was with her. 13 When he saw her, the Lord was moved with pity for her, and he said, "Don't cry."

72 7:2 A Roman military officer commanding from 50 to 100 men, 100 if the cohort was a complete one. A full cohort—1,000 men, would have ten centurions, each commanding 100 of the men.

73 7:4 Interestingly, this message from the Roman centurion in Luke 7:4 contains a Latinism in the Greek. In the phrase "ξιός ἐστιν ὑπέρ τοῦτο," the use of the relative pronoun instead of the customary ἵνα (hina) is a Latinism: dignus qui with the subjunctive.

74 7:7 The Greek verb for heal here, ἰάω, is in the 3rd person, singular, aorist, imperative, passive form, ἰαθήσεται. This is difficult to construe, and that is why later copyists changed it to the simple future indicative passive form ἰαθήσεται in conformity with the Matthew account in 8:8. Perhaps the copyists thought that the imperative form reflected badly on the centurion as being too demanding, as thus: "Say in a word, and let my servant be healed." And if the copyists felt a desire to do this, it is also very possible that here is an instance of Matthew making more palatable the Greek of a written Greek original Spruchquelle as compared to Luke's more conservative and word for word reproduction, rather than the scenario that Matthew translated the Aramaic of an Aramaic Spruchquelle into the future indicative in Greek, but Luke into the aorist imperative. As for the word 'and' here, καί, it is here used as an explicative καί and introducing a command in indirect quotation; in other words, to particularize the word to be spoken, as thus: "But say in a word, namely, that my slave be healed." This use of καί is not terribly uncommon in the New Testament, and this rendering preserves an imperative mood. Moreover, it is preceded here by εἰπον, which regularly precedes discourse. As for the centurion's peremptory tone, how remarkable is it that a soldier, and a commanding officer at that, would have that kind of personality? He was a bold man, but he humbled his tone well enough by twice stating that he was not worthy. It is commendable to be bold in this way, as indeed the Lord commended him for it. But how bold really was it? For after all, he had heard that Jesus was already doing such things as he was requesting, and was doing it for everybody who asked, and also some who did not ask. So it wasn't so bold and demanding after all, with the exception of expecting the same for a Gentile, which he covered by admitting his unfitness.
And he went up to the coffin and touched it, and the pallbearers stood still. And he said, "Young man, I say to you, rise up!" And the dead man sat up, and began to speak. And he gave him back to his mother.

And fear took hold of all, and they praised God, saying, "A great prophet has been raised up among us," and, "God has come to help his people." And this news about him spread throughout the land of the Jews and the surrounding country.

Jesus and John the Baptizer

And John's disciples reported to him about all these things. And after calling two of his disciples to him, John sent word to the Lord, as follows: "Are you the one who was to come, or should we expect another?"

And when they had come to him, the men said, "John the Baptist sent us to you saying, 'Are you the one who was to come, or should we expect another?'"

In that same hour he healed many people of diseases and sicknesses and evil spirits, and gave sight to many who were blind. And in answer, he said to them, "Go and report back to John what things you saw and heard: The blind see again, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, and good news is preached to the poor. Tell him, 'Blessed be whoever is not offended on account of me.'"

And as John's messengers were leaving, he began to speak to the crowd about John: "What did you go out into the desert to see? A reed getting swayed to and fro by the wind? On the contrary, what did you go out to see? A man dressed in delicate clothes? Behold, those in expensive clothes and living in luxury are in royal palaces. On the contrary, what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes indeed I tell you, and more than a prophet.

'Their nation refused to know, after the eyes of God had fallen on it and the ears of its hearing had heard.'

I tell you, among those born of women, no one is greater than John the Baptizer. Yet the one who is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he."

(And all the people who heard, even the revenue agents, vindicated God, having been baptized with the baptism of John. But the Pharisees and the lawyers, not baptized by him, rejected the purpose of God for themselves.)

"To what, then, shall I compare the people of this generation? And what are they like? They are like children sitting in the marketplace and calling out to one another:

'Behold, I am sending my messenger before your face,
who will prepare your way
before you.'"

7:27 This quote appears to be a blend of Exodus 23:20 and Malachi 3:1.
'We played the flute for you,
and you didn't dance;
we sang a dirge,
and you didn't cry.'

33For John the Baptist came neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and you say, 'He has a demon.' 34The Son of Man came eating and drinking, and you say, 'Behold a glutton and a drunkard, a friend of revenue agents and sinners.' 35Regardless, wisdom is vindicated by all her children.

A Prostitute Washes Jesus' Feet with her Tears

36But one of the Pharisees asked him to eat with him, and he went to the Pharisee's house and reclined. 37And behold, a woman who was being a sinner in that town came, who having learned that he is reclining at the Pharisee's house, had brought an alabaster bottle of perfume, 38and appeared behind Jesus, weeping at his feet. And with the tears she began to bathe his feet. And with the hairs of her head she was wiping off, and earnestly kissing his feet, and anointing them with the perfume. 39When the Pharisee who had invited him saw this, he thought to himself as follows, "If this man were a prophet, he would know who and of what sort is the woman touching him— that she is a sinner." 40And Jesus spoke up, and said to him, "Simon, I have something to tell you." 41"Tell me, teacher," he says. 42"Two men were debtors to a moneylender. One owed five hundred denarii, and the other fifty. 43And as they did not have the money to pay him back, he freely forgave them both. Now which of them will love him more?"

44In answer Simon said, "I suppose the one whom he freely forgave more." And he said to him, "You have judged correctly." 45And turning toward the woman, he was saying to Simon, "Do you see this woman? Your house I entered. Water you did not give me for my feet, but this woman bathed my feet with her tears, and wiped them off with her hair. 46A kiss you did not give me, but this woman, from the time I entered, has not stopped earnestly kissing my feet. 47With oil you did not anoint my head, but this woman with perfume anointed my feet. 48And he said to her, "Your sins have been forgiven." 49And those reclining with him began to say to themselves, "Who is this who even forgives sins?"

50But he said to the woman, "Your faith has saved you. Go with peace."

77 7:35 Greek τέκνων; perhaps a misunderstanding of the Aramaic for "works." Which would make sense: emphasis on ALL. You have to look at ALL the works of a person, not judge on superficial things like eating and drinking, which in fact Paul says in Romans 14:17, but of righteousness, peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit.

78 7:36 In that time and culture, those eating a meal lay on a futon of sorts, on their sides and resting on an elbow, with their feet off the floor. That is how the woman could both stand behind him at his feet, and wipe his feet with her hair.

79 7:41 A denarius was a coin worth about a day's wages.

80 7:47 Verse 47 is difficult in terms of Greek exegesis, and can't help but be influenced by one's existing beliefs regarding sin and salvation. Are the woman's many sins forgiven because she loved much? Or does she love much because her many sins are forgiven? Consult the many English translations, and you will be surprised to see which falls on which side of this problem. Nevertheless, a few things are clear: Jesus means to point out that the woman loved more because she was forgiven more. And also clear is where Jesus declared in verse 50 that it was her faith that had saved her. And it was not faith without repentance. For her weeping and humility could indicate repentance, and since Jesus knew the hearts of all humans (John 2:24-25; Diatess. 5:36), he apparently knew that in her was true repentance.
Chapter 8

Jesus’ Financiers

And it came about after this that he traveled about through one city and village after another, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom of God. The Twelve were with him, and also some women who had been cured of evil spirits and diseases: Mary, called the Magdalene, from whom seven demons had come out; and Joanna the wife of Cuza, the manager of Herod’s household; and Susanna; plus many others; these women were providing for them out of their own means.

The Parable of the Sower

And when a great crowd was coming together, people from every one of those towns coming toward him, he spoke by means of a parable: “The sower went out to sow his seed. And in the process of sowing, some seed fell beside the way and was trampled on, and the birds of the sky devoured it. And other seed fell on rock, and after it grew, it withered, having no way to get moisture. And other seed fell in the midst of thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked it. And other seed fell into good soil, and when grown it produced fruit a hundredfold.”

After he said these things, he called out, "Whoever has ears to hear, hear."

The Parable of the Sower Explained

And his disciples asked him the intent of this parable, and he said, "To you it is given such that you will know the mysteries of the kingdom of God, but to the rest in parables, so that,"

"Though seeing, they will not see, and though hearing, they will not understand."

"This, then, means the parable: The seed is the word of God. And the ones beside the way are those who when they hear, next comes the devil, and takes away the word from their heart, so that they will not believe and be saved. And the ones on the rock are those who when they hear, receive the word with joy. They are also ones who have 81 A Magdalene is someone who is from the town of Magdala, just as a Seattleite is someone who is from the city of Seattle.

82 The Greek word is the 3rd person, singular, present, optative form of the verb 'to be.' It says, literally, "What is the being of this parable?" Except in optative mood. "What is this parable supposed to be? Except there must be a word which encompasses both 'meaning' and 'reason for being.' Thus, "What is this parable meant to accomplish?" The word 'essence' comes to mind, but 'essence' does not include the "reason why you speak in parables" idea. The word 'intent' encompasses the meanings "import, significance, and meaning," and also the mood of potential. We know this 'why' meaning must be part of the meaning of the disciples' question, both because of Jesus' answer, explaining 'why' he used parables; and also from the parallel account in Matthew 13:10, where the disciples say simply, "Why do you speak to the people in parables." (In Mark it is very ambiguous.) Luke elsewhere in his Greek uses the word 'to be' for the meaning and intent of impersonal events. See for example, Acts 2:12, where in reference to the disciples' speaking in dozens of languages simultaneously, the onlookers say, literally, "What does this wish to be?" But instead of the verb 'to be' in the optative mood, 'to be' is an infinitive, and the verb 'thelo' for 'wish, will' is used with it. However, Luke uses the exact same inflection of this same verb in Luke 3:15 as here in 8:9, where the crowd wonders if John the Baptist might possibly be the Messiah.
83 Or, "To you it is granted (perfect tense) to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God, but to the rest in parables, so that..." The problem with this latter reading is determining what verb is to be implied or supplied for the phrase "but to the rest in parables." This is why I interpreted the infinitive as one of result: "such that you will know." Then the same idea, that is the idea, "in such a way," easily carries over to the "but to them in parables."
84 Isaiah 6:9
no root, and believe for a time, and in the time of trial shrink back. 14 And the seed falling in the thorns, these are those who hear, and as they go, are choked by the worries and riches and pleasures of life, and do not bear fruit to the end. 15 And the seed in good soil, these are those who when they hear the word, retain it in a good and worthy heart, and bear fruit with perseverance.

16"Now no one after lighting a lamp covers it with a bucket, or puts it under a bed, but instead puts it on the lamp stand, so that those coming in may see the light. 17 For there is nothing hidden that will not be made manifest, nor secret, that will not become clearly known, and come into illumination. 18 Watch therefore how you listen, for whoever has, it will be granted him, and whoever has not, even what he seems to have will be taken away from him."

Jesus' Mother and Brothers

19 And his mother and brothers came to him, and were not able to get near him because of the crowd. 20 And it was reported to him, "Your mother and brothers are standing outside, wanting to see you." 21 But he in answer said to them, "These are my mother and brothers, the ones hearing and doing the word of God."

Jesus Commands the Elements

22 And it came about in one of the days that he and his disciples had gotten into a boat, that he said to them, "Let's cross over to the other side of the lake." And they put out to sea. 23 And as they sailed, he fell asleep. And a storm of wind came down onto the lake, and they were being swamped, and in great danger. 24 And after approaching him, they roused him, saying, "Master, we are going to die!"

And when he was awake, he rebuked the wind, and the roughness of the water, and they stopped, and it was calm. 25 And he said to them, "Where is your faith?"

But they were amazed and fearful, saying to one another, "Who then is this? For he even commands the wind and the water, and they obey him!"

The Legion of Demons Near Gadara

26 And they sailed down into the territory of the Gadarenes, which is opposite Galilee. 27 And as he was going on shore, a man from the town met him, demon-possessed, and not having put clothes on for quite some time, and who was living not in a house but in the tombs. 28 And when he saw Jesus, he fell down before him crying out, and in a loud voice he said: "What business is there between you and me, O Jesus, you son of the Most High God? I beg you, do not torture me!"

For Jesus was commanding the evil spirit to come out of the man. For many times it had possessed him, and he would be bound with chains and leg irons and guarded, but tearing the bonds apart, he would be driven by the demon into solitary places.

30 And Jesus questioned him: "What is your name?"

And he said, "Legion." For many demons had entered into him. 31 And they begged him that he would not order them to depart into the Abyss.

32 And a considerable herd of pigs was feeding there on a hillside, and they pled with him that he allow them to enter into them, and he allowed them.

82 Some manuscripts say Gerasenes, some Gadarenes, some Gergesenes. Topographically (the right cliffs, and the prepositional phrase of Lk 8:26, "down to the territory of...") and culturally (the raising of pigs), Gadarenes is the most likely, which is the reading of Matthew 8:28. For Luke 8:26, both the UBS4 and NA26 read Γεραςηνῶν, and the UBS4 gives that a [C] rating of certainty.

86 Among the Romans a legion was a select body of soldiers—a complete army of cavalry and infantry, numbering from 4,200 to 6,000 men, usually with approximately an equal number of auxiliary troops, thus totaling about 10,000. The legion was divided into ten cohorts of 1,000 each. In this case, a more general meaning of the word legion probably applies: a very large number.
So coming out from the man, the demons entered into the pigs, and the herd rushed down the steep bank into the lake, and drowned.

And seeing what had happened, the herders fled, and reported to the town and to the farms. And they came out to see what had happened. And they came to Jesus, and found the man from whom the demons had gone out sitting at Jesus' feet, dressed, and in his right mind, and they were afraid.

But the man from whom the demons had gone out begged to accompany him. But he sent him away, saying, "Return to your house, and recount all the things God has done for you." And he went throughout the whole town, proclaiming what things Jesus had done for him.

A Dead Damsel and a Sick Woman

And upon his return a crowd was welcoming him, for they were all expecting him. And behold, a man had come whose name was Jairus, and he was a synagogue ruler. And falling at Jesus' feet, he begged him to come to his house, because he had an only daughter, about twelve years of age, and she was dying.

And as he was on his way, the crowds were pinching him in. And a woman suffering a flow of blood since twelve years, who had not been able to get healing from anyone, came up behind and touched the tassel of his cloak, and immediately her flow of blood stopped.

And Jesus said, "Who was it touching me?"

When everyone denied it, Peter said, "Master, the crowds are pushing in together and jostling you."

But Jesus said, "Someone touched me, for I sensed power going out from me."

Then the woman, seeing that she was not going unnoticed, came, trembling. And falling at his feet, she related before all the people the reason she had touched him, and how she had been instantly healed.

And he said to her, "Daughter, your faith has healed you. Go with peace."

While he was still speaking, someone comes from the synagogue ruler's, saying, "Your daughter has died. Don't trouble the teacher any more."

But having heard, Jesus responded to him, "Don't be afraid. Only believe, and she will be healed."

And when he went into the house, he did not allow anyone to enter with him except Peter and John and James, and the father of the maiden and the mother. And all were weeping and wailing for her. But he said, "Do not weep. She is not dead but sleeping."

And they laughed scornfully at him, knowing that she had died.

Then, holding her hand, he called out, as follows: "Damsel, wake up!"]

And her spirit returned, and she stood up at once, and he ordered that she be given something to eat.

And her parents were astonished. Then he charged them not to tell anyone what had happened.

8:44 See Numbers 15:38, Deut. 22:12
8:47 The reason for her fear was probably because she knew she had violated the Rabbi's cleanness. As a woman with a flow of blood, she was perpetually unclean ceremonially (Leviticus 15:25-31), and the others in the crowd, were they to touch her, would be unclean as well.
8:54 The Greek verb is ἐγείρω - egeírō and would generally mean "rouse yourself; wake up; get up." In figurative use it means, "wake up from death," or in the passive, "be raised from the dead." So also with the Greek word ὄνιστημι - anístēmi, which means "stand up," but which spiritually means "rise from the dead."
Chapter 9

Jesus Sends Out the Twelve

1And having called the Twelve together, he gave them power and authority over all the demons and diseases, in order to heal. 2And he sent them to proclaim the kingdom of God and to cure,

90

And into whatever house you might enter, there remain, and from there go forward. 5And all the places that do not welcome you, going forth from that town, shake the dust off your feet, as a testimony against them.” 6And going forth they went throughout all the villages, preaching the good news, and healing everywhere.

Herod Hears of Jesus

7Now Herod the tetrarch heard about all that was going on, and kept becoming perplexed, because it was said by some that John had been raised from the dead, 8and by some that Elijah had appeared, and still others that a prophet, one of the Ancients, had come back to life.

9But Herod said, “John, I beheaded. Who, then, is this I hear such things about?” And he tried to see him.
Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

10 And when the apostles returned, they reported to him what things they had done. Then he took them, and retreated in private toward a town called Bethsaida.\(^{93}\) 11 But the crowds who knew, followed him. So, welcoming them, he spoke to them about the kingdom of God, and the ones having need of healing, he cured.

12 But the daylight began to decline, and the twelve approached \textit{and} said to him, "Dismiss the crowd, so they can go to the surrounding villages and farms to sleep and find supplies. Because here, we are in a remote place."

13 And he said to them, "You give them something to eat."

But they said, "We have no more than five loaves and two fish, unless we were to go and buy food for all this crowd." 14 For there were about five thousand men.

And he said to his disciples, "Get them to recline in groups of about fifty each." 15 And they did so, and got them all to recline. 16 And taking the loaves and the two fish, \textit{and} looking up to heaven, he blessed them and broke them, and gave to the disciples to set before the people.

17 And they all ate and were satisfied, and their leftovers picked up were twelve large baskets of fragments.

Peter’s Confession of Messiah

18 And it came about that, when he was praying in private, the disciples were with him, and he queried them, saying, "Who do the crowds maintain me to be?"

