Footnote Apparatus

I have tried to list all major Greek textual variants, and many of the minor ones. Variants that are not translatable into English are usually marked within the Greek text, and those that can affect the English rendering, marked in the English text. If this document is an edition without the Greek text alternating verse by verse with the English, then that explains why you might find a footnote referenced to "19:3c" but there are no footnotes for 19:3b or a. Those other two footnotes may be found in an edition that has the Greek text included.

The footnotes about Greek textual variants are in the following format. Here is a fictional footnote for an example.

19:15a txt {A} "of iron" A 046 209 2344 32800 0226 205 1854 2329 itarr vgww syrh copsa Cyprian Irenaeus TR NA28 {()} // "two-edged" N P 1006 1841 1854 2030 2329 itarr vgcl syrh copbarm eth Ambrose Primasius RP.

The 19:15a means it is a footnote about chapter 19 v. 15, and the "a" implies that there is at least one other footnote about the verse. The letters "txt" mean that the text of my English translation follows the first (next) reading given. Next comes my rating of my certainty for this variant, as a capital letter in curly brackets.. Not all variants have one, since I am still developing my opinions thereon.

After that come a literal translation of the word(s) upon which my translation is based.

Next comes the listing of Greek manuscripts, first for the reading I translated, then any other variants, separated by "//". (Regarding the Greek manuscripts, their description, date, and genealogy, etc., see the table at the end of the document.) Uncials (mss. whose text is written in all capital letters) are listed first (those designated by a capital Hebrew, Latin or Greek letter, or a number starting with a zero), then minuscules (those designated by a number not starting with a zero), then early versions into other languages; first the italic, then vulgate editions, then Syriac, then Coptic, then others less important such as Armenian and Ethiopic. After that come early church fathers, if any.

Lastly, I list which ones out of six Greek New Testament editions follow that reading. They are listed in the following sequence as well. The letters TR stand for the 1550 Stephanus Textus Receptus; RP means the Robinson-Pierpont 2017 edition; NA28 means the Nestle-Aland 28th edition, and lastly, the curly brackets {B} contain the rating of certainty given in the UBS5, the United Bible Societies' 5th Edition. When there is a left slash in the brackets like this, {\}, that means that the UBS4 has neither footnote nor rating on that variant.

There are over 300 Greek handwritten manuscripts containing Revelation or a portion thereof. Not all of them are significant or important as pertaining to textual criticism, to grossly underrate the matter. H. C. Hoskier, in the introduction to his apparatus in Concerning the Text of the Apocalypse, Volume 2, on p. 7 states, "There are two streams of the text of the Apocalypse, one Ecclesiastical and one extra-Ecclesiastical, which only join far back and high amongst the hills near the primal fount.” Though I don't necessarily subscribe to that nomenclature, I, after for a while listing the readings of all 300-plus manuscripts, realized that doing so was little more informative than listing only those from approximately the 9th century and earlier.

Hoskier has well pointed out how the uncials of the Revelation text are all over the place, with many omissions and additions. The wildest of them all in Revelation is Sinaiticus. The only uncial that is not “all over the place,” but which seems to represent a standardized majority text, is the uncial 046 (called B in his work). Hoskier on p. xxvii of Volume One of "Concerning the Text of the Apocalypse," calls this the "B revision, which was made in the VIIth century.” On p. xxxvi he calls it the "B recension.” He goes on to say, "roughly speaking, B and cursive groups may be neglected if opposed by a consensus of the older uncials, Versions and Fathers. If on the other hand B is joined Aleph, A or C, the greater weight can only be overborne by other subsidiary evidence, and if B have the support of Aleph A or C A together, we must grant the group a full hearing.” In the same paragraph, he declares that Erasmus and Stephen relied on just a few MSS that were faulty in certain particulars. And that we should restore from Tischendorf, Tregelles and Wescott and Hort readings taken away from the TR solely on the basis of one uncial like Aleph or A. With this all I agree.

I have in August 2015 adopted the sigla conventions of the NA28 for the correctors of Codex Sinaiticus in Revelation, and updated my apparatus accordingly:

\(\aleph\)° 4th century
\(\aleph\)¹ 4th – 6th century (only one occurrence- in 21:4
\(\aleph\)² 7th century
\(\aleph\)²a 7th century
\(\aleph\)²b 7th century
\(\aleph\)c 12th century

Hoskier declared that the uncial 046 is a highly edited and smoothed-over text. Therefore, when 046 departs from MOST other uncials, its reading is highly dubious. When 046 differs from ALL other uncials, its reading is surely false. This fact gives greater value to any minuscules that do not always follow 046, and diminishes the value of those that do. Minuscules that depart are 911 922 1006 1611 1678 1778 1828 1841 2020 2050 2053 2062 2065 2080 2329 2344 2351, and many of these are also quite early for Apocalypse minuscules. Consequently, these have greater value than other minuscules Minuscules that slavishly follow 046, which are 82, 627, 920, 2138. When these minuscules are not in unity, you will find a difference usually between the Hodges/Farstad majority text vs. the Robinson/Pierpont majority text. In many of these instances, the Robinson text has recently moved toward the correct reading, away from Hodges/Farstad. Where the conjunction of 82, 627, 920 opposes another edition, there you have clearly different text streams. Where minuscules 82, 627, 920 line up against most of the uncials, their reading is highly doubtful. Where these three line up with 046 against all other uncials, you have a false reading, a wrong reading in the Majority Text. For example, omit ἡλιος in 22:5c. There are also places where these three line up against all uncials and all early versions, even against 046; there you have most definitely, absolutely, a wrong reading in the Hodges/Farstad edition, in my opinion.