19 And they in answer said, "John the Baptist; and others, Elijah; and others that a prophet, one of the Ancients, has risen again."

20 And he said to them, "But you, who do you maintain me to be?"

And Peter in answer said, "The Christ\(^{94}\) of God."

Jesus Predicts His Death

21 But he, admonishing them, charged them to tell this to no one, \textit{and} saying, "The Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders, the chief priests, and Torah scholars, and be killed, and on the third day be raised again."

22 Then toward everyone he was saying, "If someone wants to come after me, he must deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. 23 For whoever wants to save his life will lose it; but whoever loses his life for my sake, this one will save it. 24 For how does it benefit a human being when he has gained the whole world, but has lost or been forfeited his very self? 25 For whoever is ashamed of me and of my words, that person the Son of Man will be ashamed of, when he comes in his glory, and of the Father, and of the holy angels. 26 But truly I say to you: There are some, of the ones standing here, who will certainly not taste death until they see the kingdom of God."

The Transfiguration

28 And it came about, something like eight days after these words, that having taken Peter and John and James, he went up into the mountain, to pray. 29 And it came about that as he prayed, the appearance of his face \textit{was} different, and his clothes \textit{were} a glistening white. 30 And behold, two men were conversing with him, who were Moses

\(^{93}\) 9:10 There are a great variety of readings in the Greek manuscripts here, I think arising from many scribes’ simplistic understanding of the preposition \textit{εἰς} having to mean “into Bethsaida,” and then changing the text in order to eliminate a perceived contradiction. But Luke in his gospel and Acts often uses the preposition \textit{εἰς} to mean “toward.” There is no contradiction here in the UBS text with other gospels, since the rendering, “retreated toward Bethsaida” allows them to have stopped before reaching Bethsaida, stopped in a deserted place. The reading in the UBS text best explains the rise of all the other readings, and is original. The usual renderings of the Majority Text, such as “retreated into a deserted place belonging to the city of Bethsaida” sound concocted and unnatural do they not?

\(^{94}\) 9:20 That is, the Anointed One of God, or God’s anointed; the one God chose and enabled to be the Messiah, prophet, priest and king of Israel.
and Elijah, who, having been made visible in glory, were relating about the exodus of him, which was soon to be coming true in Jerusalem.

But Peter and the ones with him were heavy-eyed with sleepiness. But when they had fully woken up, they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him. And it came about that as those were moving off from Jesus, Peter said to him, “O Master, it is good for us to be here, and we should make three shelters, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah.” (Not knowing what he is saying.)

And as he was saying these things, a cloud came, and it overshadowed them. And they were afraid as they went into the cloud.

And it came about that as those were moving off from Jesus, Peter said to him, “O Master, it is good for us to be here, and we should make three shelters, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah.” (Not knowing what he is saying.)

And as those were moving off from Jesus, Peter said to him, “O Master, it is good for us to be here, and we should make three shelters, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah.”

And as those were moving off from Jesus, Peter said to him, “O Master, it is good for us to be here, and we should make three shelters, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah.”

And even as he was approaching Him, the demon dashed him to the ground, and thrashed him back and forth. But Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and the child was restored to wholeness, and He gave him back to his father.

And all were struck by the majesty of God.

And while everyone marvelled at all that he was doing, he said to his disciples, “You place into your ears these words. For the Son of Man is about to be transferred into the hands of human beings.”

But they were not understanding this statement, and the meaning was being kept hidden from them, with the result that they did not see it. And they were afraid to ask him about this statement.

So contention came into them, as to who of them was greatest.

9:31 A euphemism for death, like our phrase, "passing on."

9:35 Text: ἐκλελεγμένος. P 75 Ἡ 1 vg syr hmg cop bo arm eth NA27 {B} / ἀγαπητός (Mk 9:7) A C* E N P W ἦθελεν εὐδόκησαν D ἀγαπητός, ἐν ἣν εὐδόκησαν C it (copboms) / lac T. It is much easier to explain why copyists would change it to "beloved," than why they would change it to "chosen." This is an example of "scribal assimilation," where the copyists, whether deliberately, or merely because they were more familiar with the other gospels, changed the reading to harmonize it with Matthew's gospel, or even Luke's account of the baptism of Jesus, where God says, "My beloved Son." Or perhaps the concept of "chosen son," since God had only one son, was too difficult, leading copyists to change it to agree with Matthew.

9:44 Turned over to, delivered into the custody or jurisdiction of.

9:45 The verb "to see" in the Greek is in the infinitive form, which DeBrunner [§391(5)] says is an "infinitive of result." This would mean that, instead of the meaning being hidden "with the intended purpose that they would not see it," the sense would be a little weaker, that it was hidden from them, "and the result was that they did not see it."

9:46a Verse 46 begins with the conjunctive or transitional particle δέ - δέ. The sense seems to be still connected to v. 45, in that there, Jesus admonished them to be sure to understand that he was soon going to be apparently defeated, but they did not understand this, and indeed, as illustration that they did not understand, a contention next arose in them as to who of them is greatest in Jesus' imminent (so they thought) rising to rule over Israel.
47And Jesus, knowing the contention of their hearts, took a child by the hand, and stood him next to himself. 48And he said to them, "Whoever welcomes this child on the basis of my name, is welcoming me, and whoever welcomes me, is welcoming the one who sent me. For the person who is smallest among you all, that is who is great."

Do Not Hinder Other Camps of God's People

49And in response, John said, "Master, we saw someone casting out demons in your name, and we tried to stop him; for he is not following you together with us." 103
50But Jesus said to him, "Do not stop such, for someone who is not against you is for you."

Jesus Rejected by a Samaritan Village

51And it came about that the days leading to his being taken up were running out, and he set his face to head toward Jerusalem. 52And he sent out messengers before his face. And when they proceeded forth they went into a Samaritan village, so as to prepare it for him. 53And they did not welcome him, because his face was heading toward Jerusalem. 54And when they saw this, the disciples James and John said, "Lord, do you will that we command fire to come down from heaven and consume them?" 104
55But when he turned to them, he rebuked them. 105 106 56And they moved on, to a different village.

100 9:46b The Greek phrase is the verb τίσερχομαι - eisérchomai combined with the prepositional phrase ἐν αὐτοῖς - en autois. Eisérchomai means "enter into," and the preposition "en" would usually mean "in," but speaking of a group, as here, could mean "among." The BAG lexicon gives two possibilities for eisérchomai, both "entered into them," 1 b β on p. 232d, and "arose among them," 2 b on p. 233b. The BDF Greek Grammar in §202 under "Eis-" says the preposition "en" here is used as "eis," or "into." And in §218, Blass is adamant that the "en" here in Luke 9:46 is an example of the "hyper-correct use of "en" (in) for "eis" (into), the most obvious and certain of which are Lk 9:46 'came into them, into their hearts' (cf. v. 47)..." The thing for Blass that re-inforces in his mind that the debate "entered their hearts," is that in the next verse, it says Jesus "knew what was in their hearts." This makes much sense. Yet no English translation that I possess which are Lk 9:46 'came into them, into their hearts' (cf. v. 47)...

101 9:46c The Greek phrase is the verb εἰσέρχεσθαι, "enter into" and the preposition "en" (in) for "eis" (into), the most obvious and certain of which are Lk 9:46 'came into them, into their hearts' (cf. v. 47)..." 102 The Greek verb "to be" here is in the optative mood, which DeBrunner says is an example of Luke's use of the optative when following a secondary tense, to introduce indirect discourse.

102 9:49 The Greek verb for "stop" or "bar," κολοκύθων - kolokuthon, is in the imperfect form, which DeBrunner in §326 says is a "comitative imperfect," which means "tried to prevent." A little over half of my English translations agree, and render this as "tried to stop," or something similar.

103 9:49 According to DeBrunner, BDF §193(1), this is an "associative (comitative) dative," thus, not meaning "following us," but rather, "following [you] together with us."

The Cost of Following Jesus

57 And as they were proceeding on the way, someone said to him, "I will follow you, wherever you might go."
58 And Jesus said to him, "The foxes have dens, and the birds of the sky, nestling places, but the Son of Man has nowhere he can lay his head."
59 And to another man, he said, "Follow me."
60 But he said, "Lord, give me leave to first go and bury my father."
61 And another also said, "I will follow you, Lord. But first give me leave to say farewell to my household."
62 But Jesus said, "No one putting hand to plow and looking back to the things behind, is cut out for the kingdom of God."

Chapter 10

Jesus Sends Out the Seventy-Two

1 And after these things, the Lord appointed another seventy-two, and sent them out two by two before his face, into every town and place where he himself was about to go.
2 And he was saying to them, "The crop is large, but the workers are few. Request therefore of the lord of the harvest, that he send out workers into his harvest. Be on your way. Behold, I am sending you out like sheep in the midst of wolves. You must carry no moneybag, no knapsack, no sandals, and greet no one along the way."
3 And into whatever house you enter, first you say, 'Peace to this house.' And if a child of peace is there, your peace will settle upon him. Otherwise, it will bounce back onto you. And in that same house you are to remain, eating and drinking the things belonging to them; for the worker is worthy of his pay; you are not to be moving from house to house.
4 And into whatever town you enter that they welcome you, eat the things being set before you, and heal the sick in it, and say to them, 'The kingdom of God has drawn over you.'
5 But into whatever town you enter that they do not welcome you, go out into the streets of it, and say, 'Even the dust sticking to us from your town onto our feet, we are shaking off to you. Even so, know this, that the kingdom of God has drawn near.'
6 I assure you, it will be more bearable for Sodom in That Day, than for that town.
7 Woe to you, Khorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the miracles that took place in you took place in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.
8 In any case, it will be more bearable in the judgment for Tyre and Sidon than for you. And you, Capernaum, will you be exalted up to heaven? You will go down to Hades!"
"The person who listens to you is listening to me, and the one rejecting you, is rejecting me. And the one rejecting me, is rejecting the one who sent me."

And he said to them, "I was watching as Satan fell from heaven like lightning.

In that same hour, he exulted in the Holy Spirit, and said, "I praise you, Father, O Lord of heaven and earth, that you have hidden these things from the learned and intelligent, and revealed them to babes. Yes, O Father, for that is what was pleasing in your sight.

"Everything has been turned over to me by my Father, and no one knows who the Son is, except the Father; and who the Father is, except the Son, and those to whom the Son decides to reveal it."

And after he had turned toward his disciples privately, he said, "Blessed are the eyes that see what you see. For I tell you, many prophets and kings wanted to see what you are seeing, and did not see it, and to hear what you are hearing, and did not hear it."

The Parable of the Good Samaritan

And behold, a lawyer arose, testing him, saying, "Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?"

And he said to him, "What is written in the law? What is your reading of it?"

And he in answer said, "You shall love Yahweh your God from your whole heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength, and with all your mind, and your neighbor as yourself."

And He said, "You have answered correctly. Do this, and you will live."

But wanting to justify himself, he said to Jesus, "And who is my neighbor?"

In reply, Jesus said, "A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he fell among bandits. And they, when they had stripped him and inflicted wounds, went away, leaving him half dead. And by chance a priest was going down that road, and when he saw him, he avoided him. And likewise also a Levite, when he came near that place and saw, passed on around. But a Samaritan came traveling by him, and when he saw, was moved with pity. And he approached and stopped up his wounds, and applied olive oil and wine. And mounting him on his own animal, he took him to an inn and took care of him. And on the morrow, he took out two denarii, gave them to the innkeeper, and said, 'Take care of him, and whatever you spend beyond this, I will reimburse you when I return.'

"Which of these three seems to you a neighbor for the one who fell among bandits?"

And he said, "The one who did the mercy with him."

And Jesus said to him, "Go yourself and do likewise."

Jesus at Mary and Martha's House

And when he moved on, he entered a certain village. And a woman by the name of Martha housed him. There was also a sister to that one, named Mary, and she having sat down at the Lord's feet, was listening to his word.

the "You Capernaum, you who are exalted to heaven," the context speaks of what chance each city had to see the light, and experience the kingdom of God having drawn near over them. It does make sense to me, as perhaps to some of the manuscript copyists, that the point Jesus is making is that Capernaum, having been Jesus' base of operations, and his "own town," had already been lifted up to heaven, compared to any other town, in terms of the kingdom of heaven having drawn near. But the UBS textual commentary says, "The unexpected expression, 'And you, Capernaum, will you be exalted to heaven?' is a sharp and startling interrogation, entirely in the manner of Jesus' use of vivid language."

10:26 The Greek says literally, "How do you read it?"

10:35 One denarius was worth a day's wage.
40But Martha was being drawn away by many chores of hospitality. But when she did come over, she said, "Lord, doesn't it concern you that my sister has left me to serve alone? Tell her therefore that she should help carry the load with me."

41But in answer, Jesus said to her, "Martha, Martha. You are getting concerned and agitated over many things. 42But there is only one thing that warrants it. For Mary has selected the good portion, which will not be taken away from her."

Chapter 11

Prayer

1And it came about when he was praying in a certain place, that as he was finishing, one of his disciples said to him, "Lord, teach us to pray, even as John taught his disciples."

2And he said to them, "When you pray, say:

"Father, hallowed be your name.
May your kingdom come.
Give us each day our daily bread.
And forgive us our sins, for we ourselves forgive everyone who is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation."

5And he said to them, "Suppose one of you shall have a friend, and will go to him at midnight and say to him, 'Friend, lend me three loaves, because a friend of mine has shown up, from a journey toward me, and I have nothing to set before him.'

7"That one inside may say in answer, 'Do not cause me hassles. The door is already shut up, and my children are in bed with me. I can't get up to give you something.'

8I tell you, even if he will not get up and give you something because of being your friend, yet because of brash persistence on your part he will get up, and give you as much as you need.

9"So I say to you: Keep asking, and it will be given to you; keep seeking, and you will find; keep knocking, and it will be opened to you. For everyone who keeps asking, receives; and the person who keeps seeking, finds; and to the one who keeps on knocking, it will be opened.

117 11:10 The "continuous" aspect of the Greek verbs here is a part of their meaning that is essential to this passage. In fact, the whole point of the parable is persistence, verse 8. So to translate v. 9 as, "Ask, and it will be given to you," would be incorrect and misleading. Someone might interpret it to mean that you will only have to ask once.

11"And which father among you, if his child will ask for a fish, will hand him a snake instead?  12Or again, if he asks for an egg, will hand him a scorpion?  13If you, then, though you are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will the Father from heaven give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him?"

Jesus and Baalzibbul

14And he was casting out a demon of muteness.  15But he, knowing their thoughts, said to them, "Every kingdom divided against itself is desolated, and a house divided against itself falls.
16So also, if Satan was divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? I say this because you claim I drive out the demons by Baal-zibbul.
17But when a stronger one than he comes and overpowers him, he takes away the armor upon which his confidence was based, and divides out the spoils.
18And it came about that as Jesus was saying these things, a woman in the crowd lifted up her voice and said to him, "Blessed are the womb that bore you, and the breasts on which you sucked."

The Sign of Jonah

29And as the crowds were pressing together upon him, he began to say, "This generation is a wicked generation; it asks for a sign. And no sign will be given it except the sign of Jonah.
30For just as Jonah was a sign to the Ninevites, so also the Son of..."
Man will be to this generation. 31The Queen of the South will be raised at the judgment with the men of this generation and condemn them, for she came from the ends of the earth to listen to the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, one greater than Solomon is here. 32The men of Nineveh will rise at the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for they repented at the preaching of Jonah, and behold, one greater than Jonah is here.

The Light of the Body

33“No one after lighting a lamp puts it out of view, or under a basket, but rather on the lamp stand, so that those who come in may see the light. 34The lamp of the body is your eye. When your eye is open and generous, your entire body is brightly lit also. But when your eye is suspicious and stingy, your body is in darkness also. 35See to it, therefore, that the light in you is not darkness. 36If then your whole body is brightly lit, not having any part dark, it will all be lighted, like when the lamp by its brightness illumines you.”

Six Woes

37And as he was speaking, a Pharisee asks him to have lunch with him; so having gone inside, he reclined. 38And the Pharisee when he saw, was shocked that he did not first baptize before the meal.125

39And the Lord said to him, “As it is, you Pharisees clean the outside of the cup and platter, but the inside of you is loaded with acquisitiveness126 and wickedness.

40“O foolish ones! Did not the one who made the outside, make the inside also? 41But the things lying within127 give to the poor, and behold, all things are now clean for you.”

123 11:28 The reading that includes the words “or under a basket” is that of TNA CAB D W δ θ ψ f1328 33 it* syr* cop* al. However, those words are absent from ⸂ φ95 L Ξ 070 f1 205 syr* cop* arm geo al. The UBS textual commentary says, “Since Luke preferred not to use μοίχαν in 8:16, a word which is present in the parallel in Mark (and Matthew), it may well be that the word, with its clause, was absent from the original form of the present passage also. On the other hand, since the clause is attested by weighty and diversified external evidence, a majority of the Committee was unwilling to drop it altogether and compromised by enclosing the words within square brackets.”

124 11:34 Literally, “if your eye is evil.” From the Hebrew, יָשָׁר עַיִן - rášah ‘ayin; see endnote at the end of my translation of the gospel of Mark, for a full discussion of this concept: http://www.bibletranslation.ws/trans/markwgrk.pdf.

125 11:38 The Greek word βαπτίζω - bαπτίζω was used for the ceremonial dunking of not only human beings’ bodies (vessels), but for the ceremonial dunking of dishes and hands as well. But because the word has been transliterated into English only in the case of dunking the human body, English speakers have not acquired a full understanding of what it means. This translator therefore thought it best to transliterate the word in every instance.

126 11:39 Acquisitiveness means continuously acquiring things, always wanting more things. This is wickedness, both because it makes an idol of possessions over and above God, and also because there are so many people who have little. It has already been established in the gospel of Luke, 3:11, that one fruit characteristic of repentance, was to give away extra things you had, to the poor.

127 11:41a Somewhat a play on words. Their inside is “loaded up” with wickedness, and Jesus segues from that to the idea of the inside of their warehouse, or perhaps their platter, being loaded up with goods, which is evil in itself; but if they give what is lying inside to the poor, the inside of their vessel will be clean. Another play on words is that in New Testament Greek, “vessel” sometimes means your body, which is your container or dish, so to speak.

128 11:41b A variable here is the dative case of the words meaning "for you" in the phrase πόντον καθορέω ὑμῖν ἔστιν. Some translations say "for you," others "to you," and others leave it untranslated altogether. The rendering "clean for you" is easy enough to understand. Clean "to you" could be an "ethical dative," meaning "clean in your sight." For the N.T. teaches that some things are clean to some people, but unclean to others, depending on their conscience. Perhaps here, the giving to charity changes the evil conscience of the rich. When a rich person is rich selfishly, he has an evil conscience, and his wealth can be unclean in his own eyes, whereas if he is generous, he no longer feels guilty? Something to think about. Paul said in Romans 14:14, "to him that thinks any thing to be unclean, to him it is unclean."
42"But woe to you, Pharisees! For you tithe the mint, and even the rue\textsuperscript{129} and every kind of garden herb, and neglect the justice and the love of God. But these latter things you ought to practice, without leaving the former undone.

43"Woe to you, Pharisees! For you love the prominent seats in the synagogues, and the greetings in the marketplaces.

44"Woe to you! For you are like graves that are not marked, and the people when walking over them do not know it."\textsuperscript{130}

45And in response, someone from the class of lawyers says to him, "Teacher, in saying these things, you are insulting us also."

46But he said, "And to you lawyers also, woe! For you make people carry loads oppressive to bear, and you yourselves, not one of your fingers do you touch to such loads.

47"Woe to you! For you build mausoleums for the prophets, and it was your forefathers who murdered them. 48So then, approving witnesses you are, to the deeds of your forefathers; for they kill\textsuperscript{131} them, and you build.

49"For this reason also the wisdom of God has said, 'I am sending to them prophets and apostles; and some of them they will kill, and some of them they will persecute,' 50with the result that the blood of all the prophets spilled since the founding of the world will be demanded of this generation, 51from the blood of Abel, up until the blood of Zechariah, who perished between the altar and the sanctuary; yes, I tell you, all will be demanded of this generation.

52"Woe to you, lawyers! For you have taken away the key to the door of knowledge. You yourselves have not gone in, and the ones going in you have barred."

53And then as he went forth from there, the Torah scholars and Pharisees began to be extremely hostile, and to provoke him to speak unpreparedly\textsuperscript{132} about a great variety of topics, ambushing him, to pounce on something coming from his mouth.

Chapter 12

Warnings and Encouragements

1When a vast multitude had gathered, such that they were trampling on one another, he began to say to his disciples first, "Be on your guard against the yeast of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy. 2But\textsuperscript{134} there is nothing covered up that will not be revealed, and \textsuperscript{129} 11:42 Another garden herb, \textit{ruta graveolens}. Deuteronomy 14:22 commands the Israelites to give God a tithe from all their crops. But according to the Mishna (Shebi'ith IX 1; cf. Billerb. II 189) it was not necessary to tithe the rue. Hence Jesus' words, "even" the rue.

\textsuperscript{131} 11:48 A gnomic, that is, timeless, aorist.

\textsuperscript{132} 11:52 The Greek verb I translated "barred" is \textit{kolōno} - \textit{kōlōno}, which is related to the word for "limb" of the body, \textit{kolōn} - \textit{kōlon}. Thus we get a picture of someone blocking the way by putting their arm across the way, like a bar. So even after someone figured out how to enter, in spite of the key being withheld, the lawyers would still further block the way, probably by passing a law against it, and enforcing that law. Even as the international pictogram for something which is forbidden by law, is the picture of the activity, with a bar across it. Even when not making it illegal, the "clergy" down through the ages to the present time, have in other ways led the "laity" to believe that the Bible is either too hard to understand or translate without their key, without being initiated into their clergy club, or else it is against church policy, or something like that.

\textsuperscript{134} 12:2 The particle \textit{δὲ} is hard to render here. "But" is possible. For there is a contrast made, between hypocrisy, in v. 1, and the disclosure of v. 2. For hypocrisy entails a covering up of one's true inner motives, a pretention.
nothing secret that will not be made known. Therefore, what things you have said in the darkness, will be heard in the light, and what you have spoken close to an ear in the cellars, will be proclaimed on the housetops.

4"I tell you, my friends, do not be afraid of the ones killing the body, and after that having nothing worse left to do. 5But I will suggest to you whom you should fear. Fear the one who after the killing, has the power to cast into Gehenna. Yes, I tell you, fear him.

6"Are not five sparrows sold for a penny? And not one of them is forgotten before God. 7But in your case, even the hairs of your head, each is numbered. You should not be afraid; you matter more than many sparrows.

8"But I tell you, whoever stands up for me before human beings, the Son of Man also will stand up for him before the angels of God. 9Whereas the one disowning me before human beings, will be disowned before the angels of God. 10And everyone who will speak a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him. But to the person who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven.

11"And when they deliver you over to the synagogues, and to the rulers and to the authorities, do not worry how or what you should defend, or what you should say. 12For the Holy Spirit will instruct you in that very hour what needs to be said."

False Financial Security

13And someone in the crowd said, "Teacher, tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me."

14But he said to him, "Man, who appointed me judge or arbiter over you two?"

15And he said to them, "Watch out, and be on your guard against every form of covetousness. For the life of one is not from the increase of one's possessions."

16And he spoke a parable to them as follows: The land of a certain rich man yielded abundantly, and he was thinking to himself, 'What shall I do? For I have no place where I can stack my produce.'

17And he said, 'This is what I will do. I will pull down my warehouses, and build bigger ones, and there I will stack all my wheat, and all my goods. And I will say to my soul, 'Soul, you have much goods sitting there into many years. Relax, eat, drink, be merry.'

18But God said to him, 'You fool, this very night they are demanding your soul back from you, and the provisions you have made, whose will they be?'

135 12:6 Literally, "two asarion," which were little fragments of brass coin. It means, practically, "a pittance, a trifle, a doit." We say, "I sold it for peanuts." We don't say exactly how many peanuts, like "I sold it for three peanuts." That is not the point.

136 12:8 This is not a standard Greek sentence, but "Biblical Greek," like that in the Septuagint, which is to say, Greek influenced strongly by the Semitic languages. Here we have a very unusual use of the Greek preposition ἐν, the lexical gloss of which is "in" in English; thus: "Whoever confesses in me before humans, I will also confess in him before the angels of God." It is a Semitic principle of, "You do something in my advantage, something 'for' me, and I will do something in your advantage, something 'for' you, in exchange." Blass, §220(2), and Bauer, IV 5, say it means "whoever acknowledges me before men, him also I will acknowledge before the angels of God."

137 12:15 Greek: οὐκ ἐστὶν ἐκ τῶν ὑπαρχόντων αὐτῷ. The preposition ἐκ (from) is the word posing some difficulty. Bauer, 3 f, says this means, "He does not live because of..." For the whole 3 f section he gives the meaning, "of the reason which is a presupposition for something: by reason of, as a result of, because of." This calls to my mind the verse in Proverbs where it says, "Guard your heart, for out of it are the issues of life."

138 12:20 Bauer says this is a figure of speech, found in other writers such as Cicero, and Epictetus, using the concept of a human being's life as a loan. And that now, "they," the creditors, are demanding payment in full, of the loan, "calling in the loan." The Greek verb for "demand back," ἀπαιτέω, is used only twice in the N.T., both times by Luke, one time here, and the other time being in the Sermon on the Mount in Luke 6:30b, "...from the one forcefully taking your things, do not demand them back." It is used nine times in the Septuagint: four times for the demanding of repayment of loans, twice for extortion; once for the demand by Pharaoh for all the gold and silver of the land; and finally, one time in Isaiah 30:33, very much like Luke's use here. That occurrence is also for God's demanding of someone's life prematurely, the life of the king of Assyria. The 21"Such is the person saving up for himself, and not becoming rich to God."

True Financial Security

22And to his disciples, he said, "Because of this I say to you, do not worry about life, what you will eat, nor about the body, what you will wear.  23For life means more than food, and the body more than clothes.

24"Consider the ravens, that they neither sow nor reap, and God feeds them. How much higher priority you are than birds!

25"Now which of you by worrying is able to add onto his lifespan one foot?"  26If therefore you cannot accomplish even this very little thing, why do you worry about the rest?

27"Consider the lilies, how they grow. They neither labor nor weave. But I tell you, not even Solomon in all his splendor, was bedecked like one of these. 28Now if God thus clothes the wild grass, which is here this day and the next is thrown into the stove, how much more would he rather clothe you, O you of little faith?

29"And you also should not seek after how you will eat, and how you will drink; that is, do not be anxious. 30Because all these things, the nations of the world are striving for. But your Father knows that you have need of these things. 31Only seek instead his kingdom, and these things will be included for you.

exact phrase there is Σὺ γὰρ πρὸ ἡμερῶν ἀπαιτηθήσῃ, the same 3rd person, singular, passive inflection on ἄπατηθήσῃ, the same 3rd person plural, and active voice: "they are demanding."

Apart from Bauer's explanation, this reminds me of the place in the prophet Daniel, in chapter 4 verses 13 & 17, where it says, "This sentence is by the decree of the angelic watchers, and the decision is the command of the holy ones, in order that the living may know that the Most High is ruler over the realm of mankind." It implies in v. 17 that there exists a council of some sort, composed of "holy ones," that is, angels, who make decisions on behalf of God. See also Psalm 82:1, "God stands in the assembly of gods, and in their midst, he judges gods." Sometimes angels are referred to as gods, or "sons of god." But the point I am making is that such a council of angels, like the group who decided when Nebuchadnezzar was to die, are a "they," plural, like when God told the rich man here in Luke, "they are demanding your soul back from you." So in this instance, it would make sense to render it "This very night they are demanding your soul back from you." Most English translations render this as a passive with an unexpressed subject or agent, i.e., "your soul is being demanded of you."

This is because in Indo-European languages this syntax is a phenomenon called the "3rd person plural with unexpressed indefinite subject used to form a passive." It should be noted that this is not an Aramaism or Semitism. In the long list of Semitisms in Koine Greek in the BDF grammar on p. 273, this "3rd person plural with unexpressed indefinite subject" is not to be found. Indeed, examples of this syntax may be found in classical Greek writings, in Latin, German, Spanish and French etc. as well. In fact, in Indo-European languages in general, a passive sentence may be formed with a third person plural verb form with or without an impersonal subject. But in the Greek New Testament, this is not consistently rendered as passive in English by Greek scholars. For example, in Revelation 12:6: ἵνα ἐξελθῇ τρέφωσιν αὐτὴν is rendered in the KJV as "that they should feed her there." Though most do, such as the NASB: "so that there should be nourished." But why should Greek do that, when it has the common passive verb forms? In Revelation 12:14, just 8 verses later, and even talking about the same subject, the Greek in Revelation uses the passive form of the same verb: τρέψατε!

139 12:21 Though he was rich in his own eyes, and rich to his neighbors, he was not rich to God. To God, he was "wretched, pathetic, poor, blind, and naked," Revelation 3:17-18. It is preposterous for a human being to think he is rich, when his very life he possesses only as a loan. The Greek word translated "to" in the phrase "to God," is the preposition ἐπὶ - eis, used with the accusative form of the word God. Luke also uses this preposition with the accusative as meaning "in." Thus Tyndale translated this, "and is not rich in God." His rendering may well be right. It is perhaps possible this could alternatively mean, "becoming rich with God as the goal, becoming rich for the sake of God," as opposed to becoming rich for oneself. Scripture elsewhere teaches us that there exists a very rare breed: a rich believer, who makes much money for the purpose of giving it away for the cause of spreading the gospel, or otherwise advancing the kingdom of God. And in the lists of spiritual gifts, there is a gift called "the gift of giving." Certainly, people cannot keep giving as their full-time ministry, unless they keep earning. Though it is naturally impossible for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, with God it is possible.

140 12:25 Literally, one cubit. There was an expression in classical Greek, πῆχυς ἐπὶ χρόνον = "only one cubit of time." It is legitimate therefore to translate this as "a single hour to his life."
32"Do not be afraid, little flock; for it has given your Father pleasure to give you the kingdom. 33Sell your possessions, and give to the poor; make for yourselves money bags unfailing, a stockpile not shrinking; in the heavens, where neither a thief ever gets close, nor a moth ever destroys. 34For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

Be Ready

35"You must keep your waists girded and your lamps burning, 36and you must be like people waiting for their own master. waiting for when he returns from the wedding celebrations, so that when he arrives and is knocking, they may immediately open for him. 37Happy are those slaves who when the master arrives, he finds watching. Truly I tell you, he will gird himself and bid them recline, and after coming in, he will serve them. 38Those slaves are happy, whether he arrives and finds them in the second, or even in the third watch. 39And this you know, that if the manager of the household knew what hour the thief was coming, he would not have allowed his house to be broken into. 40You also must be the same, because the Son of Man is coming at an hour you would not think he would."

41And Peter said, "Lord, are you saying this parable to us, or to everyone else as well?"

42And the Lord said, "So who is the faithful and sensible steward, whom the master will place over his domestic service, to be giving out rations in due time? 43Happy will be that slave who when his lord comes, he finds doing so. 44Truly I tell you, he will place him over all his possessions.

45"But if that slave says in his heart, 'My master is taking his time to come,' and he begins to slap around the workboys and the workgirls, and to eat and drink and get drunk, 46the master of that slave will come at an hour he is not expecting, and at a time he does not know, and will cut him in two, and appoint him his inheritance with the unbelieving. 47"And that slave, knowing the will of his master, and not having prepared or done in accordance with his will, he will be lashed many times. 48Whereas the one not knowing, and having done things deserving of scourgings, he will be lashed few times. So then, anyone to whom much has been given, much will be required of him, and from him to whom much has been entrusted, that much more will be demanded.

Jesus Causes Division

49"I have come to cast fire upon the earth, and how I wish it were already kindled! 50But I have a baptism to be baptized, and how tormented I am until that has been accomplished.

51"You think that I have come to provide peace on the earth. Not at all, I tell you, but rather division. 52For from now on, five in one household will be divided: three against two, and two against three. 53A father will be divided against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother, a mother-in-law against daughter-in-law, and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law."

Judge For Yourselves

54And he was also saying to the crowds, "When you see a cloud rising in the west, right away you say, 'A rainstorm is coming,' and it happens so. 55And when the south wind blows, you say, 'It will be hot,' and it happens. 56Hypocrites! The face of the earth and sky you know how to interpret, but this present time you do not know how to interpret?

57"And why also do you not judge for yourselves what is right? 58For as you are going with your adversary to court, on the way make every effort to be free of him, lest he drag you before the judge, and the judge hand you over to the officer, and the officer throw you in prison. 59I tell you, no way will you come out of that place, until you have paid back the very last penny."

Repent or Perish

1And some who were present at that time, were reporting to him about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with the blood of their sacrifices. 2And in response he said to them, "Do you think that because they suffered these things, those Galileans were sinners, more so than all the rest of the Galileans? 3Not at all, I tell you; but on the other hand, if you do not repent, you shall all likewise perish. 4Or those eighteen, on whom the tower in Siloam fell and killed them, do you think they were debtors worse than all the rest of the people living in Jerusalem? 5Not at all, I tell you; but on the other hand, if you do not repent, you shall all likewise perish."

6And he continued with this parable: "A man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard. And he came seeking fruit on it, and did not find any. 7And he said to the vine dresser, 'Look, it has been three years already I have been coming, seeking fruit on this fig tree and not finding it. Cut it down. Why is it still using up the soil?'

8"But in answer, he says to him, 'Sir, leave it for this year also, until such time I have dug and put manure around it; 9and if in the future it does produce fruit, so much the better. But if not, then you would cut it down.'"

A Crippled Woman Healed on the Sabbath

10And he was teaching in one of the synagogues during the Sabbath. 11And behold, a woman having had a spirit of disability for eighteen years was there. And she was bent over double, and not able to look up at all. 12And when Jesus saw her, he called to her and said to her, "Woman, be set free from your disability." 13And he laid hands on her; and she became erect at once, and was praising God.

14But in response, the synagogue ruler, being indignant that Jesus had healed during the Sabbath, was saying to the crowd, "There are six days in which you are supposed to work; you should therefore be coming during those to be healed, and not during the day of rest."

15But the Lord answered him, and said, "You hypocrites! Who among you on the Sabbath does not free his ox or his donkey from its stall, and after leading it out, give it drink? 16But this woman, a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan has kept bound lo these eighteen years, she should not be freed from this bondage on the day of rest?!

17And with his saying these things, all his opponents were being humiliated, and the whole crowd was cheering, for all the glorious things being accomplished by him.

13:1 Bauer says this means, "whom Pilate ordered to be slain even as they were sacrificing." And so, their own blood would mingle on the ground with the blood of the animal they were sacrificing. A literal rendering of this is a vivid and grabbing figure of speech, and it is a shame to turn this into a bland dynamic equivalent in English.

13:9 The words "so much the better" are not in the Greek text, but we have to put something there. This is a legitimate ellipsis. The Greek says only, "And if indeed in the future it does produce fruit, so much the better." But if not, then you would cut it down."

13:11 It is uncertain whether ἀνακύπτω modifies ἄνωσισσα and thus means "unable to straighten up completely," or whether it modifies μὴ δυναμένη and means "unable at all to straighten up." The various versions throughout the history of the church have differed.