It would seem that many might agree with F.H.A. Scrivener, who said on p. 277 of Vol. 2 of “Criticism of the New Testament,” as follows: “If the question be fairly proposed, ‘What right have we to set virtually aside the agreement in the main of our oldest uncials, at the distance of one or two centuries—of which, owing probably to the results of persecution, we have no MS. remains—with the citations of the primitive Fathers, and with the ancient versions?’: the answer must be rendered, without hesitation, ‘no right whatsoever.’ Where the oldest of these authorities really agree, we accept their united testimony as practically conclusive. It is not at all our design to seek our readings from the later uncials, supported as they usually are by the mass of cursive manuscripts; but to employ their confessedly secondary evidence in those numberless instances wherein their elder brethren are hopelessly at variance, eg. Matt. 1:18, Acts 8:37 for Irenaeus, Acts 13:33 for Origen. It is rare indeed that the express testimony of a Father is so fully confirmed by the oldest copies as in John 1:28, where ἔβηθαν, said by Origen to be σχεδὸν ἐν πᾶσι τοῖς ἀντιγράφοις, actually appears in \(\aleph\)° A B C°.”

There are several places in Revelation where Codex A shows that it is an older text, with older readings, prior to editing and standardization. I agree the UBS/NA editors in that they appear to value Codex A extremely highly for Revelation.

I have come up with 20 test passages, by which to classify the main Apocalypse manuscripts. The manuscripts may be placed on a continuum as shown below, with Codex A being on one end, and 757 the other, as the texts most differing from each other. And that continuum roughly corresponds to the GNT editions which line up like this:
In the years since I completed my translation of the Revelation of John, I have received criticism from readers that I, like the UBS and the NA28, was cherry-picking what manuscripts I cited in my footnote apparatus. So, to solve that complaint, I have changed to using one very objective and indisputable criterion: I cite ALL witnesses 9th century and earlier, and I cite NO witnesses later than the 9th century. Consistently cited Greek witnesses therefore in this edition without the Greek text interlinear (where text is extant) for Revelation are these thirty-one: $\text{P}^{18}$, $\text{P}^{24}$, $\text{P}^{43}$, $\text{P}^{47}$, $\text{P}^{89}$, $\text{P}^{115}$, A, C, P, 052, 0163, 0169, 0207, 0308.. If there is a hiatus in any of the above, it will be noted, except if that manuscript is only a fragment anyway. Fragmentary mss. not therefore listed for hiatus, would be: $\text{P}^{18}$, $\text{P}^{24}$, $\text{P}^{43}$, $\text{P}^{47}$, $\text{P}^{89}$, $\text{P}^{115}$, 052, 0163, 0169, 0207, 0308. If you want to find out the readings of many of the minuscules, you can read the endnotes in the back of my longer edition; and to a lesser degree, in its footnotes. We really should not include anywhere, mss. 296 and 2049, which were merely handwritten copies of printed editions. Hoskier stated this plainly in several places of his work; see the table of MSS. at the end of the above-linked longer document.
The Revelation of John

Chapter 1

Prologue

1The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave to him, to show to his servants what things must soon take place, and which he communicated when he sent it via his angel to his servant John, 2who has confirmed as the word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ, what all things1 he saw.2

3Blessed are the one reading and those listening to the words of this prophecy, and keeping the things written herein, for the time is near.

4John, to the seven churches in Asia, grace to you, and peace, from Him3 who is, and who was, and who is to come, and from the seven spirits before his throne, 5and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness,6 the firstborn from the dead, and ruler over the kings of the earth. To him who loves us, and freed7 us from our sins with8 his blood, 4and made us into a kingdom of priests7 for his God and Father— to him be glory and power, for ever and ever. Amen.

7Behold, he is coming with the clouds, and every eye shall see him, including those who pierced him. And all the peoples of the earth shall beat their breasts over him.8 Let it be so, amen.

The first reading preserves the formula for the divine name that had arisen from rabbinical exegesis of Exodus 3:14 ἐγώ εἰμι ὁ ὄν (πῆλ, ὃν ἐγώ εἰμι). 1:5a Or, "the faithful martyr." The Greek word translated witness here is martyr, and there is good reason it came to have the connotation of one who is killed for his witness. For that is what happened to Jesus Christ, and also to Antipas, mentioned later in this book in 2:13, where he is also called a faithful witness/martyr.
1:5c This is a Hebraistic use of the preposition "en" meaning "with" in the sense of money you use to pay for something. For example, "I bought the camera with the money you gave me." Jesus' blood was the thing of value exchanged for our freedom. This use of this preposition is a pointer in favor of the "freed" reading versus the "washed" reading, according to the Textual Commentary on the Greek New Testament. That copyists, not understanding this, thought that "washed in" made more sense than "freed in."

Someone Like a Son of Man

9I, John, your brother and fellow in the oppression and kingdom and endurance in Jesus, 10 was on the island called Patmos because of the word of God and the testimony of Jesus. 11 12 I was in the Spirit during the Lord's day, and I heard behind me a loud voice, like of a trumpet, 13 saying, "What you see, write in a book, and send it to the seven churches— to Ephesus, and to Smyrna, and to Pergamum, and to Thyatira, and to Sardis, and to Philadelphia, and to Laodicea."

12And I turned around to see the voice that was speaking with me. And when I turned, I saw seven golden lampstands, 13 and in among the lampstands 14 was someone like a son of man, 16 dressed in a cloak reaching down to his feet, and gird around at the pecs 17 with a golden sash, 14 except his head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow, and his eyes like flames of fire, 15 and his feet like bronze as if made to glow in a furnace, and his voice like the sound of many waters, 16 and he was holding in his right hand seven stars, and out of his mouth was coming a sharp two-edged sword, and his face was like the sun shining in the strength of it.

14 1:13a If this were talking about the menorah of Exodus chapter 25, then Tyndale's rendering, "in the midst of the candlesticks" would be most accurate, since with the menorah there was only one lampstand, with 6 branches going out sideways, and one in the middle. But if there are 7 free standing, separate, lampstands, a rendering like "in among the lampstands" is better. In our context here, the 7 lampstands refer to the seven churches of Asia Minor, Rev 1:20. Jesus "walks among the seven golden lampstands," Rev. 2:1. These lampstands are in jeopardy of being removed. Rev 2:5 says Jesus "will remove your lampstand from its place, unless you repent." Therefore I conclude that these lampstands are not the menorah of Exodus.

16 1:13c It is customary to render this phrase as "like a Son of Man," so that it reminds the reader of this phrase in the prophets Ezekiel and Daniel, etc. But it would be more accurate to translate it "like a human," because that is what seems to be the emphasis here in contrast to later given non-human traits. John first gives traits of him that are human, and then he begins verse 14 with "but," and proceeds in the next several verses to tell us traits that are not human.
17 1:13d Literally, "breasts."- mastoîs but that would be very unidiomatic for English, and it essentially means chest, as in 15:6, where the seven angels also have a golden sash around their chest, and there the Greek word used is stêthos, "chest." But I didn't want to translate mastoîs as a singular word like chest, when the Greek is plural, so I used "pecs" which is short for pectorals.
And when I saw him, I fell down by his feet as though dead. And he placed his right hand on me, saying, "Do not fear. I am the First and the Last, and the Living One, and I was dead, and behold, living for ever and ever, and I have the keys of death and of Hades."

Write therefore what things you see and what things are now, and also what things are about to take place after these things. The mystery of the seven stars which you see upon my right hand, and the seven golden lampstands: The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands are the seven churches.

Chapter 2

To the Church in Ephesus

To the angel of the church in Ephesus, write: 'These things says He who grips the seven stars in his right hand, who walks among the seven golden lampstands: I know your works, and your toil and endurance, and how you are not able to tolerate evil people, and have put to the test those who call themselves apostles and are not and have found them to be liars; and you have endurance, and have held up for the sake of my name, and not become weary.

But I have against you that you have left your first love. Remember therefore from where you have fallen, and repent and do your first works; otherwise I am coming to you and will remove your lampstand from its place, unless you repent.

But this you have, that you hate the deeds of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate. He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. To him who overcomes, I will grant to eat from the tree of life, which is in the paradise of God.

To the Church in Smyrna

And to the angel of the church in Smyrna, write: 'These things says the First and the Last, who was dead and came alive again: I know your affliction and your poverty (but you are rich) and the blasphemy of those claiming to be Jews and are not but are a synagogue of Satan. Don't be afraid of any of the things you are about to suffer. Behold, the devil is about to throw some of you into prison, so that you may be tried, and you will have affliction for ten days. Be faithful until death, and I will give you the crown of life. He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. To him who overcomes, I will grant to eat from the tree of life, which is in the paradise of God.
Spirit is saying to the churches. He who overcomes will certainly not be harmed by the second death.

To the Church in Pergamum

12“And to the angel of the church in Pergamum, write: ‘These things says He who has the sharp two-edged sword: 13I know where you live, where Satan’s throne is; yet you hold fast to my law and have not denied my faith, even in the days of Antipas my faithful witness 24who was put to death near you, where Satan lives.

14“But I have a few things against you, that you have some there who hold to the teaching of Balaam, who taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, to eat idol sacrifices and to commit sexual immorality. 15So also in the same way you have some who hold to the teaching of the Nicolaitans. 16Repent therefore. Otherwise I am coming to you soon, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

17“He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. He who overcomes, I will give to him from the hidden manna, and I will also give him a white stone, and on the stone a new name is written, which no one knows except the one receiving it.

To the Church in Thyatira

18“ And to the angel of the church in Thyatira, write: ‘These things says the Son of God, he who has his eyes like flames of fire and his feet like glowing bronze: 19I know your works and love and faith and service, and your perseverance, how your last works are greater than your first. 20"But I have against you 27that you tolerate that woman Jezebel, who calls herself a prophetess and teaches, and leads my servants astray, to commit sexual 24 And to the rest of you in Thyatira I say, as many as do not hold to these teachings—the ones who have not known 'the deep things of Satan,' as they say, I am not laying any further burden upon you.  25 Except what things you have, hold on to them until I come.  26 And he who overcomes and keeps my works to the end, I will give him authority over the nations,  27 and he will rule them with a rod of iron, shattering them to pieces like pots of clay,  28 even as I also have received from my Father, and I will give to him the morning star.

Chapter 3

To the Church in Sardis

1 "And to the angel of the church in Sardis, write: 'These things says He who has the seven spirits of God and the seven stars: 'I know your works, how you have the name that you are living, and you are dead.  2 Be watchful, and strengthen the things that remain, which are about to die.  3 For I have not found your works complete

3 Remember therefore how you received and how you heard, and maintain that, and repent. Now then, if you are not watchful, I will come like a thief, and you will not know at what hour I will come upon you.

4 But you do have a few names in Sardis who have not defiled their garments, and they will walk with me in white, because they are worthy.

5 He who overcomes in this way shall be dressed in garments of white, and I will never wipe his name out of the book of life, and I will confess his name before my Father and before his angels.

6 He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches.

To the Church in Philadelphia

7 And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia, write: ‘These things says the Holy One, the True One, the one holding the key of David, who opens and no one closes, and closes and no one opens.’

8 I know your works, (behold, before you I have provided an open door, which no one is able to close) how you have little power, yet have kept my word, and have not denied my name.

He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches.

To the Church in Laodicea

And to the angel of the church in Laodicea, write, ‘These things says the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the origin of the creation of God: I know your works, that you are neither hot nor cold. I would rather you were either hot or cold. Thus, because you are lukewarm, and neither hot nor cold, I am about to spew you out of my mouth.