13:16 The number six signifies human effort, which falls short of seven, God's perfection or completion. This woman was enslaved for eighteen years, three times six, three times the normal human effort. What better day than the seventh, the day of rest, for someone to be set free from the slavery of working six days three times? See Deuteronomy 15:1, "Every seventh year you must cancel debts." And 15:12, "If a fellow Hebrew, a man or a woman, sells himself to you and serves you six years, in the seventh year you must let him go free." This woman was kept in bondage three sets of six years, and not being set free. Yet this synagogue ruler was telling her to keep working six days for the rest of her life! For a fuller discussion of this important concept, see my treatise entitled, "What is Sabbath?"
The Parables of the Mustard Seed and the Yeast

18Then he said, "What is the kingdom of God like? And to what may I compare it? It is like a mustard seed, which a man took and cast into his garden, and it grew and became a tree, and the birds of the sky nested in its branches."

19And again he said, "To what may I compare the kingdom of God? It is like yeast that a woman took and folded into three measures of dough until the whole was leavened."

The Narrow Door

20And he was going through every city and village teaching, even as he was making his journey toward Jerusalem. 21And someone said to him, "Lord, are those being saved going to be few?"

And he said to him, 22"Make every effort to go in through the narrow door. For many, I tell you, will try to enter, and not be able to. 23Once the master of the house has gotten up and closed the door, after that you may begin to stand outside, and knock on the door, saying, 'Lord, open to us,' and in answer he will say to you, 'I don't know where you are from.' 24At that time you will begin to say, 'We ate and drank in your presence, and you taught in our streets.' 25And then at that time he will say to you as follows: 'I don't know where you are from. Get away from me, all you workers of unrighteousness.' 26In that place there will be weeping, and gnashing of teeth, when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, and you are being cast outside, 27and people will have come from the east and the west, and from the south and the north, and be reclined in the kingdom of God. 28And behold, there are those who are last, who will be first; and there are those who are first who will be last."

Jesus Laments Jerusalem

31In that hour, some Pharisees came up to him, saying to him, "You should move on, and get out of this place, because Herod is trying to kill you."

32And he said to them, "Go tell that fox: 'Behold, I am casting out demons and accomplishing healings today and tomorrow, and on the third day I will reach my goal.' 33Regardless, I would have to be continuing on today and tomorrow and the next day. For it is not possible for a prophet to be killed outside Jerusalem! 34"O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, that kills the prophets, and stones those sent to it! How often I have wished to gather your children, as a hen does her brood under her wings, and you were not willing. 35Now behold, your house will be abandoned to you."

13:21 Greek: three sata, about 5 gallons, or 22 liters.

13:32 The Greek for the last phrase, καὶ τῇ τρίτῃ τελειῶμαι, could also possibly be translated, "and on the third day I will be finished." But this saying of Jesus seems related to verse 22 of this same chapter, that he was making his way to Jerusalem. The verb τελειῶ - τελειοῦμαι can also mean to reach the end of something, like a journey, so it makes sense to translate it that way in view of what he says in verse 33. That verse implies that he will reach Jerusalem in three days. Reaching his goal of arriving in Jerusalem, he says, is essential, because it is not possible for a prophet to be killed outside of Jerusalem.

13:35a The Greek pronoun for "you" is plural, as also the "you" all three times in this same verse.

This is quite obviously to harmonize Luke with Matthew 23:38. But this was not necessary, since the word ἐρήμως - ἐρήμως, translated "left" in most translations, also can mean "abandon." The meaning seems to be, that their house, whether it means their temple, or their lineage, or their houses, will be abandoned by Jesus, since he tells them they will not see him again until he fulfills Psalm 118:26. Abandoned to them alone without him. What is their temple without the high priest? What is their lineage without the Lion of Judah? What are their homes without the Light of Humankind?
Chapter 14

Jesus at a Pharisee's House

1 And it came about that when he went into the house of a certain ruler of the Pharisees on a Sabbath, to eat bread, they were watching him closely. 2 And behold, a man with dropsy was right in front of him. 3 And in response, Jesus said to the lawyers and Pharisees as follows: "Is it permissible during a Sabbath to heal, or is it not?" 4 But they kept quiet. And after grasping him, he healed him, and dismissed him.

5 And he said to them, "Who among you whose son or ox should fall into a pit during the Sabbath day, would not immediately pull him out?" 6 And they were not able to rebut these words.

7 And toward those who had been invited, he was speaking a parable, referring to how they were claiming the most prestigious seats, saying to them as follows: 8 "When you are invited by someone to a banquet, do not recline at the place of honor, in case someone more distinguished than you is invited by him, 9 and the one who invited both you and him comes and says to you, 'Yield place to this person.' And then you would proceed with embarrassment to make for the last seat. 10 Instead, when you are invited, make your way to the least desirable place and recline, so that when the one who invited you comes, he will say to you, 'Friend, move up to a better place.' Then there will be honor for you in front of all your fellow dinner guests. 11 For anyone who exalts himself will be humbled; and the one who humbles himself will be exalted."

12 And he was also saying to the man who had invited him, "When you make a breakfast or dinner, do not call your friends, or your neighbors, lest they also invite you back in return, and that would be repayment for you. 13 Instead, when you make a banquet, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind; 14 and you will be blessed, because they do not have the means to repay you. For it will be repaid to you, you see, at the resurrection of the righteous."

150 13:35e "Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord." 151 14:2 The sentence opens with καὶ ἵδον - καὶ ἵδο, "And behold." Perhaps the "behold" could mean similar to the exclamation, "what do you know." Like this: "And what do you know, there was a man with dropsy right in front of him." At any rate, it was apparently a set-up.

153 14:5 The Greek verb κατέθη - κατεχέω, which I translated "make your way toward," generally means to take, to occupy. But the verb also was a nautical term meaning "head for, make for, steer toward." I chose that shade of meaning here, because the emphasis seems to be the embarrassment you would feel the whole time you are picking your way, in front of everyone, toward the back seat all the way from the front one. The emphasis seems to be on the long, embarrassing process, rather than on the point of taking the seat.
The Parable of the Great Banquet

15 And after hearing these things, one of the dinner guests said to him, "Blessed is the person who will eat bread in the kingdom of God."

16 And Jesus said to him, "A man held a great banquet, and invited many people.

17 And at the hour of the banquet, he sent his slave out to tell those who were invited, 'Come, for it is now ready.'

18 And they all alike began to ask to be excused. The first one said to him, 'I have bought a field, and I urgently have to go out and see it. I ask you, consider me excused.'

19 And another one said, 'I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I'm on my way to try them out. I ask you, consider me excused.'

20 And another one said, 'I have married a wife, and for this reason I am not able to come.'

21 And when he came back, the slave reported these things to his master. Angered then, the master of the house said to his slave, 'Quick, go out into the boulevards and lanes of the town, and the poor, the crippled, the blind, the lame, lead them here.'

22 And the slave said, 'Master, what you have commanded has been done, and still there is room.'

23 And the master said to the slave, 'Go out into the trails and the fence lines, and urgently invite them to come in, so that my house will be filled. You can be sure, I tell you, that not one of those men who were invited, will taste of my banquet!"

Jesus Qualifies the Crowds

25 And great crowds were going along with him, and he turned around, and said to them, 26 "If someone is coming with me, and does not spurn his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brothers, and sisters, and yes, even his own life, he cannot be my disciple.

27 Anyone that does not take up his own cross and follow after me, cannot be my disciple.

28 "For who of you wishing to build a tower, does not first sit down and count the cost, whether he has enough for completion? It would be no good if he lays the foundation, and not being able to finish, all those observing start to ridicule him, saying, 'This fellow began to build, and was not able to finish.'

29 Or what king, going out to another king to meet in battle, does not first sit down to consider whether he is strong enough with ten thousand, to match the one who is coming against him with twenty thousand? For indeed if not, while he is still at a distance he sends out a delegation, and asks what are the conditions for peace.

30 In the same way, then, any of you who does not say good-bye to everything that he has, cannot be my disciple.

31 Salt then is a good thing; but if the salt itself becomes bland, what will it be spiced with? It is fit neither for the soil, nor for the manure pile; they throw it out.

14:16 The Greek says “he,” not “Jesus.”
14:32 DeBrunner, §155(2), regarding double accusatives, says this phrase ἐρωτᾷ τὰ πρὸς εἰρήνην, with both τὰ and εἰρήνην being accusative case, is equivalent to the Hebrew שָּאַל לְשָּאָלָה, and that it means "he inquires after his well-being." He says there are several examples in the Septuagint, and refers us to R. Helbing, 'Die Kasussyntax der Verba bei den Septuaginta,' 40. Another possibility according to DeBrunner, is: "he greets him (and pays homage to him)." He then refers us to Foerster. This translator does not have access to Helbing's or Foerster's works, so looked for LXX examples himself, and the closest thing he found was Psalm 122:6, Ἐρωτήσετε δή τῇ εἰς εἰρήνην Ἱερουσαλήμ, 'Pray now for the things that lead to the peace of Jerusalem.'
14:35 For salt at that time, do not picture purely refined, white, fine-grained sodium chloride like we use now. There are many speculations as to what this verse implies about the salt of that day. Bauer says that salt was sometimes used as fertilizer. Another scholar says that salt was sometimes used to make the soil of one's enemies infertile! And why would someone put salt on a dung heap? To preserve it? Or was it to amend it, stretch it? The best explanation I have heard is that the word salt would have been understood to mean any substance that tasted salty, including, say, potassium nitrate, which could be used for fertilizer. And Ben Crick of England says that the word salt would have been used of any chemical salt, which would include a whole range of "Whoever has ears to hear, hear."

Chapter 15

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

1 And all the tax collectors and the sinners were coming up next to him, to listen to him.
2 But he spoke this parable to them, as follows: 4 "What man among you who has a hundred sheep and is missing one of them, does not leave behind the ninety-nine in the desert, and go out after the lost one, until he finds it? 5 And when he has found it, he places it on his shoulder, rejoicing. 6 And upon returning home he gathers his friends and neighbors together, saying to them, 'Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep that was lost.'

7 I tell you, in just the same way, there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner repenting, than over ninety-nine righteous persons having no need of repentance.

The Parable of the Lost Coin

8 "Or what woman having ten drachmas, if she loses one drachma, does not light a lamp and sweep the house clean, and search diligently until such time she finds it? 9 And when she has found it, she gathers her friends and neighbors together, saying, 'Rejoice with me; for I have found the drachma that was lost.'

10 In just the same way, I tell you, rejoicing breaks out among the angels of God over one sinner repenting."

The Parable of the Lost Son

11 And he said, "A certain man had two sons. 12 And the younger of them said to the father, 'Father, pay out to me the applicable share of the holdings.' So he divided to them the life savings.

13 And not many days later, having gathered everything together, the younger son journeyed off, to a far away country, and there he wasted his estate, living indulgently. 14 And after he had spent everything he had, a severe famine took place over that whole country, and he himself began to be without. 15 And so going forth, he joined on with one of the citizens of that country, who sent him into his fields to tend swine. 16 And he was craving to be fed of the carob pods, such as fluorine, chlorine, bromine, iodine and astatine. Fortunately, the moral of the parable remains clear: unless you give up all your possessions, and take up your cross and follow like Jesus, you are salt that is not salty, so is not useful for anything.

15:8 A drachma was worth about a day's wage.
15:16a Some manuscripts, instead of "to be fed of," have "to fill his belly from," γέμισε τὴν κοιλίαν ὀστεοῦ ἁπάτω, and Codex Washingtonianus conflates the two readings and says "to fill his belly and be fed from." On the basis of age and diversity of text-type of witnesses, the Editorial Committee for the UBS Greek text preferred the reading "χορτασθῆναι ἔκ," and give it a B rating of certainty.
15:16b Greek, κεράτιον - keratión, meaning "little horn,' so named because of the shape of the pods of the species Ceratonia siliqua, Arabic "kharrubah," meaning bean pod; aka. Cods of Syria, aka. St. John's Bread, alluding to an erroneous notion, based on folk etymological comparisons of the Greek for "husk" and "locust", that the locusts John the Baptizer lived on were instead carob pods; from a leguminous tree having pods 9 inches long and 1 inch broad, once common in the forests of Galilee (Arthur Penrhyn Stanley, Sinai & Palestine in connection with their history, ii 146, 1858), and considered a food grain of lower grade; the pods that the Prodigal Son eyed longingly in the pig pens, Luke 15:16; cf. Lychophron, from 675 to 678, III BC. For further examples showing that "carob pod" was the meaning of the Greek word keration, see Aristotle, Polybius, 26, 1, 4, II BC; Dioscorides 1, 114, 1 AD. Äëtius, Treatment of Diseases of the Eye, 160, 3, VI AD. F. G. Kenyon & H. I. Bell, Greek Papyri in the British Museum I-V, 131, 7, 1893-1917.
And when he came to himself, he was saying, 'How many hired men of my father's have more than enough food, and here I am, perishing with hunger. I will arise and go to my father, and I will say to him, "Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before you. I am no longer worthy to be called your son; make me as one of your hired men."'

And he arose and went to his father. But while he was still a long way off, his father saw him, and was moved with pity. And he ran out, flung his arms around him and kissed him. But the son said to him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before you. I am no longer worthy to be called your son.'

But the father said to his servants, 'Quick, bring out the best robe and drape it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes to his feet, and bring the fattened calf, and slaughter it, and let us feast and celebrate; for this my son was dead and is alive again; was lost and has been found!' And they proceeded to celebrate.

But his elder son was in the fields. And as he was getting close to the house, he heard the sound of music and of dancing. And calling over one of the workboys, he was asking what it was all about.

Then he was angry, and refused to go inside. And his father, after coming out, was pleading with him. But in response he said to his father, 'All these years I have been serving you, and not once did I ever deviate from your instructions. Yet to me, you have never given so much as a baby goat so I could celebrate with my friends. But when this son of yours comes who ate up your life savings with prostitutes, you slaughter for him the fattened calf!'

But he said to him, 'Dear child, you are always with me, and everything that is mine is yours. But to celebrate, and be cheered up, is only right; for this your brother was dead and is alive again; was lost, and has been found!'

Chapter 16

The Shrewd Money Manager

And then toward his disciples he was saying: 'There was a rich man, who had a business manager. And accusations were brought to him against this man, that he was wasting his property. So having summoned him, he said to him, 'What is this I am hearing about you? Surrender the records of your management; for you can no longer be manager.'

And the manager said to himself, 'What will I do, now that my master is taking away the management from me? I am not strong enough to dig. I am ashamed to beg. I know what I will do, so that after I am removed from my management, people will welcome me into their homes.'

And calling in each and every one of his master's debtors, he said to the first one, 'How much do you owe my master?' And he said, 'A hundred baths of olive oil.'

"And he told him, 'Take your bill, and sit down quickly and write "fifty."' Then, to another one he said, 'And you, how much do you owe?' And he said, 'A hundred kors of wheat.' "He says to him, 'Take your bill and write "eighty."

And that master gave credit to the unrighteous manager, in that he had acted shrewdly. For the children of this age are more shrewd toward their own generation than are the children of light. And as for me, I say to you, make friends for yourselves by means of the undependable wealth, so that when it fails, they may welcome you into perpetual dwellings.

10 "The person who is faithful with little, is also faithful with much, and the one who is undependable with little is also undependable with much. 11 If therefore you do not prove faithful with the undependable wealth, who will trust you with the true? 12 And if with someone else’s property you have not turned out to be faithful, who will grant you property of your own?

13 "No house slave is able to serve two masters; for he would either spurn the one and love the other, or devote himself to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve both God and Wealth."

14 And the Pharisees had been listening to all this and, being moneylovers, were sneering at him.

15 And he said to them, "You are ones who justify yourselves before human beings, but God knows your hearts. For what is highly esteemed among human beings, is detestable in God’s sight.

16 "The law and the prophets were until John; from that time on the kingdom of God is being proclaimed, and everyone is pushing their way into it. 17 But it is easier for sky and earth to pass away, than for one serif of the law to fall. 18 Everyone dismissing his wife and marrying another is committing adultery, and he who marries her who has been dismissed by a husband, is committing adultery."

The Rich Man and Lazarus

19 "Now a certain man was rich, and used to put on a purple robe and fine linen, and live it up splendidly every day. 20 But a beggar, Lazarus by name, was laid at his gate, covered with sores, 21 and he kept longing in vain to eat the scraps dropping from that rich man’s table. In contrast, even the dogs would at least come and lick his sores.

22 "Now the beggar came to die, and was carried off by the angels to Abraham’s bosom. And the rich man also died, and was buried. 23 And in Hades, when he lifted up his eyes, from being in torment, he sees Abraham far away, and Lazarus in his bosom. 24 So after calling out to him, he said, ‘Father Abraham, have pity on me, and send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water, to cool my tongue, because I am in agony in this fire.’

25 "But Abraham said, ‘Son, recall that in your lifetime, you received your good things, while Lazarus likewise received his bad; so now here, he is comforted, and you are suffering. 26 And besides all this, between us and you a great chasm has been fixed, such 162 16:9 The Greek word “adikos” here is usually rendered “unrighteous, but can also mean “untrustworthy, undependable,” as indeed Jesus uses it here and in vv. 10-11 with that meaning. Jesus is also making a play on words, on the word Mammon (here rendered Wealth), which word is based on a Semitic root for “dependable, reliable.” The idea of mammon was a wealth to such an extent that one could relax and feel secure and confident financially. But Jesus here is saying that it will fail. Jesus calls it the wealth that is ἀδικίας - adikias, which means "unrighteous, unreliable, fraudulent, false, untrustworthy." When Jesus says “unrighteous Mammon,” he is saying something like “insecure security.” And this is the same word he used to describe the manager. A false manager, an undependable manager. Another play is the contrast of the undependable property with the "true" or "real" property. Wherever I have the word "undependable," you can substitute the word "false, dishonest" as in whoever is false with little, is also false with much; and, "false wealth."

163 16:16 There is no verb in this sentence in the Greek. But the only word in Greek customarily allowed to be omitted but implied, is the simple copula. That is, the verb "is." And since it is talking about something that was in the past, and plural, therefore we supply the word "were."