Because you say ‘I am rich; I have acquired wealth and have need of nothing,’ and do not know that you are wretched and pitiful and poor and blind and naked, I counsel you to purchase from me gold purified by fire so you will be rich, and white garments so you will be clothed and your shameful nakedness not exposed, and salve to anoint your eyes so you will see. All whom I love, I punish and discipline. Be zealous therefore, and repent.

Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and dine with him and he with me. To him who overcomes, I will grant to sit with me on my throne, just as I also overcame and sat with my Father on his throne. He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches.”

Chapter 4

The Throne in Heaven

After these things I looked, and behold, an open door in heaven, and a voice speaking with me, the voice like a trumpet I had heard at first; and it was saying, “Come up here, and I will show you what things must take place after this.” Immediately I was in the Spirit; and behold, there was situated in heaven a throne, and on the throne someone sitting. And the one sitting was like jasper stone and is near” is just as much a problem then, as the phrase "I am coming soon," in the sense that it apparently was not near, going by that same reasoning. So you see, the rendering "I am coming soon" is in agreement with what Jesus says in Rev 22:10 that the time is near for the fulfillment of the prophecy of this book.

The Greek says "cold or hot." But that is not idiomatic in English. In English we always say "hot or cold."

This sounds like the same man who wrote the gospel of John. Compare John 14:3,20,23; 15:4 4:3a txt "and the one sitting was like" Ν Α Ρ latt syr arm TR SBL TH NA28 {\} "and the one sitting upon the throne like" 0169 cop52 "and the one sitting on it was like" eth "like" Μ ΑN HF BG RF lac C. There is a passage in Ezekiel containing many similarities to this passage, Ezekiel 1:26-28, and there the throne is described as looking like stones similar to here. One wonders if some copyists conformed this passage to the one in Ezekiel. It seems more appropriate to describe a throne in terms of stones rather than a person. Yet the one seated is not human. So was the situation instead that some copyists were trying to clarify that it was the one sitting that was like that in appearance. At any rate, the stone carnelian is flesh-colored. One could understand either reading as referring to the one sitting. The shorter reading makes fine sense, by simply putting a comma between verses 2 and 3. It seems reasonable that the longer reading is \(^{44}\) This is from the Greek word îris, which can mean rainbow or halo. Webster's second definition of aura is: "a luminous radiation: Nimbus." I didn't like rainbow, since the rainbow by definition includes the whole spectrum of colors, whereas this phenomenon is only green. Halo is possibly suitable; it's just that the English reader is accustomed to it being only something around the heads of holy people or saints in art. But halo is also used in astronomy.

Chapter 5

Who is Worthy to Open the Scroll?

1 And I saw upon the right hand of the one sitting on the throne a scroll, written on, inside and back, sealed up with seven seals. 2 And I saw a powerful angel, herding in a loud voice: "Who is worthy to open the scroll, and to break the seals of it?"

3 And no one was able, not in heaven nor on the earth nor under the earth, to open the scroll, or even to look at it. 4 And I was weeping greatly, that no one worthy was found to open the scroll, or even to look at it. 5 Then one of the elders is saying to me, "Do not weep. Look, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, he has overcome, so as to open the scroll and the seven seals of it."

6 And I saw in between the throne and the four living beings and the elders, a lamb, postured as though slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God sent forth into all the earth. 7 And he went and took the scroll from the right hand of the One sitting on the throne. 8 And when he had taken the scroll, the four living beings and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb, each one holding a lyre and a golden bowl filled with incenses, which are the prayers of the saints, 57 5:8 The Greek word is "kithara," which with that era's pronunciation would sound to us as "gitarra," like the Spanish word for guitar. The Online Encyclopedia Britannica defines it as follows: "Large lyre of Classical antiquity, the principal stringed instrument of the Greeks and later of the Romans. It had a box-shaped resonating body from which extended two parallel arms connected by a crossbar to which 3–12 strings were attached. It was held vertically and plucked with a plectrum; the left hand was used to stop and damp the strings. It was played by singers of the Greek epics, as well as by later professional accompanists and soloists." The lyre was an intermediate transition step from the harp to the guitar and viol which have finger boards. The English word "harp" is no more accurate a rendering here than guitar, since a harp today is usually a 6 foot tall instrument mainly used with orchestras, whereas a guitar is a portable, personal instrument, more like here in Revelation than is a harp.

7.) lac: P¹¹⁵ C P?. The TR reading in v. 10 of "us" and "we will reign" is supported by only a few late Greek manuscripts. According to the UBS Textual Commentary, the reading of Codex A and the Ethiopic best explains the origin of the others: copyists wanted to supply an object for the verb. But when they added the ἡμᾶς, "us," they created a conflict with v. 10 where it says "you have made αὐτοὺς - "them" into a kingdom and priests, and βασιλεύσουσιν "they" will reign. As the text stands in the HF/RP editions, it at first seems you have the 24 elders saying they themselves were purchased by His blood, but then in v. 10 they exclude themselves from the group that will reign on the earth. But it is likely that the 24 elders will indeed be among those who reign on the earth, since they sit on 24 thrones and have golden crowns. Whereas, when you have the elders word it as in the NA27, they can be including themselves in the "some" who were purchased and will reign. However, Dr. Maurice A. Robinson says the solution probably lies in the fact that there are multiple groups who are singing this song, and they are taking turns singing different parts; i.e., the Elders sing the "us" part, and the Four Living Beings sing the "them" part. (See endnote in my longer edition for Dr. Robinson’s exact words.) The idea of a two-part responsive praise was (perhaps) first put forward by Moses Stuart in 1845. https://archive.org/details/commentaryonapoc02stua Apocalypse 5:9-10 comments p. 134 Responsive praise. Moses Stuart “A Commentary on the Apocalypse Volume 2” Andover, New York 1845. H. C. Hoskier explains the omission of ἡμᾶς in Codex A as follows: "the word was "lost" in the transition from one column to the next." ((You can view the pertinent page of Codex A for yourself at the Center for the Study of New Testament Manuscripts, find Codex A, Codex Alexandrinus, MS. nr. GA_02.) But since Revelation says Christ himself will reign on the earth (11:15; 20:6), the idea that the 24 elders will not reign on the earth is preposterous. Their 24 thrones surround the throne of the Lamb, and they will reign with Him on the earth. The New Jerusalem will be on the earth. That city has 12 foundations, and 12 gates, with the names of the 12 apostles and 12 tribes respectively; thus a total of 24 elders.

The emphasis is on the awe-inspiring and majestic declaration of the Lamb’s worthiness, followed by a description of the worship and adoration of the created universe, symbolizing the ultimate fulfillment of divine authority.

12. The list of creatures—sky, earth, underground, sea, and everything in them—echoes the comprehensive praise in the opening verses, emphasizing the universal recognition of the Lamb’s sovereignty.

13. The Amen response underscores the agreement with the Lamb’s worthiness, further solidifying the theme of universal endorsement.

14. The phrase "the four beings" likely refers to the four living creatures, who are also seen in the Book of Daniel, symbolizing the four elements of heaven, earth, sea, and underworld, and thus their worship is a universal and comprehensive act.

The Seven Seals

1. The description of the Lamb’s opening of the first seal continues, highlighting the extension of divine authority and the universal endorsement of the Lamb’s worthiness. The imagery of the seven seals symbolizes the progressive revelation of God’s plans and judgments, culminating in the ultimate reign of the Lamb.

1After this77 I saw four angels standing at the four points of the earth, holding back the four winds of the earth, so that no wind would blow upon the earth, or upon the sea or upon any tree.

2And I saw another angel rising up from the east, holding the seal of the living God, and he cried out in a very great voice toward the four angels to whom the orders had been given to harm the earth and the sea, 3saying, "Do not harm the earth or the sea or the trees until we have sealed the servants of our God on their foreheads."

4And I heard the number of the ones sealed, 144,000, sealed from every tribe of the sons of Israel: 5from the tribe of Judah twelve thousand were sealed, from the tribe of Reuben twelve thousand, from the tribe of Gad twelve thousand, 6from the tribe of Asher twelve thousand, from the tribe of Naphtali twelve thousand, from the tribe of Manasseh 78twelve thousand, 7from the tribe of Simeon twelve thousand, from the tribe of Levi twelve thousand, from the tribe of Issachar twelve

The Multitude out of the Tribulation

After these things I looked, and behold, a great multitude, which no one could count, from every nation and tribe and people and language, standing before the throne and before the Lamb, dressed in white robes, and palm branches in their hands; and they are shouting out with a loud voice, saying, "Salvation is with our God who sits on the throne, and with the Lamb!"

And all the angels had stood in a circle around the throne and around the elders and the four living beings, and they fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God, saying, "Amen. Blessing and glory and wisdom and thanks and honor and power and strength be to our God for ever and ever. Amen."

And one of the elders responded saying to me, "These wearing the white robes, who are they, and where did they come from?"

And he said to me, "These are those coming out of the great tribulation, and they have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. Because of this they are before the throne of God, and they serve him day and night in his temple, and the One sitting on the throne will spread his tent over them. No longer will they hunger, neither will they thirst any more, nor will the sun attack them nor any scorching heat. For the Lamb that is in the midst of the throne will shepherd them, and he will lead them to the springs of the waters of life; and God will wipe away every tear from their eyes."

Chapter 8

The 7th Seal: the Seven Trumpets

And when he opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour. And I saw the seven angels which stand before God, and seven trumpets were given to them. And another angel came and stood at the altar, holding a golden censer, and many incenses were given to him so that he might present the prayers of all the saints at the golden altar which is before the throne. And the smoke of the incenses went up before God from the hand of the angel mingled with the prayers of the saints. And the angel took the censer and filled it with the burning incense, and he hurled it to the earth; and there came rumblings and voices and peals of thunder, and earthquakes. And the seven angels who had the seven trumpets readied themselves to play.

7:14 This is the first time John speaks. He has been spoken to many times before this, but he had not responded verbally until now.

7:16-17 Isaiah 49:10; 25:8. See also Psalm 121:6: "The sun will not smite you by day, nor the moon by night."
And the first one sounded his trumpet; and there came hail and fire mixed with blood, and it was rained on the earth. And one third of the earth was burned up, and one third of the trees were burned up, and all the green grass was burned up.

And the second angel sounded his trumpet; and something like a huge mountain burning with fire was hurled into the sea. And one third of the sea was turned to blood, and one third of the creatures that have lives in the sea died, and one third of the ships were destroyed.

And the third angel sounded his trumpet; and a huge star fell from heaven, burning like a lamp, and it fell on a third of the rivers, and on the sources of the waters. And the name of the star means "Wormwood." And a third of the waters were turned into bitterness, and many of the people died from the waters because they were made bitter.

And the fourth angel sounded his trumpet; and a third of the sun was struck, and a third of the moon and a third of the stars were burned up, and all the green grass was burned up.

Will one third of the earth be burned up or not? This is a variant between Bible versions. The Textus Receptus and the King James Version omit the first of the three phrases below, which means, "and one third of the earth will be burned up."

και το τριτον της γης κατεκαθμηνον και το τριτον των δενδρων κατεκαθμηνον και πας χορτος χλωρος κατεκαθμηνον

This omission is a clear case of "homoioiteleuton" that happened in the Greek copying process. That means, the lines end the same, so a copyist, having left off his work for a break, then resumed doing his work, and he remembers, "I resume, at the line ending with κατεκαθμηνον," but he resumed with the wrong line ending with κατεκαθμηνον. Skipped one line by accident. Homoioiteleuton. Or, it could have been a case of "homoioarcton," that is, all three lines BEGIN the same, with και, and the scribe having left off, resumed, thinking, "I resume with the line beginning with και, but he picked the wrong line beginning with και. Interestingly, the scribe of manuscript 620 wrote the phrase in question two times, which is another kind of result from parablepsis from homoioiteleuton.