164 16:18 Why is this said here, at this time? The context is Jesus scolding the Pharisees for being apparently righteous, but being detestable in God’s sight. Therefore I believe that what is happening here is that the Pharisees commonly divorced and remarried, and would justify it somehow. But Jesus was known to have taught a stricter view of divorce than even the strictest school of the Pharisees.

165 16:23 Also in v. 22, εἰς τὸν κόλπον ἀβραάμ “Abraham’s side.” Compare John 13:23, where John’s place at the Passover meal was ἐν τῷ κόλπῳ τοῦ ἱπποῦ “in the bosom of Jesus,” and John 1:18, where Jesus Christ the Son is said to be εἰς τὸν κόλπον τοῦ πατρὸς “in the bosom of the Father."
that those who want to go from here to you are not able to, neither can anyone cross over from there to us.'

27"And he said, 'Then I beg you, father, please send him to my father's house, 28since I have five brothers, in order that he solemnly warn them not to also come to this place of torment.'

29"But Abraham says, 'They have Moses and the Prophets; let them take heed to them.'

30"And he said, 'Hardly, father Abraham; but if someone from the dead goes to them, they will repent.'

31"And he said to him, 'If they are not taking heed to Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be persuaded if someone rises from the dead.'"

Chapter 17

A Brother Who Sins

1And he said to his disciples, "It is not possible for there not to come things that cause people to fall. Nevertheless, woe to that person by whom such comes! 2It would be better for him if a mill stone is lying around his neck and he is thrown into the sea, than that he cause one of these little ones to fall.

3Watch yourselves. If your brother sins, rebuke him, and if he repents, forgive him.

4And if he sins against you seven times in a day, and seven times he turns toward you, saying, 'I repent,' forgive him."

Faith and Duty

5And the apostles said to the Lord, "Give us more faith."

6But the Lord said, "If you have faith as small as a mustard seed, you could say to this mulberry tree, 'Be uprooted and planted in the sea,' and it would obey you.

7Now who of you having a servant plowing or tending the sheep, when he comes in from the field would say to him, 'Come right over here and recline'? 8Would he not instead say to him, 'Fix something I can eat, and after you have girded yourself, serve me while I eat and drink, and after these things, you shall eat and drink'? 9Neither does he thank the servant that he has done what he has been told. 10In the same way, you also, when you have done all the things that were prescribed for you, you should say, 'We are unprofitable servants; we have done what we are supposed to have done.'"

Ten Healed of Leprosy

11And it came about that as he was on his way to Jerusalem, he was passing through the middle of Samaria and Galilee. 12And as he was coming into a village, ten men who had leprosy met him, who stopped and stood at a distance.

13And they called out loudly, saying, "Jesus, Master, have pity on us!"

14And when he saw this, he said to them, "Go show yourselves to the priests." And it came about that as they went, they were cleansed.

15And one of them, when he saw that he had been healed, turned and came back, praising God with a very loud voice. 16And he fell on his face at Jesus' feet, thanking him.

17And in response Jesus said, "Were there not ten cleansed? Where then are the other nine? 18Were none found to have come back to give glory to God, except this foreigner?"

166 17:2 Or possibly, "a mill stone is lying around his neck and he is lying in [the bottom of] the sea."

167 17:4 Or possibly, as some translations say, "seven times a day." This latter reading would be a great deal more forgiving to do. Yet, Jesus in another place said we must forgive someone "seventy times seven" times, or perhaps "seventy-seven times." It seems to me, that the spirit of the teaching would also apply if someone sins against you seven times every day, but does turn to you seven times each day, saying, "I repent." Because really, that about describes our relationship with God, how many times he has to forgive us. And most of us don't even repent that many times a day, though we have need of it.
And he said to him, "Get up and go your way; your faith has saved you."

The Coming of the Kingdom of God

And when he was questioned by the Pharisees as to when the kingdom of God was coming, he answered them as follows: "The kingdom of God does not show with careful observation, neither will people say, 'Behold, here,' or 'There.' For behold, the kingdom of God is within you."

And he said to the disciples, "Days are coming, when it is one of the days of the Son of Man you will long to see, and you will not have that experience. And people will say to you, 'Behold, there!' 'Behold, here!' Do not go, neither follow after them. For just as lightning shines forth flashing from one end of the sky to the other, so shall it be with the Son of Man. But first he must suffer much at the hands of this generation and be rejected.

And just as it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of Man. People were eating, drinking, marrying, being given in marriage, up until the day that Noah entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all.

It was just the same in the days of Lot. People were eating, drinking, buying, selling, planting, building, but the day that Lot left Sodom, fire and sulfur rained down from heaven, and destroyed them all.

Along those lines will be the day in which the Son of Man is being revealed. In that day, if someone is on the roof, and his stuff is in the house, he should not go down to get it, and the one in the field should likewise not turn back around. Remember Lot's wife. Whoever tries to save his life will lose it, and whoever loses it will keep it alive.

I tell you, in that night there will be two men on one couch; one will be taken, and the other left. There will be two women together grinding grain; one will be taken, and the other left."

And they in response are saying to him, "Where, Lord?"

And he said to them, "Where the body is, there also the eagles will be gathered."

Chapter 18

The Parable of the Persistent Widow

And he was speaking a parable to them, with the moral that they ought always to pray, and not to lose heart, as follows: "There was a judge in a certain city, who had no fear of God, and no regard for man. But there was a widow in that city, and she kept on coming to him, saying, 'Give me redress from my adversary.'

And for some time he had been refusing, but after all this, he said to himself, 'Even if I don't fear God, nor have regard for man, just because this widow is causing me trouble, I will avenge her, lest all her coming in the end wears me out.'"

17:36 The King James Version has verse 36, "Two men shall be in the field; the one shall be taken, and the other left." But if you read an original 1611 King James Version, you will find a marginal note that says that the verse 17:36 was absent from most of their Greek manuscripts. You can view an actual scan of this marginal note, from just such a KJV, at: http://www.bibletranslation.ws/gfx/luke17-36.jpg

17:37 Greek: ὁ αἰτός, a word used for both eagles and vultures. Yet this is apparently a quote by Jesus of the parable in Job 39:30, where the parallel in the Septuagint to ὁ αἰτός is ἱέρας, a hawk, v. 26. Both Aristotle and Pliny in their Histories class the vulture among the eagles. Both eagles and vultures are classified as unclean in the law of Moses, Lev. 11:13, Deut. 14:12, in that they both eat carrion (in Job 39:30 ὁ αἰτός is eating carrion). Yet generally speaking, where ὁ αἰτός is eating carrion, vultures may be assumed to be meant. Now T.W. Manson, in "Sayings of Jesus," says the eagle would emphasize the swiftness of the coming of the Day of the Son of man. It is true that the eagle in passages such as Job 9:26, and Rev. 12:14, is a symbol of swiftness. I also get some amount of meaning in this verse that the eagles are acting as a form of messenger, which again, the eagle sometimes symbolizes, but not vultures as much. But the main emphasis here about the bird is not that of messenger, but that of a clear sign in the sky. Still, either 'eagles' or 'vultures' would be an acceptable rendering here.
And the Lord said, "Listen to what the unjust kind of judge was saying. So God, would he not bring about the avenging of his elect, who keep crying out to him day and night? And is he slow to respond to them? I tell you, he would bring about justice for them, in short order. However, when the Son of Man comes, will he find any faith on the earth at all?"

The Parable of the Pharisee and the Revenue Agent

And also, to some, who were convinced within themselves that they were righteous, and looking down on everyone else, he told this parable: Two men went up to the temple to pray, one a Pharisee, and the other a revenue agent. When the Pharisee stood, he was praying inside himself as follows: O God, I thank you that I am not like other people, who are swindlers, dishonest, adulterers, or indeed, like this revenue agent. I fast twice a week, I tithe of everything I get.

"But the revenue agent, standing a distance off, was not even willing to lift his eyes toward heaven, but was beating his breast, saying, 'O God, be merciful to me, a sinner.' I tell you, this latter went down to his house justified, rather than the former. For all who exalt themselves will be humbled, and those who humble themselves will be exalted."

The Little Children and Jesus

And people were bringing little children to him, so that he would touch them. But when the disciples saw this, they started rebuking them. But Jesus called them over to him, saying, "Allow the children to come to me, and stop preventing them, for of such is the kingdom of God. Truly I tell you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God like a child will certainly not enter it."

The Rich Young Ruler

And a certain ruler queried him as follows: "Good teacher, with what done will I inherit eternal life?"

And Jesus said to him, "Why are you calling me good? No one is good, except God alone. The commandments you know: Do not commit adultery, Do not murder, Do not steal, Do not give false testimony, Honor your father and mother."

And he said, "All these I have kept since childhood."

And when Jesus heard this, he said to him, "There is still one thing lacking with you. Everything you have, sell and hand out to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven, and then come follow me."

But hearing these words made him very sad, for he was extremely wealthy. And when Jesus saw this, he said, "How hard it is for those who have wealth to go into the kingdom of God. Indeed, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for the rich to enter into the kingdom of God."

And those who heard said, "Who then CAN be saved?"

And he said, "Things impossible with human beings are possible with God."

And Peter said, "Behold, we have left behind our own things to follow you."

18:8 "any at all" is from the Greek ἀρα, a particle not directly translatable, but which indicates irritatedness or impatience or displeasure.

18:14 Though the Greek pronouns and articles in this sentence are singular, I have felt free to generalize and neuterize to the plural, in view of the fact that the sentence begins with the Greek word πᾶς, which means "all" or "everyone." This is a general and plural subject.

18:25 Just as it is impossible, humanly speaking, for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, Jesus says in v. 27 that it is "impossible" for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God. Some people teach that Jesus really instead said "rope to go through the eye of a needle," because he was speaking in the Aramaic language, and the Aramaic word for camel was also the word for a kind of rope. Regardless, Jesus would want to invent a simile that was in line with his main point: "something impossible." His illustration must demonstrate something that is impossible, naturally speaking. "Camel" is more impossible than "rope," so at worst, camel works just fine, and at best, camel is the best rendering because it is more impossible.
And he said to them, "Truly I say to you, there is no one who has left house or wife or siblings or relatives or children, for the sake of the kingdom of God, who will not receive back many times as much in this present time; and in the coming age, eternal life."

Jesus Again Predicts His Death

And after having taken the twelve aside, he told them, "Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and everything that is written by the prophets about the Son of Man will be carried out. For he will be handed over to the Gentiles, and be made fun of and mistreated and spit upon, and after scourging him they will kill him, and on the third day he will rise again."

And they understood none of these things. Indeed, this statement was hidden from them, and they did not realize the things being said.

An Obnoxious Beggar Gets His Wish

And it came about that when he was drawing near to Jericho, a blind man was sitting beside the road, begging. And when he heard the crowd going through, he was inquiring what this was all about. And they informed him that Jesus the Nazarene was passing by. Then he cried out, saying, "Jesus, son of David, have mercy on me!"

And those leading the way were rebuking him, that he should be quiet. But he was shouting that much more, "Son of David, have mercy on me!"

And after stopping, Jesus ordered that he be brought to him. And when he had come near, Jesus asked him, "What do you want me to do for you?"

And he said, "Lord, that I could see again."

And Jesus said to him, "See again; your faith has saved you."

And at once he saw again, and he was following him, giving glory to God. And all the people also, when they saw, gave praise to God.

Chapter 19

Zacchaeus the Revenue Officer

And he entered, passing on through Jericho. And behold, there was a man called by the name of Zacchaeus, and he was a revenue officer, and he was rich. And he was trying to see who Jesus was, but being prevented by the crowd, since he was small in stature. And after running on forward ahead, he climbed up onto a sycamore tree, so that he could see him, for he was about to pass that way.

And when Jesus arrived to the place, he looked up and said to him, "Hurry down, Zacchaeus, for today I need to stay at your house."

And he hurried down, and took him in gladly. And all who had seen this were complaining, saying, "He has gone in to stay the night with a sinful man."

And Zacchaeus stood up, and said to the Lord, "Look, one half of all I possess, Lord, I am giving to the poor, and where I have defrauded anyone of anything, I am making restitution threefold."

And Jesus said in reference to him, "Today, salvation has come to this house, in view of the fact that this man too is a son of Abraham. For the Son of Man came to seek and to save that which was lost."

18:42 Or, "your faith has healed you." As also in many other places in Luke.

19:8 Some translators interpret ἔγραμμα here as "stopped," seeing the situation as the grumblers grumbling while Zacchaeus and Jesus were still in their presence. So then Zacchaeus would have stopped and said the things he said in response to those complaining. I do not see it that way. I think that Jesus and Zacchaeus had already gone into Zack's house and were reclined, when Zack stood up to say what he says in verse eight. I could be wrong.

19:10 Jesus is the Good Shepherd of Ezekiel 34:16, and not a false shepherd of Ezekiel 34:4, and does search for that which was lost, as in Ezekiel 34:11. The exact same form of the Greek article...
The Parable of the Ten Servants

And as they were listening to these things, he included and spoke another parable, because he was drawing near to Jerusalem, and they thought that the kingdom of God was about to be appearing shortly. He said therefore, "A certain man well born journeyed off to a far country, to receive for himself a kingdom and then return. Now after calling ten of his servants, he had given to them ten minas, and said to them, 'Do business until such time I return.'

But his subjects hated him, and they sent ambassadors behind him saying, 'We do not want this man to be king over us.' And it came about that when he returned, he had received the kingship. And he ordered his servants to be summoned to him, those to whom he had given the money, in order to find out what they had earned.

So the first one came, reporting as follows: 'Lord, your mina has grown to ten minas.' And he said to him, 'Well done, good servant. Since with a little you have proven faithful, be therefore ruler over ten cities.'

And the second one came, saying, 'Your mina, Lord, has become five minas.' So he said to that one, 'And you, you shall be over five cities.'

And the other one came, saying as follows: 'Lord, here is your mina, which I have been keeping laid away in a napkin. For I was afraid of you, since you are a demanding man; you collect what you did not deposit, and reap what you did not sow.'

He says to him, 'By your own mouth I judge you, you wicked servant. You knew, did you, that I am a demanding man, collecting what I did not deposit, and reaping what I did not sow? Why then did you not put my money on the table of the moneychangers, and I having returned would collect it with interest?' And to some standing there he said, 'Take the mina away from him, and give it to the one who has ten minas.'

I tell you, to everyone who has, it will be given, but the one who has not, even such that he has will be taken away from him. As for my enemies, those who had not wanted me to be king over them, bring them here, and slay them in front of me.'

176 That is, he gave the ten servants one mina each. The mina, which was originally a Semitic word that the Greek language had long since borrowed, was equivalent to 100 drachmas. One drachma was not insignificant in purchasing power. Culling Greek literature, you can find quite a variance: some times and places, one drachma could buy you one sheep, but was only one-fifth the price of an ox. Other times, one drachma could buy you an ox. Either way, a mina was worth at least 100 sheep. That is a lot of money. Anyone could take that amount of money and by investing, turn it into more.

177 "what they had earned" is the earlier Greek reading τί διαπραγματεύομαι, whereas the Textus Receptus reads τίς τι διαπραγματεύομαι, "what each one had earned," which reading the UBS commentary says seems to be the result of scribal efforts to make the narrative more clear. The editorial Committee of the UBS 4th edition give the first reading, τί διαπραγματεύομαι, a B rating of certainty, that is, "almost certain."

178 Or, "another one," or, "a different one." There is a theory that this parable of the Ten Minas is drawn from Matthew's parable of the Ten Talants of 25:14-30, in which there are only three servants, and here Luke has "fatigued" of maintaining his version's uniqueness from Matthew, and reverted back to following Matthew's version exactly. On the other hand, Jesus may well have used modified versions of the parable at various times. Still, there are things about this Lukan version that do not add up, literally. The first servant is given one mina, and then in most translations, he says, "Your mina has made ten minas more." Then Jesus says in verse 24, 'Take the mina away from him, and give it to the one who has ten minas.' But, if he started with one mina, and made ten minas more, wouldn't he have eleven minas, and not ten? So, perhaps the aforementioned theory is true; or else, the phrase usually translated, "made ten minas more," can be translated something like I have it: "increased to ten minas."
The Triumphal Entry

28And having said these things, he was pressing his way onward, going up to Jerusalem. 29And it came about that as he drew near to Bethphage and Bethany at the hill called the Mount of Olives, he sent away two of his disciples, 30saying, "Go into the village ahead of you, in which as you are entering you will find a colt tethered, upon which no one has ever yet sat, and you are to untie it and bring it. 31And if someone asks you, 'Why are you untying it,' say this, 'The Lord needs it.'"

32And when the ones who were sent went, they found things just as he had told them. 33And as they were untying the colt, the owners of it said to them, "Why are you untying the colt?"

34And they said, "The Lord needs it." 35And they brought it to Jesus, and after throwing garments of theirs on the colt, they mounted Jesus upon it. 36And as he was proceeding along, people were spreading their cloaks in the road beneath.

37And having come near now to the descent of the Mount of Olives, the whole company of disciples started rejoicing, to lift God up with a loud voice for all the miracles that they had seen. 38They were saying, "Blessed is the king who comes in the name of the Lord! Peace in heaven, and glory in the highest!"

39And some Pharisees in the crowd said to him, "Teacher! Rebuke your disciples!"

40And he in answer said, "I tell you, if these go silent, the stones will cry out." 41And as he drew near and saw the city, he wept over it, 42saying, "If you, yes ironically you, had only known what would bring you peace on this very day! But now it is hidden from your eyes. 43For the days will come upon you that your enemies will throw a palisade up against you, and encircle you, and press in on you from every side, and throw you to the ground, you and your children within you, and there will not be left within you a stone upon a stone, in retribution for the fact you did not recognize the time of your gracious visitation."

179 19:30 πῶλος - pōlos, a young mount animal, a word used for the foals of both donkeys and horses. But we know from the other accounts that this was the foal of a donkey.