Greek: τα ἑξοντα ψυχας, literally, "a third of the creatures in the sea died, those possessing souls." Bauer begins his lexicon entry for this word ψυχη, "soul," by saying, "It is often impossible to draw hard and fast lines between the meanings of this many-sided word." It would certainly be silly to render this instance of the word as "lives," as follows: "one third of the creatures in the sea died, those having lives." It is very unlikely that any author would feel the need to make clear that it was those creatures that had lives, that died. This seems to be a demonstrative phrase, specifying some particular subset of creatures. "Those that have breath" seems possible, as in conformance with the usage in Genesis. Compare LXX Genesis 1:30, those having the breath of life; and 2:7, where the man became a soul when he received the breath of life through his nostrils. Further, the LXX in Genesis 1:20-23 calls those sea creatures that breathe, such as whales and snakes, "souls." But then the question arises why the bloody sea would kill only air-breathers. The problematic phrase, τα ἑξοντα ψυχας, with the nominative definite article, is commented on in the BDF grammar in § 136(1) as follows, "Revelation exhibits a quantity of striking solecisms which are based especially on inattention to agreement (a rough style), in contrast to the rest of the NT and to the other writings ascribed to John: (1) An appositional phrase (or circumstantial participle) is often found in the nominative instead of an oblique case (§ 137(3))." The only reasonable apposition or circumstance seems to be as worded above: "those that have lives in the sea."
darkened and a third of the daylight would not be shined, and the same with the night.

And I looked, and I heard an eagle flying at zenith saying with a very loud voice, "Woe, woe, woe to those dwelling on the earth, because of the remaining sounds of the trumpet from the three angels about to sound!"

Chapter 9

The Fifth Trumpet

1 And the fifth angel sounded his trumpet; and I saw a fallen star, fallen out of heaven onto earth, and the key to the bottomless pit had been given to him. 2 And he opened the bottomless pit, and smoke ascended from the pit like smoke from a giant furnace. And the sun and the sky became dark from the smoke of the pit. 3 And from the smoke, locusts went out over the earth, and they were given a power like the power that the scorpions of Earth have.

4 And it was commanded them that they not harm the grass of the earth or anything green or any tree, but only humans who do not have the seal of God on their foreheads. 5 And orders were given them that they not kill them, but that they be tormented for five months. And their torment will be like the pain of a scorpion when it strikes a person. 6 And during those days the people will seek death, and will not find it. Yes, they will long earnestly to die, and death will elude them.

7 And the appearance of the locusts was like horses outfitted for war, and on their heads something like golden crowns, and their faces like human faces, and they had hair like the hair of women, and their teeth were like lions' teeth, and they had thoraxes like breastplates of iron, and the sound of their wings was like the sound of many chariot horses rushing to battle. 8 And they have tails like scorpions, and stingers, and in their tails their power to do harm to humans for five months.

8:12 The verb 'was darkened' is singular. I don't think it is saying that one third of 'them were darkened,' but rather one third of something singular 'was darkened,' and the meaning is that one third of their strength, one third of the collective light was darkened. What it is NOT saying is that one third of the number of them were totally dark. And probably not that one third of the duration of the day or night was dark. It is saying that the day and the night were each only two thirds as light as normal. See Isaiah 13:10; Ezekiel 32:7; Joel 3:15

9:4 Compare ch. 6:6, "A quart of wheat for a day's wage, or three barley loaves for a day's wage. And don't you damage the oil or wine." An implication here about the green grass and trees, from the commandment to the locusts that they not damage anything green, could be that green things will be precious and rare in those days already, before all these plagues take place. On the other hand, locusts' natural inclination would be to eat such, and they are being commanded to do otherwise.
They have as king over them the angel of the Abyss. His name in Hebrew is Abaddōn, and in Greek he has the name Apollyōn.

The first woe has passed. Behold, even after all this, two woes still are coming.

And the sixth angel sounded his trumpet. And I heard a voice from the horns of the golden altar before God, saying to the sixth angel, the one holding the trumpet, "Release the four angels that are bound at the great river Euphrates."

And he released the four angels, held ready for that hour and day and month and year in order to kill one third of humanity.

And the number of their mounted troops was 200,000,000. I heard the number of them.

And this is how I saw the horses in the vision, and those sitting on them: Having breastplates like fire, that is, dusky red and sulphur colored; and the heads of the horses like heads of lions, and from their mouths comes fire and smoke and sulphur.

By these three plagues, of the fire and smoke and sulphur coming from their mouths, one third of humanity was killed. Now the power of the horses is in their mouths and in their tails; for their tails are like snakes, having heads, and with these they do injury.

And the rest of humanity, those who were not killed by these plagues, they did not repent, neither of the works of their hands, such that they worship demons and idols made of gold and silver and bronze and stone and wood, which can neither see nor hear nor walk, and neither did they repent of their murders, nor their sorceries, nor their sexual immorality, nor their thefts.

The Greek words I rendered "after all this" are "meta tauta." This phrase is usually found, in Revelation, at the beginning of a sentence, not the end as here. Therefore, there seems to be an emphasis put on this phrase by putting it last. And the word "behold" adds to the emphasis.