180 19:38 Psalm 118:26

181 19:40 A few manuscripts (Γ Δ αλ.) have the verbs "be quiet" and "cry out" in the subjunctive mood, which in English would be, "If these were to keep silent, the stones would cry out." But the original reading is so certain with the verbs in the future inflection, that this difference is not noted at all in the apparatus of the United Bible Societies' Greek New Testament, nor in their textual commentary. I have been translating the gospels long enough to have seen a trend, that copyists sometimes thought the future awkward, and changed it to the subjunctive. Because indeed the rule was, according to BDF §373, when the clause begins with ἔστω as here, a subjunctive verb is expected. Thus, it is far more likely that copyists would have corrected an original future reading to a subjunctive one, than the other way around. But the future indicative here makes Jesus' statement that much more emphatic.

182 19:42a Jesus says, "yes, even you," because of the irony that the city of Jerusalem, whose name includes the Semitic root word for peace, did not recognize what would bring it peace, and did not recognize the Prince of Peace.

183 19:42b This exact phrase, τὰ προῖς εἰρήνην appeared also in Luke 14:32, where I translated it, "the conditions for peace."

184 19:44a The Greek verb for "dash to the ground," ἔδοφιζω - edaphizō, in reference to a city, means both "raze to the ground," as in the Septuagint in Isaiah 3:26, and also "dash to the ground," as in Psalm 136:9, Hosea 10:14, 14:1 and others. Here both meanings have to apply for the one instance of the word: you, referring to Jerusalem, the city, will be razed to the ground, and her children will be dashed to the ground.

185 19:44b The Greek words usually translated "because," here, "because you did not recognize," are the words, ἐνδικα - antif followed by the relative pronoun. A literal translation of this would be, "in exchange for the fact that you did not recognize your gracious visitation." For the previously
Jesus Clears the Temple

And when he had entered the temple, he proceeded to drive out the vendors, telling them, "It is written, 'And my house shall be a house of prayer,' but you have made it 'a haunt of bandits.'" And he was teaching daily in the temple. And the chief priests and the Torah scholars, along with the leaders of the people, were trying to kill him. Yet they were not finding any way they could do it, because the entire crowd was hanging on him, listening to him.

Chapter 20

The Authorities Question Jesus' Authority

And it came about during one of those days of his teaching the crowd in the temple and preaching the good news, that the high priests and Torah scholars and elders came up, and they said to him as follows: "Tell us, by what authority are you doing these things? Or, who is the one who gave you the authority for these things?"

And in answer Jesus said to them, "I will also ask you something, that you must tell me: John's baptism, was it from heaven, or from human beings?"

So they discussed it among themselves, saying, "If we say, 'From heaven,' he will say, 'Then why didn't you believe him?' But if we say, 'From human beings,' all the people will stone us, because they are convinced that John was a prophet."

And they professed not to know where it was from. And Jesus said to them, "Neither am I telling you by what authority I do these things."

The Parable of the Tenants

And he began to speak this parable to the crowd: "A man planted a vineyard, and leased it out to tenant-farmers, and journeyed away for quite some time. And in the time of harvest, he sent a servant to the tenants, so they could pay him rent out of the fruit of the vineyard. But the tenants, after beating him, sent him away empty-handed. And he proceeded to send a another servant; and that one also, after beating and insulting him, they sent away empty-handed. And he proceeded to send a third; and that one also they threw out, after injuring him.

So the owner of the vineyard said, 'What should I do? I will send my beloved son; maybe him, they will respect.'

But when they saw him, the tenants discussed it among themselves, saying, 'This is the heir. Let us kill him, so that the inheritance will be ours.' And they threw him outside the vineyard and killed him.

What then will the owner of the vineyard do to them? He will come, and he will kill those tenants, and he will give the vineyard to others."

And those who heard this said, "May it never be!"

But he, after looking at them, said, "Why then is this written:

mentioned disasters were also a visitation. A visitation, rendered in Greek by the word ἐπισκόπησις - episkopêsis, could be both a negative one, or a positive one. A gracious visitation was predicted for them and offered many times in the Hebrew scriptures, and earlier in the gospel of Luke, in Zechariah's song in Luke 1:78, where he said "because of the tender feelings of our God with which he Sunrise from on high will look over - ἐπισκόπεται - episképetai - us. Since they forfeited their gracious episkopê, God would give them a calamitous one in exchange, in repayment, in retribution, instead.

19And at that time, the Torah scholars and high priests wanted to lay their hands on him, yet they were afraid of the people. For they knew that he had spoken this parable in reference to them.

Paying the Tribute Tax to Caesar

20And beginning to watch him closely, they sent spies presenting themselves as sincere, in order to catch some statement of his, such that they could hand him over to the jurisdiction and authority of the governor.

21And they questioned him as follows: "Teacher, we know that you talk straight, and you teach straight; that is, you do not acknowledge personage, but only on the basis of truth you teach the way of God. 22Is it permissible for us to pay the tribute tax189 to Caesar, or not?"

23But he perceived their trickery, and said to them, 24"Show me a denarius. Whose image does it bear, and whose inscription?"
And they said, "Caesar's."

25And he said to them, "Well then, Caesar's things give back to Caesar, and God's things to God."

26And they were not able to catch him in a saying in the presence of the people; and having been astonished by his answer, they remained silent.

Marriage at the Resurrection

27Then some of the Sadducees approached (Sadducees say there is no resurrection), and they questioned him 28as follows: "Teacher, Moses wrote for us, 'If a man's brother dies having a wife, and that deceased is childless, that the man should take the wife of his brother, and raise up descendants for his brother.'

29"Well, there were seven brothers. And the first one, who had taken a wife, died childless. 30And the second one 31took her, and the third one, and in fact, all seven in the same way, left behind no child, and died. 32Last of all, the woman also died.

33"So the woman, in the resurrection, whose wife is she going to be? For all seven had her as wife."

34And Jesus said to them, "The children of this age marry and are given in marriage; 35but those considered worthy to taste of that age and of the resurrection from the dead, will neither marry nor be given in marriage, 36nor will they be able to die any more, for

189 20:22 The Greek word translated "tribute" is phoros. The Roman Caesar would charge a head tax (capita tax) based on a head count or census. The Latin root word for head is cap. Thus, this tax was a per capita tax, or a capitation. It was a flat tax, having no relation to graduated percentages, or ability to pay. It was not an income tax. Every head had to cough up the same amount. Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Ed., defines a Capitation tax thusly: "A poll tax. A tax or imposition upon the person. It is a very ancient kind of tribute, and answers to what the Latins called 'tributum,' by which taxes on persons are distinguished from taxes on merchandise, called 'vectigalia.'" Remember, a census was forbidden by God, and King David incurred God's wrath when he numbered the people. (A census tax or capita tax is also the kind expressly prohibited by the Constitution for the United States of America.) Black's Law Dictionary defines Tribute in turn as: "A contribution which is raised by a prince or sovereign from his subjects to sustain the expenses of the state. A sum of money paid by an inferior sovereign or state to a superior potentate, to secure the friendship or protection of the latter." Now as for coinage, Jesus obviously knew some principles of law. When he said in verse 25, "Caesar's things give back to Caesar," he recognized that every single coin circulated that bore Caesar's portrait and inscription, already belonged to Caesar. The Jewish religious taxes, on the other hand, were paid in weight of silver–shekels, or even drachmas, but not in Roman coins.

they will be like the angels and be children of God, since they are children of the resurrection.

37"But that the dead are rising, even Moses intimated so, at the part about the bush, the way he says Yahweh is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. 38Now God is not the God of dead people, but of living, for to him all of those are alive."

39And one of the Torah scholars said in response, "Teacher, well said."

Whose Son Is the Messiah

40Indeed, no longer did any of them dare to question him. 41So he said in reference to them, "How do they maintain the Messiah to be the son of David? 42For David himself says in the scroll of the Psalms,

'Yahweh said to my Lord:
'Sit at my right hand
'until such time I make your enemies
a footstool for your feet.'"

44So, David calls him Lord. How then is he his son?"

Jesus Denounces the Torah Scholars

45And with the entire crowd listening, he said to the disciples, 46"Beware of the Torah scholars, wanting to walk around in robes, and loving the greetings in the marketplaces, and chief seats in the synagogues, and places of honor at banquets; 47they devour the houses of widows, and for a front, make lengthy prayers. These will receive greater condemnation."

Chapter 21

The Widow's Offering

1And when he looked up, he saw rich people putting their gifts into the donation chest. 2Then he saw a penniless widow dropping there two lepta. 3and he said, "Truly I tell you, this poor widow has put in more than all the rest. 4For they all put in their gifts out of the extra they had, but she out of her lack put in all she had to live on."

Signs of the Times

5And as some of them were talking about the temple, how with such beautiful stones and gifts it was adorned, he said: 6"These things that you are looking at, days will come in which there will not be left a stone upon a stone that will not be thrown down." 7And they questioned him as follows, "Teacher, so when will these things be, and what sign will happen when they are all about to take place?" 8And he said, "See to it that you are not led astray. For many will come in my name, saying, 'I am He;' and, 'The Lord is near.' Do not go off after them. 9So when you hear of wars and unrest, do not be alarmed; for these things need to happen first, but the end does not come immediately."

191 20:42 Εἶπεν κύριος τῷ κυρίῳ, "The LORD said to my Lord," from the Hebrew נְאֻם יְהוָֹהֹ לָאדֹנִֹֹֻי - נְאֻֻ֤ם יְהֹוָָ֨הֹ לָאדֹנִִ֨י of Psalm 110:1. In this verse, both the Tetragrammaton יהוה (YHVH) and Adonai are found, together. But one could hardly say, "Adonai said to Adonai." In an attempt to avoid this, the Masoretes inserted a paseq in between, one of these: |, to make them be in separate phrases, and thus the Masoretic text reads: נְאֻֻ֤ם יְהוָָ֨הֹ לָאדֹנִִ֨י.

But before all these things, they will lay their hands on you and will persecute you, handing you over to synagogues and prisons, being led all the way up to kings and governors for the sake of my name; 13 it will work out for you to be a testimony. 14 Put it in your hearts therefore, not to be practicing how to answer in defense; 15 for I will give you utterance and wisdom that none of those opposing you will be able to stand against or rebut.

But you will also be turned in by parents and siblings and relatives and friends, and they will put some of you to death. 17 And indeed you will be hated by everyone because of my name. 18 Yet not a hair of your head will perish: 19 by your enduring, you shall gain your lives.

For it will be a great calamity upon the land, 197 and wrath toward this people. 24 And they will fall by the edge of the sword, and be taken captive to all the nations; and Jerusalem will be trampled over by Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles are played out.

The UBS editorial committee says it is slightly more probable that the reading of Codex Sinaiicus and many other early witnesses, is the correct one, which have the verb κτήσασθαι - κτάσαι in the imperative mood. That would be a command to the disciples to preserve their lives.

The committee says it would be more likely that copyists would have changed this verb to conform it to the future tense of the rest of the verbs in the context, more likely than the other way around. Note that the other gospels have the same idea in the future indicative. In some languages the difference between the two readings would not be translatable. I note that in the UBS4 apparatus, the reading of the Syriac is not given. (Is there a translatable difference between “you will gain your lives” and “you shall gain your lives”? There is also discrepancy as to the reading of it.

195 21:20 The Greek word for "know" here, γνῶσθαι, is in the form of γνώσετε - γνώστε, which could be either imperative or subjunctive mood, since in this case the form would be identical. Imperative would be in English, "when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know - or then you should know," that her desolation is near." Subjunctive would be in English, "when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then you know - or would know - or will know, - or should know, that her desolation is near."

196 21:22 In the Greek, the word for "day" is anarthrous here, that is, without the article. You will see some translations saying "the days" or "the time," and others saying "days," or "a time." This question regarding the Greek definite article is one of the translation issues most revealing of the translators' doctrinal preconceptions. Here, for example, it can reveal whether you believe that the prophecies will have a double fulfillment, or only one fulfillment. That is, are these prophecies partially fulfilled in the time and deeds of Titus in 70 A.D., and more fully fulfilled in the tribulation? Or are they solely fulfilled during the time of Titus? Or solely or primarily fulfilled in the tribulation? And prior to the time of Titus, some of God's people no doubt believed that these prophecies had been fulfilled during the time and deeds of Antiochus Epiphanes, either partially or primarily. I have 24 English translations on hand, and they split down the middle; half say "the days" and half say "days" or equivalent. We must interpret this passage by the rest of scripture, and do it in reliance on the anointing of the Holy Spirit, which leads us into all truth. We also must use common sense in light of the context here. This passage, in light of v. 24, seems to be including the destruction of the temple in 70 A.D. Therefore, we must say in v. 22 about the Great Tribulation, that those are "days" of tribulation, not the only ones.

27"And then at that time they will see the Son of Man coming in a cloud, with power and great glory. 28So when these things are beginning to take place, stand yourselves tall and lift up your heads, because your redemption is drawing near."

29And he spoke a parable to them: "Consider the fig tree, indeed all the trees. 30When they are now putting forth leaves, you see for yourselves and know that summer is now near. 31So also you, when you see these things taking place, you know that the kingdom of God is near. 32Truly I tell you: this age will by no means pass away until this all has taken place. 33Sky and earth will pass away, but my words will certainly not pass away.

34"But watch yourselves, that your hearts not be held back by over-indulgence and drunkenness, and by ordinary concerns of this mortal life, and that day come upon you suddenly like a trap. For it will come upon everyone who lives on the face of the whole earth. 35So you must be watchful at all times, praying that you might manage to avoid all these things about to come to pass, and stand before the Son of Man."

37And he was spending the days teaching in the temple, and the nights he was going out and lodging on the hill called the Mount of Olives. 38And all the people would get up early to come to the temple and hear him.

Chapter 22

The Contract on Jesus

1And the Festival of Unleavened Bread, called Passover, was approaching. 2And the chief priests and the Torah scholars were still yet looking for a way to put him to death, because they were still yet fearing the people. 199

3Then Satan entered into Judas, the one called Ish Keriot, who was one of their number, of the Twelve. 4And he went away, and discussed with the chief priests and the commanders of the temple guard how he might hand him over to them. 5And they were delighted, and contracted to give him money. 6And he accepted, and was looking for the best time for handing him over to them, without the crowd.

The Passover Supper

7And the day of Unleavened Bread arrived in which it was customary to slaughter the Passover. 8And he sent Peter and John, saying, "Go, prepare the Passover for us so we can eat it."

9And they said to him, "Where do you want us to prepare it?"

10And he told them, "Behold, at the point of your arriving into the city a man carrying a water jar will encounter you. Follow him to whatever house he goes into. 11And say to 198 21:34 Or, "desensitized." The Greek word is βαρεό - barēō, which normally means "weighed down." But this is a metanymous meaning, as is the word for heart. The heart is not literally weighed down. The spiritual strength, alertness, sensitivity, sharpness, and passion might be lessened by the things mentioned.

199 22:2 This verse makes no sense unless you take into consideration the imperfect aspect of the Greek verbs for 'trying' and 'fearing.' Imperfect here means just that: incomplete and ongoing action. They had been trying to kill him already since Luke 19:47-48, and 20:19. The reason they still had not accomplished killing him, was because they were STILL YET fearing the people. So if someone tells you that the aspect (continuous vs. punctiliar) of N.T. Greek verbs is unimportant, don’t believe them, no matter how big a name they are. Those big names are the ones who came up with the nonsensical mainstream rendering, as follows: "And the chief priests and the scribes were seeking how to kill him, for they feared the people." This makes it sound like the reason they wanted to kill Jesus was that they were afraid of the people. But that is not the case. The exact opposite is true: their fear of the people was what was still preventing them killing Jesus. See Endnote #4, at the end of this document, which discusses this more fully.

200 22:7 Greek: θυεῖο - thûeîo. It could also be translated "to sacrifice," or, "to celebrate" the Passover. But the meaning "celebrate" only applied when the celebration included the slaughtering of something.
the owner of the house, 'The teacher says to you, "Where is the guest room where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?"' 12 And that person will show you a large upstairs room all furnished. You shall prepare it there."
13 So when they went, they found things just as he had told them; and they prepared the Passover.

14 And when the hour had come, he reclined, and the disciples along with him.
15 And he said to them, "It is with great longing and anticipation I have wanted to eat this Passover with you before my suffering.
16 For I tell you: I will certainly not eat it again until such time it has been fulfilled in the kingdom of God."

17 And after taking hold of the cup, he gave thanks, and said, "Take this, and share it among yourselves;
18 for I tell you: By no means will I drink of the fruit of the vine from this point on until such time the kingdom of God has come."

19 And after taking the bread and giving thanks, he broke it and gave it to them, saying, "This is my body, being given for you. This you should do as a commemoration of me."

20 And the cup after the meal in the same way, saying: "This cup is the new covenant in my blood, being poured out for you.

21 "But lo, the hand of the one betraying me is with mine on the table.
22 Therefore indeed the Son of Man is going out exactly as is planned. Even so, woe to that man through whom he is betrayed!"

23 And they began to debate with each other which of them therefore might be the one about to do this.

24 Then there also arose another dispute among them, as to which of them was considered to be greater.

25 And he said to them, "The kings of the nations lord it over them, and those exercising authority over them are called 'benefactors.'
26 But not so with you. Rather, the greatest among you should be like the youngest, and the leader as the one who serves.
27 For who is greater: the one reclining, or the one serving? Is it not the one reclining? Among you though, I am as the one serving.

28 "But you are the ones who have stuck with me through my trials;
29 and I am assigning to you a kingdom, just as my Father did to me,
30 such that you will eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and sit upon thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

Jesus Predicts the Disciples' Crisis of Faith

31 "Simon, Simon, behold, Satan has obtained permission to have you all, to sift you all like wheat.
32 But I have prayed for you, that your faith will not completely die. And you, when you have come back around, strengthen your brothers."