All the altars mentioned in the Mosaic temples, and in the Ezekiel 43:15 temple, have four horns, see Ex 27:2; 29:12; 30:10; 43:20; Lev. 4:7, 18, 25, 30, 34; 8:15; 9:9; 16:18; I Kings 1:50; 2:28; Psalm 118:27, Jer. 17:1; Zech. 1:18 (Amos 3:14 says "horns of the altar" without the number four). The Prophet's Bitter Burden

1And I saw another powerful angel coming down out of heaven, wrapped in a cloud, and a nimbus\(^{94}\) above his head, and his face like the sun, and his legs\(^{95}\) like columns of fire, 2and holding in his hands a little scroll that was opened. And he placed his right foot upon the sea, and his left upon the land, 3and he cried out with a great voice, like a lion roaring. And when he had cried out, the seven thunders spoke with their sounds.\(^{96}\)

4And when the seven thunders had spoken, I was about to write, and I heard a voice from heaven saying, "Seal up what things the seven thunders have spoken, and do not write them."

5And the angel which I had seen standing on the sea and on the land, he lifted his right\(^{97}\) hand to heaven, 6and swore by Him who lives for ever and ever, who gave birth to the heaven and the things in it, and to the earth and the things in it, and to the sea and the things in it, he swore\(^{7}\) that there shall be no more time, 7but that in the days of the blast of the seventh angel, whenever he is about to sound his trumpet, even then will be brought to completion the mystery of God, as he has announced it to his servants the prophets.\(^{98}\)

8And the voice that I had heard from heaven, it spoke with me again, and said, "Go take the scroll\(^{99}\) that is opened in the hand of the angel who is standing on the sea and on the land."

9And I went over to the angel, asking him to give me the little scroll. And he says to me, "Take it and eat it, and it will make your stomach bitter, though in your mouth it was sweet like honey." 10And I took the little scroll from the hand of the angel, and I ate it, and in my mouth it was sweet like honey. And after I had eaten it, my stomach was made bitter.

The Two Witnesses

1 And a reed was given to me, like a measuring rod, as he was saying, "Get up, and measure the temple of God along with the altar and those worshiping in it. 2 And the outer courtyard of the temple you shall exclude, and not measure it, for it has been given to the Gentiles, and they will trample on the holy city for forty-two months. 3 And I will give authority to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy for 1,260 days clothed in sackcloth."

4 These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands which stand before the Lord of the earth.

5 And if anyone wants to harm them, fire comes from their mouth and consumes their enemies. And if anyone would want to harm them, this is how he ought to be killed. 6 These have the authority to shut up the sky so that no rain will fall during the days of their prophesying, and they have authority over the waters to turn them into blood, and to strike the earth with any kind of plague as often as they wish. 7 And when they complete their witness, the beast coming up out of the bottomless pit will make war with them, and will conquer them and kill them.

8 And their corpses lie on the boulevard of the great city which is spiritually named Sodom and Egypt, where also their Lord was crucified. 9 And from peoples and tribes and languages and nations they see their corpses for three and a half days. A nd they are not allowing their corpses to be placed in a grave.

10 Those dwelling on the earth rejoice over them, and celebrate, and will send gifts to one another. For these two prophets had tormented those dwelling on the earth.

Chapter 12

The Woman, Her Seed, and the Dragon

1 And a great sign was seen in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars, and being with child, and crying out with contractions and anguish to deliver.

2 And another sign was seen in heaven, and behold, a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and on his heads seven crowns, and his tail is pulling one third of the stars from heaven; and it threw them to the earth. And the dragon took his stand in front of the woman who was about to deliver, so that he might devour the child whenever it was born.

3 And she bore a son, a male child, who was destined to shepherd all the nations with a rod of iron. And her child was snatched up to God and to his throne. And the woman fled to the desert, to where she has a place prepared there by God, so that there they might take care of her for 1,260 days.

4 And there was war in heaven, Michael and his angels must make war with the dragon. And the dragon made war, and his angels also, not strong enough, neither was their place found anymore in heaven. And the great dragon was thrown out, that ancient serpent, which is called the Devil and Satan, who deceives the whole world, he was thrown to the earth, and his angels thrown along with him.

5 And I heard a great voice in heaven, saying, "Now has come the salvation and power and kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ; for the accuser of our brethren has been thrown out, the one accusing them before our God day and night."
night, and these have overcome him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, and they did not love their lives even unto death.

Rejoice over this, O heaven, and you who dwell therein! Woe to the earth and to the sea! For the devil has come down to you with great fury, because he knows that he has but little time.

And when the dragon saw that he was thrown to the earth, he went after the woman that bore the male child. And she was given the two wings of a great eagle to fly to the desert to that place of hers where she gets taken care of for a time, times, and half a time, away from the face of the serpent.

And the serpent poured water from his mouth like a river after the woman, to cause her to be swept away by a flood, and the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed the flood that the dragon had poured from his mouth.

And the dragon was enraged over the woman, and went off to make war with the rest of her seed, those keeping the commandments of God and bearing the witness of Jesus. And he stood at the shore of the sea.

And I saw a beast coming up from the sea, with ten horns and seven heads, and on its horns ten crowns, and on its heads a name that is blasphemy. And the beast which I saw was like a leopard, and the feet of it like a bear's, and his mouth like the mouth of a lion. And the dragon gave his power to him, and his throne, and great authority. 3And one of his heads was as good as slain to death, and the fatal wound was healed. And the whole earth was filled with wonder after the beast, 4and they worshiped the dragon because he had given authority to the beast, and they worshiped the beast, saying, "Who is like the beast, and who is able to wage war with him?" 5And there was given to him a mouth speaking big things and blasphemies, and authority was given to him to act for forty-two months. 6And he opened his mouth in blasphemies toward God, to blaspheme his name and his tabernacle, those tabernacling in heaven. 7And it was given to him to make war with the saints and to conquer them, and authority was given to him over every tribe and people and language and nation. 8And they worship him, all those dwelling on the earth, every one whose name is not written in the book of life of the Lamb that was slain from the foundation of the world.

that is blasphemy can be interpreted as "each a different name," so thus "names" plural, or that they all had the same blasphemous name. Conversely, the plural "names" could be understood distributively. I chose to do this for the reason that I am not persuaded either way as to which is the correct manuscript reading. What is really different is interpreters that see this as meaning each head had more than one name on it, like the CEV & NLT. "On each of its heads were names..." interesting that the Douay-Rheims has the plural when all its contemporaries had the singular. My thinking is like the NIV rendering: "and on each head a blasphemous name." It seems to me that "head" being plural might have assimilated "name" over to the plural.