33 But he said to him, "Lord, I am prepared to go with you both to prison and to death."

34 But Jesus said, "I tell you, Peter: the rooster will not crow this day, until you have denied three times that you know me."

201 22:16 The word "again" is not in the Greek, but implied. Thus, later copyists apparently felt obliged to add the Greek word οὕτως - οὐκέτα, to both clarify the meaning, and also to harmonize Luke with Mark 14:25, and perhaps also with Matthew 26:29, which says, "from now on."

202 22:19 "This you should do" is referring to the Passover. From now on, they and we should do the Passover in commemoration of Jesus' death on our behalf. Both the unleavened bread and the Passover lamb or kid are His body figuratively. Note that Codex D has a much shorter reading of vss. 19-20, but it is alone in this, and is notoriously unreliable. So no serious consideration should be given it when it is all alone.

203 22:20 Or possibly, "with" the meal.

204 22:26 The youngest, as in Acts 5:6, customarily performed the menial tasks, and submitted to the elders.

205 22:30 τοῦ ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ μου.
206 22:31 The Greek does not say "all," but we need to put in some indicator in English that the Greek pronoun "you" is in the plural. Jesus was not saying this about Peter only, but about all of the apostles.
And he said to them, "When I sent you without purse, knapsack and sandals, did you lack anything?"
And they said, "Nothing."
Then he said, "But now, he who has a purse should bring it, or a knapsack likewise, and he who does not have a sword, should sell his cloak and buy one. For I tell you, this which is written has to be fulfilled in me:

'And he was considered one of the outlaws.'

Yes indeed, that about me is reaching fulfillment."
So they said, "Lord, look. There are two swords here."
And he said to them, "That is enough."

Gethsemane

And after going out, he proceeded as was his custom to the Mount of Olives; and his disciples followed him also. And coming upon the place he said to them, "Pray not to come into temptation." And he withdrew from them, about a stone's throw away. And having dropped his knees, he was praying, as follows: "Father, if you are willing, remove this cup from me. However, not my will, but yours be done." And an angel from heaven appeared to him, strengthening him. And being in agony, he was praying more earnestly; and his sweat became like drops of blood falling onto the ground.

And after rising from prayer and returning to the disciples, he found them sleeping, out of sorrow. And he said to them, "Why are you sleeping? Get up and pray, that you not go into temptation."

Jesus Arrested

While he was yet speaking, behold, a crowd, and the one called Judas, one of the Twelve, was leading them. And he came up to Jesus, and kissed him. But Jesus said to him, "Judas, with a kiss you betray the Son of Man?"
And seeing what was going to be happening, those around him said, "Lord, shall we strike with swords?"
And one of them struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear.
But in response Jesus said, "Let that be enough of that." And he touched his ear and healed him.
Then, toward those coming against him, the chief priests, temple officers and elders, Jesus said, "As though after a bandit, you have come out with swords and clubs? Every day with me being next to you in the temple you didn't lay your hands on me. But this is the hour for you, and the authority of darkness."

Peter's Denials

And after seizing him, they took him and led him into the house of the high priest; and Peter was following at a distance. And since people had lit a fire in the middle of the courtyard and were all sitting together, Peter was sitting among them. But a maidservant noticed him sitting toward the fire, and after studying him, she said, "This man also was with him."
But he denied it, saying, "I don't know him, woman."
And shortly thereafter, another person who saw him was saying, "You are also one of them."
And Peter was saying, "Man, I am not."

22:37 Isaiah 53:12
22:43-44 The words in these verses may be an extra-canonical tradition which got added to the gospel of Luke. They are absent in very early and geographically widespread manuscripts and witnesses. See Endnote #3 at the end of this document which discusses this.
22:47 The Greek literally says, "And he came up to him, to kiss him." But this is probably a Semitism, called "the infinitive of result."
59 And after about an hour had passed, someone else was affirming, saying, "Definitely, this man was also with him; he is also Galilean."

60 But Peter said, "Man, I do not know what you are talking about." And immediately as he was still speaking, a rooster crowed. 61 And the Lord turned and looked at Peter, and he remembered the statement of the Lord, how he had said to him, "Before the crowing of the rooster today, you will have denied me three times." 62 And he went off outside, and bitterly wept.

Before the Sanhedrin

63 And the men guarding Jesus were making fun of him as they beat him up. 64 After blindfolding him, they were asking him, "Prophesy, who is it that hit you?" 65 And they were saying many other insulting things against him.

66 And as the day broke, the elders of the people and the high priests and the Torah scholars were assembled, and they brought him over into their Sanhedrin, 67 saying, "Tell us whether you are the Christ."

And he said to them, "If I told you, you would certainly not believe, 68 and if I asked questions, you would certainly not answer. 69 Nevertheless, from now on, the Son of Man will be sitting at the right hand of the power of God."

70 So they all said, "You are the Son of God then?"

And he was saying to them, "You are saying that I am." 210

71 And they said, "What more need do we have for witnesses? For we ourselves have heard from his own mouth."

Chapter 23

Jesus Before Pilate and Herod

1 And the whole assembly of them got up, and they took him before Pilate. 2 And they began to accuse him, as follows. "We found this man misleading our nation and forbidding to give tribute to Caesar, and claiming to be a king himself, the Christ."

3 So Pilate examined him, saying, "Are you the king of the Jews?"

And he in answer to him was saying, "You are the one saying that." 211

4 And Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowds, "I find no causa capitalis in this man." 212

5 But they were getting more insistent, saying, "He incites the people, teaching throughout the entire land of the Jews, starting from Galilee and all the way to here."

210 22:70 "You are saying that I am" is literally what the Greek says, and this expression comes from the Semitic word " 'amarta." It is neither a yes nor a no. This was a Jewish idiom, and you can find some Rabbinic examples where it was understood as a Yes, and some where it would obviously NOT be understood as a yes. Therefore, we have to conclude that it is not a yes of any kind. At the same time, it is not a denial. Which sometimes some people might take as a yes. But as for translation, it should be translated literally, and left at that. No helper words should be added that might imply an affirmative answer. See the endnote on this topic at the end of my translation of Mark’s gospel. The Sanhedrin would not be satisfied with anything less than a vehement denial from Jesus. Thus the Sanhedrin's reaction, of needing no more witnesses or evidence. But even what Jesus had already said here earlier, in 22:69, that Jesus would be seated at the right hand of God, that would be offense enough. What is different about Luke here, is that he uses ἔφη, the imperfect form of φημί here, which I translated "kept saying." Luke does not use the continuous aspect indiscriminately or insignificantly.

211 23:3 The Greek says literally, "You are saying." See footnote on 22:70, and on Mark 15:3. It is not a "yes" answer.

212 23:4 That is, basis for capital punishment. It was understood that the only reason the Jewish authorities would bring a criminal to Pilate, was for adjudication of the death penalty and execution. The Jewish authorities otherwise were allowed to execute judgment with their own courts and laws, short of execution; see John 18:31.
6And when Pilate heard this, he asked, "Is the man a Galilean?" 7And when he had confirmed that he is in fact from Herod’s jurisdiction, he referred him to Herod, who was in Jerusalem too for those days.

8Now Herod was very glad when he saw Jesus. He had been wanting for quite some time to meet him, because of hearing about him, and he hoped to see something miraculous happening through him. 9So he was plying him with a considerable amount of questions; but Jesus never gave any response at all. 10And the chief priests and the Torah scholars were standing there throughout, vehemently accusing him.

11Then Herod, together with his soldiers, after treating him with contempt and mocking him by draping a splendid robe around him, sent him back to Pilate. 12Which caused Herod and Pilate to become friends with each other that same day (for they had previously always been hostile toward each other).

13And Pilate summoned the high priest, together with the rulers and the people, 14and he said to them, "You have brought this man up to me as someone inciting the people to treason, and here now is my finding after trying him in your presence. I have found in this man no basis for the charges you are bringing against him. 15And neither has Herod, for he has sent him back to us. So you see, nothing being done by him is worthy of death. 16Therefore, having scourged him, I will release him." [17Now he was obligated by custom according to the festival to release one person to them.] 18But they all together shouted back, saying, "Away with this man! Release to us Barabbas!" 19(He was someone who had been thrown in prison because of a certain uprising and murder that took place in the city.)

20But Pilate, wanting to release Jesus, called out to them again. 21But they cried out, saying, "Crucify him, crucify him!"

22But a third time, he said to them, "Why? What crime has this man committed? Having scourged him therefore, I will release him."

23But with loud shouts the crowd kept urgently demanding that he be crucified. And their shouts prevailed, 24and Pilate decided to grant their request. 25And he released the man who had been thrown into prison for insurrection and murder, the one whom they had asked for, and Jesus he handed over to their will.

The Crucifixion

26And as they led him away, they seized a Cyrenian who was returning from the country, and they placed the cross on him, to carry it behind Jesus.

27And a great multitude of the people were following him, and women who were mourning and lamenting him.

28But Jesus turned to them, and he said, "Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for me, but weep for yourselves, and for your children. 29For behold, days are coming in which they will say, 'Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that never bore, and the breasts that never nursed.' 30At that time they will begin to say to the mountains, 'Fall on us,' and to the hills, 'Cover us.' 31For if they do these things when the wood is green, what will happen when it is dry?"
Now two others, criminals, were also being taken with him to be executed. And when they came to the place called The Skull, there they crucified him, along with the criminals, one on his right and one on his left. And Jesus said, "Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing." And they cast lots, for dividing out his clothing.

And the people stood there, watching. And the rulers were sneering at him, saying, "He saved others; he should save himself, if this is the one chosen the Christ of God." And the soldiers, when they were approaching bringing him vinegar, also made fun of him. They also were saying, "If you are the king of the Jews, save yourself."

Now there was also a notice inscribed above him: "THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS."

And one of the criminals hung there was deriding him, saying, "If you really are the Christ, save yourself and us."

But in response the other one was rebuking him, saying, "Don't you fear God at all, considering that you yourself are in this same judgement? And we indeed justly; for we have gotten back what was fitting to how we have lived. But this man, he has done nothing wrong."

And then he was saying, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom."

And he said to him, "I tell you the truth, today you will be with me in Paradise."

Jesus’ Death

And it was now about noon, and darkness came across the whole land until 3:00 p.m., for the sun was darkened.

*times, what will they do in bad times?" Perhaps this is a proverb current at that time, but no one knows for sure.

The Greek syntax here may be more properly translated, "Now two other criminals were also being taken with him to be executed." Later Greek manuscripts were possibly modified to take away this possibility. But Jesus had predicted in Luke 22:37 that he would be considered one of the outlaws.

The Greek syntax here may be more properly translated, "Now two other criminals were also being taken with him to be executed." Later Greek manuscripts were possibly modified to take away this possibility. But Jesus had predicted in Luke 22:37 that he would be considered one of the outlaws.

And it was now about noon, and darkness came across the whole land until 3:00 p.m., for the sun was darkened.
And the curtain of the temple was torn in two. 46 And crying out with a loud voice, Jesus said, "Father, into your hands I commit my spirit." And after he had said this, he expired.

47 Now the centurion when he saw what had happened, was giving glory to God, by saying, "This really must have been a righteous man."

48 And all the crowds who had gathered around for this spectacle, when they observed what took place, they were turning away, beating their breasts. 49 But all those who knew him, including the women222 who had followed with him from Galilee, stood off at a distance throughout, watching these things.

Jesus' Burial

50 And behold, there was a council member named Joseph, who was a good and righteous man 51 (he was not going along with their decision and actions), from Arimathea, a city in Judea, who was looking forward to the kingdom of God. 52 This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. 53 And when he had taken it down he wrapped it in linen, and laid it in a hewn-out tomb, which no one was lying in yet. 54 And it was the day of Preparation, and the Sabbath was coming on.

55 Now some women had followed close behind, which were the ones who had come with him from Galilee; they observed the tomb, and how his body was interred.

Chapter 24

The Resurrection

1 But at the crack of dawn on the first day of the week, they went to the tomb, carrying the spices they had prepared. 2 But they found the stone had been rolled away from the tomb.

Jesus Appears to the Women

3 And when they went inside, they did not find the body of the Lord Jesus. 4 And it happened that as they stood hesitating about this, behold, two men appeared to them, in gleaming robes.

5 And when terror came over them, such that they had bowed their faces down to the ground, the men said to them, "Why are you looking for the living among the dead? 6 He is not here, but is risen! Recall how he spoke to you while still in Galilee, 7 saying that the Son of Man must be transferred into the hands of sinful mortals, and be crucified, and on the third day rise again."

8 And they did recall his statements. 9 And when they returned from the tomb, they related all these things to the Eleven and to all the rest.

10 Now it was the Magdalene Mary, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and the others with them who were telling these things to the apostles; 11 and these statements appeared to them as nonsense, and they did not believe them.

12 But Peter got up and ran to the tomb, and after stooping down, he sees only the linen bandages. And he went away, wondering to himself what had happened.

On the Road to Emmaus

13 And behold, that same day, two of them were on their way to a village named Emmaus, which was seven miles223 from Jerusalem. 14 And these two were conversing with each other about the outcome of all these things.

---

222 23:49 Tatian’s Diatessaron: “the wives of those who had followed with him.” In Syriac the difference between “women” and “wives” was the letter dalath. With it meant “wives.”

223 24:13 Greek: sixty stadia, or about 11 kilometers.
And it came about, that they are in conversation, and Jesus himself has come up, walking along with them. Their eyes, however, were being restrained, so as not to recognize him.

And he said to them, "What is this discussion you are having with each other as you walk along?" And they came to a stop, looking dismal.

And in response, the one named Cleopas said to him, "Are you just visiting Jerusalem, and unaware of the things happening in her during these days?"

And he said to them, "What things?"

And they said to him, "The things concerning Jesus the Nazarene, who was a prophet powerful in deed and in word, in the eyes of both God and all the people; how the chief priests and our rulers handed him over for the sentence of death, and how they crucified him. And here we had been hoping he was the one who was going to redeem Israel. And what is more, he is already spending his third day in the grave since when these things took place.

And not only that, now some of our women have confounded us. They were at the tomb early this morning, and not finding his body, they came back, claiming also to have seen a vision of angels, which were maintaining that he was alive. So some of our number went to the tomb, and found it just as the women had said; but him they did not see."

And he said to them, "O you thick headed, and slow of heart to believe on all the things the prophets have spoken! Were not these things required for the Christ to suffer in order to go on into his glory?"

And beginning with Moses, and through all the prophets, he interpreted for them the things in all the writings that were about himself. And they came near to the village to which they were going, and he pretended to go on farther. And they urged him insistently, saying, "Lodge with us, because it is near evening, and the daylight is almost gone." And he went inside, to lodge with them.

And it came about that as he reclined with them, he took bread, gave thanks and broke it, and was distributing it to them. Then their eyes were opened, and they recognized him. And he disappeared from them.

And they said to each other, "Weren't our hearts burning within us as he talked to us on the road, as he explained the scriptures to us?"

And when he had said this, he showed them his hands and his feet.

36 And while they were speaking these things, he stood in the midst of them, and he is saying to them, "Peace be with you."

But alarmed they were, and terrified, thinking they were seeing a ghost. And he said to them, "Why are you troubled? And for what reason are doubts arising in your hearts? Behold my hands and my feet, that I am me. Touch me, and know, because a ghost does not have flesh and bones as you see me having." And when he had said this, he showed them his hands and his feet.

24:18 Or possibly, "Are you the only one living near Jerusalem who is unaware of the things happening..." But this is less likely, because in the Greek, the word for "living," παροικέω - paroikeō, is in the present indicative, not a participle, neither a noun. It seems to be a transitive verb expecting an object. Such as "visiting Jerusalem," or "living IN Jerusalem." And the phrase "who is not aware" would be a stretch. Moreover, the Greek does not say "in Jerusalem," but rather just "Jerusalem." The word παροικέω - paroikeō generally meant "living as a stranger, a pilgrim, living as a visitor," and only rarely meant just "live or inhabit next to" without the connotation of being an alien or stranger.

24:21 DeBrunner says in §129 that rather than the impersonal "it is the third day," that this phrase τρίτην ταύτην ἡμέραν ἠγέρει ὁ θάνατος ἔγενετο means "he is already spending the third day" [in the tomb]. Bauer agrees with this as well. The Greek does not supply a subject here, but some third person singular subject is implied, and the verb ἀγέρει in phrases about time, means "spend."
But, since they were still not believing, out of joy and astonishment, he said to them, "What do you have to eat in this place?" So they handed him a piece of broiled fish. And he took it, and ate it in front of them.

The Ascension

And he said to them, "These are the words which I spoke to you while I was still with you, how all the things written about me in the law of Moses and the prophets and the psalms must be fulfilled." Then at that time he opened their minds to understand the scriptures.

And he said to them, "This is what is written: the Christ was to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day, and that repentance and forgiveness of sins is to be preached in his name to all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem. You are witnesses of these things. And I am sending my Father's promise down upon you. So you are to stay put in the city until such time you are endued with power from on high."

Then he led them outside, as far as Bethany. And after lifting up his hands, he blessed them. And it came about that as he was blessing them, he parted from them, and was taken up into heaven.

And they, after worshiping him, returned back to Jerusalem with great rejoicing. And throughout those days they were continually at the temple, praising God.

It should be noted that though Matthew states in 1:17 that there are three sets of 14 generations, there are only 13 generations in his 3rd set. He also left out two generations from the second set which would have made that set 16 generations. After Josiah came Jehoiakim and Jehoiachin, according to 2 Kings 23:34 – 24:6. Thus it seems Matthew made these sets for some purpose such as to be a memorization aid or teaching aid.

Following is taken from an article on the Internet: http://www.carm.org/diff/2geneologies.htm

Both Matthew 1 and Luke 3 contain genealogies of Jesus. But there is one problem. They are different. Luke's Genealogy starts at Adam and goes to David. Matthew's Genealogy starts at Abraham and goes to David. When the genealogies arrive at David, they split with David's sons: Nathan (Mary's side) and Solomon (Joseph's side).

There is no discrepancy because one genealogy is for Mary and the other is for Joseph. It was customary to mention the genealogy through the father even though it was clearly known that it was through Mary.

First, realize that the Bible should be interpreted in the context of its literary style, culture, and history. Breaking up genealogies into male and female representations was acceptable in the ancient Near East culture since it was often impolite to speak of women without proper conditions being met: male presence, etc. One genealogy is of Mary and the other of Joseph, even though both mention Joseph. In other words, the Mary was counted "in" Joseph and under his headship.

Second, do any critics actually think that those who collected the books of the New Testament, and who believed it was inerrant, were unaware of this blatant differentiation in genealogies? Does anyone actually think that the Christians were so dense that they were unaware of the differences in the genealogy lists, closed their eyes and put the gospels into the canon anyway hoping no one would notice? Not at all. They knew the cultural context and had no problem with it knowing that one was of Joseph and the other of Mary.

Third, notice that Luke starts with Mary and goes backwards to Adam. Matthew starts with Abraham and goes forward to Joseph. The intents of the genealogies were different which is seen in their styles. Luke was not written to the Jews, Matthew was. Therefore,
Matthew would carry the legal line (from Abraham through David) and Luke the biological one (from Adam through David). Also, notice that Luke's first three chapters mention Mary eleven times; hence, the genealogy from her. Fourth, notice Luke 3:23, "And when He began His ministry, Jesus Himself was about thirty years of age, being supposedly the son of Joseph, the son of Eli." This designation "supposedly" seems to signify the Marian genealogy since it seems to indicate that Jesus is not the biological son of Joseph.

Finally, in the Joseph genealogy there is a man named Jeconiah. God cursed Jeconiah (also called Coniah), stating that no descendant of his would ever sit on the throne of David, "For no man of his descendants will prosper sitting on the throne of David or ruling again in Judah," (Jer. 22:30). But Jesus, of course, will sit on the throne in the heavenly kingdom. The point is that Jesus is not a biological descendant of Jeconiah, but through the other lineage -- that of Mary. Hence, the prophetic curse upon Jeconiah stands inviolate. But, the legal adoption of Jesus by Joseph reckoned the legal rights of Joseph to Jesus as a son, not the biological curse. This is why we need two genealogies: one of Mary (the actually biological line according to prophecy), and the legal line through Joseph.

Again, the early church knew this and had no problem with it. It is only the critics of today who narrow their vision and require this to be a "contradiction" when in reality we have an explanation that is more than sufficient.

Endnote #2

Did Jesus send out seventy, or seventy-two? (ἕβδομήκοντα or ἑβδομήκοντα δύο;?)

Luke 10:1, 17; Diatessaron 18:10, 15

There are witnesses both ample and ancient to both readings, though somewhat favoring "seventy-two." Both the Nestle-Aland 26th Edition and the UBS 4th Edition of the Greek text put the δύο, the "two," in square brackets, and the UBS editorial committee gives it a [C] rating of certainty. This means that they decided on "72," but had difficulty in deciding to do so, and therefore placed the δύο in brackets to indicate the great degree of doubt that it has a right to be there.

Since the manuscript consideration is almost a stand-off, interpreters then discuss what stronger or more likely numerological symbolism there is for one reading over the other. Discussion invariably leads to Genesis chapter 11, where God broke up the single world language into many nations. There, one can count seventy nations in the Hebrew text. Yet, in the Septuagint, the Greek translation of the Hebrew scriptures made by Jewish translators in Egypt before the time of Christ, one can count seventy-two nations. If it were only Alexandrian witnesses which read "72" in Luke 10:1, an argument might be made that they were overly influenced by the Septuagint, which was also produced in Alexandria. But this is not the case, since the chief representatives of both the Alexandrian, as well as the Western groups of Greek manuscripts, read "72," along with most of the Old Latin and the Sinaic Syriac. And on the other hand, Codex Sinaiticus, one of the primary Alexandrian manuscripts, reads "70."

The implication some interpreters see, is that by appointing 70, Jesus drew on the Jewish tradition of there being 70 nations in the world, to show that his message was intended for everyone in the whole world. And that that was intended to be in contrast to when he sent the Twelve out earlier, and forbade them to go into any Samaritan village; whereas here in the case of the 70 / 72, there is no such prohibition. Paul says, "the gospel is to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile." (Romans 1:16) The Lord himself said in John 10:16, "Other sheep I also have, which are not of this fold; those also I am to bring, and my voice they will hear, and the result will be one flock, one shepherd."

Regarding the above-mentioned decision by the Editorial Committee of the United Bible Societies' Greek New Testament to include the "-two" in square brackets, one of the members of the committee disagreed with that decision, for he regarded "72" as undoubtedly the original reading. That member was the late Kurt Aland. His written dissent, as published in the book, A Textual Commentary on the Greek New Testament, Metzger, Bruce M., on behalf of and in cooperation with the Editorial Committee of the United Bible Societies' Greek New Testament: Kurt Aland, Matthew Black, Carlo M. Martini, Bruce M. Metzger, and Allen Wikgren (Stuttgart, United Bible Societies, Corrected Edition, 1975), is worthy of being printed below, as follows.

The concept of "70" is an established entity in the Septuagint and in Christian tradition. The number of examples of "70" in the Old Testament is overwhelming: there are always 70 souls in the house of Jacob, 70 elders, sons, priests, and 70 years that are mentioned in chronological references to important events. The number 72 appears only once, where, amid many other numbers, 72 cattle are set aside for a sacrificial offering (Num 31:38). If 72 occurs in the Letter of Aristeas (as the number of translators of the Septuagint) as well as in III Enoch, these sporadic instances are not to be compared in significance with the tradition involving 70.

Consequently it is astonishing that the reading ἑβδομήκοντα δύο appears at all in [Luke] 10:1 and 17, and that it has such strong support. A reading that in the Gospels has in its support Ψ B D, the Old Syriac, the Old Latin, etc., etc., is ordinarily regarded at once as the original reading. If in addition the opposing reading lies under the suspicion of ecclesiastical "normalizing," the testimony becomes irrefutable. The opposing witnesses represent entirely an ecclesiastical normalizing. That they are in the majority is altogether understandable; if they are ancient, this only proves how early the normalizing process began to operate. For these reasons ἑβδομήκοντα δύο should be printed without square brackets. K.A.

In other words, why would some copyists change the number away from the symbolically significant "seventy" to a symbolically insignificant "seventy-two"? It is more likely that the copyists who did the changing of the originals were the ones who changed it to "seventy" in order to make it line up with the strong tradition of 70 in the Bible and Jewish tradition. (This latter is part of what Kurt Aland calls "normalizing." There are many instances in the Greek New Testament where the original reading is very obscure, or is poor grammar, or is a very unpopular teaching. Later copyists tended to smooth over these passages, or "normalize" them.)

There may be no symbolism at all involved in the number "seventy-two." Unless there is significance that it is divisible by twelve. Six times.

Well then, since the messengers were sent out two by two, let's examine how each number is divisible by two. If Jesus sent out seventy, that means there were 35 pairs of them. If Jesus sent out seventy-two, that means there were 36 pairs of them.

There may be no symbolism at all in what number of emissaries Jesus sent out. Yes, it is possible that he did intend some symbolism. But we should beware lest we change original holy writ just because we want a symbolism in it. It is possible Jesus did not intend any symbolism.

I also wonder how the proximity of the other questionable δύο in 10:1 affected the copyists. See Luke 10:1 written out below in both Greek and English.

Μετὰ δὲ ταύτα
And after these things, ἀνεδείξειν ὁ κύριος καὶ ἐτέρους ἑβδομήκοντα [δύο]
the Lord appointed another seventy-two, καὶ ἀπέστειλεν αὐτοὺς ἀνὰ δύο δύο [δύο] and sent them two by two πρὸ προσώπου αὐτοῦ
before his face,
eἰς πᾶσαν πόλιν καὶ τόπον οὗ ἤμελλεν αὐτὸς ἔρχεσθαι into every town and place where he himself was about to go.

(FYI: in the third line of the verse above, in N.T. Greek one could say "two by two" either as ἀνὰ δύο without the second δύο, or one could say "two by two" as just δύο δύο, without the ἀνὰ. But the latter, called "distributive doubling," is either a Semitic idiom or a Greek vulgarism not expected of the educated and more literate Luke. As for the mixed expression, ἀνὰ δύο δύο it is found only later, in Mediaeval Greek.)

Here is a breakdown of some English translations I have checked. Those reading "70" are: Tyndale, KJV, NKJV, ASV, RSV, NRSV, NASB, CBW, JNT, ISV, HCSB, WEB, GW, Phillips, Recovery, Darby, Weymouth, Recovery, The Message. Those reading "72" are: JB, NIV, TNIV, REB, NLT, NCV, CEV, NET, ESV; and the NAB reads "seventy[-two], and says "seventy-two" in the section heading.

Their presence in many manuscripts, some ancient, as well as their citation by Justin, Irenaeus, Hippolytus, Eusebius and many other Fathers, is proof of the antiquity of the account. On grounds of transcriptional probability it is less likely that the verses were deleted in several different areas of the church by those who felt that the account of Jesus overwhelmed with human weakness was incompatible with his sharing the divine omnipotence of the Father, than that they were added from an early source, oral or written, of extra-canonical traditions concerning the life and passion of Jesus. Nevertheless, while acknowledging that the passage is a later addition to the text, in view of its evident antiquity and its importance in the textual tradition, a majority of the Committee decided to retain the words in the text but to enclose them within double square brackets.

In the 5th edition of their Greek New Testament, the committee gives the absence of these verses in the original text an A rating of certainty.

Is the saying, "Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing," original scripture?

Luke 23:34

The saying attributed to Jesus while on the cross, "Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing" is not found in most of the earliest (pre-5th century) Greek manuscripts. Neither is it found in the earliest translations of Luke’s gospel into other languages.

"The absence of these words from such early and diverse witnesses as ψ66 B D* W Θ ἵτα, δ syr* copabοmss is most impressive and can scarcely be explained as a deliberate excision by copyists who, considering the fall of Jerusalem to be proof that God had not forgiven the Jews, could not allow it to appear that the prayer of Jesus had remained unanswered. At the same time, the logion, though probably not a part of the original Gospel of Luke, bears self-evident tokens of its dominical origin, and was retained, within double square brackets, in its traditional place where it had been incorporated by unknown copyists relatively early in the transmission of the Third Gospel.

When I pondered what reasons could have possibly prompted copyists to add this passage to the gospel, it occurred to me that elements in the early church might not have wanted the Lord himself to be outshined by Stephen. For Stephen in Acts 7:60 said something similar. Yet Jesus himself predicted in John 14:12, "The person who believes in me, truly, truly I say to you, the works that I do, that one also shall do, and even greater than these shall do, because I am going to the Father." (DRP) On the other hand, Stephen may have done what he did because he was following Christ’s known example.

The Linear Kind of Action in the Gospel of Luke

The primary semantic content of a New Testament Greek verb, other than its lexical definition, was its "kind of action." Of these, there were three primary categories: the punctiliar aspect, the linear aspect, and the combined aspect. See Sections 318 through 356, in the book entitled, "A Greek Grammar of the New Testament and Other Early Christian Literature," by Blass and DeBrunner, and translated and edited by Funk, the University of Chicago Press, Chicago and London (1961).

Luke used the linear aspect much more discriminately than did Mark for example. Because of this, we should pay that much more attention to the linear aspect in Luke, and in fact, this makes all the difference for a proper understanding of several passages, some of which are shown and discussed below.

Luke 1:34 εἶπεν δὲ Μαριὰμ πρὸς τὸν ἄγγελον· Πῶς ἔσται τοῦτο, ἐπεὶ ἄνδρα οὐ γνώσκω;
34And Mary said to the angel, "How will this happen, since I am not knowing a man?"

Mary asks how she could have a baby nine months from then, since she was not having sex with a man at the time, nor in the near future.

Luke 5:33 Οἱ δὲ εἶπαν πρὸς αὐτόν· Οἱ μαθηταὶ Ἰωάννου νηστεύουσιν πυκνὰ καὶ δεήσεις ποιοῦνται, ὁμοίως καὶ οἱ τῶν Φαρισαίων, οἱ δὲ σοὶ ἐσθίουσιν καὶ πίνουσιν.
33They then said to him, "The disciples of John are often fasting and making prayers, and likewise those of the Pharisees, but yours go on eating and drinking."

Luke 6:46 Τί δέ με καλεῖτε· Κύριε κύριε, καὶ οὐ ποιεῖτε ἅ λέγω; 46And why do you keep calling me 'Lord, Lord,' and yet not do the things which I say?

Luke 11:9 Κάγω ὑμῖν λέγω, αἰτεῖτε, καὶ δοθήσεται ὑμῖν· ζητεῖτε, καὶ εὑρήσετε· κρούετε, καὶ ἀνοιγήσεται ὑμῖν·
9So I say to you: ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you.

For everyone who keeps asking, receives; and the person who keeps seeking, finds; and to the one who keeps on knocking, it will be opened.

The moral of that story is the virtue of brash persistence.

Luke 16:21 καὶ ἐπιθυμῶν χορτασθῆναι ἀπὸ τῶν πιπτόντων ἀπὸ τῆς τραπέζης τοῦ πλουσίου· ἀλλὰ καὶ οἱ κύνες ἐρχόμενοι ἐπέλειχον τὰ ἐλκὴ αὐτοῦ.

21 and he kept longing in vain to eat the scraps dropping from the table of that rich man. In contrast, even the dogs at least would come and lick his sores.

In this passage, the contrast Jesus is making between the rich man and the dogs, would be lost, unless our translations show the linear aspect. The point is that the beggar kept on longing to eat what was falling from the rich man’s table, but never did. His longing never ceased, or ended. The imperfect was not named that for no reason; imperfect means ongoing, uncompleted action in the past. In contrast, the dogs would at least come and lick his sores.

Luke 18:3 χήρα δὲ ἦν ἐν τῇ πόλει ἐκείνῃ καὶ ἠρχετο πρὸς αὐτὸν λέγουσα· Ἐκδίκησόν με ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀντιδίκου μου.

3 But there was a widow in that city, and she kept on coming to him, saying, ‘Give me redress from my adversary.’

The linear aspect, the continuousness of the widow’s coming, is the whole moral of the story. There are not Greek words in the Greek text specifically meaning “kept on” coming. That "kept on" aspect is indicated by the markers affixed to the verb stem, that is, the inflection.

Luke 18:7 ὁ δὲ θεὸς οὐ μὴ ποιήσῃ τὴν ἔκδίκησιν τῶν ἐκλεκτῶν αὐτοῦ τῶν βοώντων αὐτῶ ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτός, καὶ μακροθυμεῖ ἐπ’ αὐτοῖς;

7 So God, would he not bring about the avenging of his elect, who keep crying out to him day and night? And is he slow to respond to them?

Again, as in the previous example, the moral of the parable of the persistent widow, is to come "continually" and "persistently" and "habitually" with the same request, until you get it.

2 and the chief priests and the Torah scholars were still yet looking for a way to put him to death, because they were still yet fearing the people.

This is the passage most dependent on the linear aspect. The passage does not make much sense without it. First, observe how various translations have rendered it. I have put them in groups according to how they rendered the Greek causal coordinating conjunction γὰρ.

KJV And the chief priests and scribes sought how they might kill him; for they feared the people.
ASV And the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might put him to death; for they feared the people.
Darby and the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might kill him; for they feared the people. and the chief priests and the scribes were seeking how they may take him up, for they were afraid of the people.

The chief priests and the scribes sought how they might put him to death, for they feared the people.

So the high priests and the scribes continued to seek how they might put Him to death, for they were afraid of the people.

Now as the feast of unleavened bread, called the Passover, was approaching, fear of the people made the chief priests and scribes try desperately to find a way of getting rid of Jesus.

And the chief priests and the teachers of the law were looking for some way to get rid of Jesus, for they were afraid of the people.

and the chief priests and the scribes were looking for some way of doing away with him, because they mistrusted the people.

And the chief priests and the scribes were seeking how to put him to death; for they feared the people.

The chief priests and the scribes were looking for a way to put Him to death, because they were afraid of the people.

and the high Priests and Scribes sought how to kill him, but they feared the people.

and the High Priests and the Scribes were contriving how to destroy Him. But they feared the people.

The high priests and religion scholars were looking for a way to do away with Jesus but, fearful of the people, they were also looking for a way to cover their tracks.

And the chief priests and the scribes were looking for a chance to put him to death, but they went in fear of the people.

The leading priests and teachers of religious law were actively plotting Jesus' murder. But they wanted to kill him without starting a riot, a possibility they greatly feared.
The chief priests and the scribes were looking for some way to kill Jesus. However, they were afraid of the people.

I have found no grammatical or lexical authority for a purely adversative meaning of γαρ. The closest thing to an adversative use is said to be one passage in Matthew where γαρ is used in combination with other conjunctions; but here in this Luke passage it is used by itself. The Matthew passage:

Matt 15:27

ἡ δὲ εἶπεν, Ναί, κύριε, καὶ γὰρ τὰ κυνάρια ἔσθιεί ἀπὸ τῶν ψιχίων τῶν πιπτόντων ἀπὸ τῆς τραπέζης τῶν κυρίων αὐτῶν.

27But she said, "True, Lord; yet the dogs certainly eat of the crumbs falling from their master's table."

But if there is any adversative meaning here at all, it would be contained in the conjunction καὶ, not in γαρ.

Perhaps The Message and the New Living Translation see an ellipsis implied in the Luke passage. Perhaps that is why they supply so many English words that are not indicated in the Greek. I don't see an ellipsis.

I note that none of the above translations except the BBE conveys the imperfect aspect of the Greek verb for "fearing." that is, the leaders were still fearing the people; their fear was "imperfect," that is, ongoing.