13And the dragon gave his power to him to act for forty-two months. 14And he opened his mouth in blasphemies toward God, to blaspheme his name and his tabernacle, those tabernacling in heaven. 15And it was given to him to make war with the saints and to conquer them, and authority was given to him over every tribe and people and language and nation. 16And they worship him, all those dwelling on the earth, every one whose name is not written in the book of life of the Lamb that was slain from the foundation of the world.

The Second Beast, out of the Earth

11 And I saw another beast, coming up from the earth, and it had two horns like a lamb, and it spoke as the dragon. 12 And all the authority of the first beast it exercises before him. And he causes the earth and those dwelling in it to worship the first beast, whose mortal wound had been healed. 13 And he performs great signs, such that he even causes fire to come down from heaven to earth before the people. 14 And he deceives those dwelling on the earth by means of the signs which were given him to do before the beast, telling those dwelling on the earth to make an image to the beast which has the wound of the sword and yet has lived. 15 And it was given to him to give breath to the image of the beast, such that the image of the beast can even talk, and also to cause anyone who does not worship the image of the beast to be put to death.

16 And he causes all, the small and the great, and the rich and the poor, and the free and the slave, to get a mark on their right hand or on their forehead, be a clarification of the first clause of the Codex A reading. And it could be argued that the additional phrase "into captivity" he must go, in the second clause, was a clarification on the part of Codex A as well. And then the "HAS part of the RP reading, "has captivity" was then interpreted by the TR copyists as meaning, "if anyone has captives," rather than if anyone has that fate. Happily, the, RP, NA27 and UBS4 readings are the same in meaning. The TR reading has no Greek manuscript support as it is worded in the Greek, but agrees in meaning with the manuscripts listed with it, and even those three do not agree.

As in the first two lines of the verse, the third and fourth lines teach (as does also Jr 15:2, on which the saying rests) the duty of endurance and the fulfillment of the will of God. Perhaps under the influence of such sayings as Mt 26:52 (πάντας γὰρ οἱ λαβόντες μάχαιραν ἐν μαχαῖρῃ ἀπολούνται, copyists modified in various ways the difficult Greek construction (which, as Charles points out, seems to be a literal rendering of a distinctively Hebrew idiom, "if anyone is to be slain with the sword, he is to be slain with the sword"), and introduced the idea of retribution (persecutors will be requited in strict accord with the \textit{lex talionis})." 13:16a The Greek word is poίδο, which Bauer on p. 840 in 2 h says here means "make to, cause someone to, bring it about that." With hina and a subjunctive verb in place of the infinitive. So in this case what people are caused to do would be to didōmi, in the 3rd person plural subjunctive, "they give." So therefore we have this phrase, "He causes everyone to give to them a mark." Everyone will be giving a mark to whom? To themselves. Yes, that is the primary meaning of the pronoun 'autos' here. Many translations have rendered didōmi as "receive." Tyndale did it, though there were a few manuscripts that had the Greek word for receive here. But "receive" is not lexically supported as a possible meaning of didōmi. Again, it is fashionable to render 3rd person plural actives as passives; see for example Mark 4:21, erchetai, "exist"; Luke 12:20, apaitousin "they are demanding"; Rev. 10:11, legousin, "they are saying"; Rev. 11:1, legōn, "as he is saying"; Rev. 12:6, trephōsin, "they might take care," and other examples. I am saying that I rendered all these as actives, and they work fine that way. So there is no reason compelling enough to break the rules of grammar. The only reason I can come up with for this trend, is that it is their idea of an "impersonal" verb. Yes, a general "they" is impersonal, but that is still not a reason to make an active verb passive. It is perfectly colloquial and grammatical to say "they call him Jesus," etc. The only justification for making an active verb passive that I know of in the grammars, is the Aramaic 3rd person plural impersonal; see next footnote. But that is a rare and questionable occurrence, and the burden of proof is on the one asserting that it is happening.

13:16b txt δωσιν αὐτοῖς "they give themselves" Ν² A C P cop⁵⁸ BG SBL TH NA28 { } // δωσουσιν αὐτοῖς "they will give themselves" Μ* Τυcient HP RP // δωσιν αὐτοῖς "they give themselves" Ν* // λαβὼσιν "they receive" Prim Vic // "they might write/etch" eth // _______ αὐτοῖς // ἑαυτοις // lac P.¹¹⁵ The vast majority of Greek manuscripts, including all but one uncial, have the verb "give" in aorist active indicative 3rd person plural. The only difference between the NA28 text and the Robinson-Pierpont text is that the NA28 text, δωσιν, is 2nd aorist, and the RP text, δωσωσιν, is aorist. No difference in meaning.

The TR has the verb "give" in 3rd person singular, δωσιν, and subjunctive aorist. The TR reading reflects an attempt I think to conform the clause to the standard Greek configuration for an "impersonal" verb, where there is no subject as a giver, and the verb is turned passive. Thus, "they might be given." This is a fact that the Greek grammars say that an "impersonal" verb in Greek grammar is in the 3rd person SINGULAR. I conclude that this is a deliberate change in the Greek text to conform to the rules of grammar. The TR reading is a small minority reading, in later manuscripts, and probably not the authorial text. Could it be conforming it to the Latin of Irenaeus and Victorinus? Or is it influenced by the late Syriac?

The majority reading, of the verb as 3rd person plural, and the object being αὐτοῖς, is unusual Greek, and there are really only two options as to how to make it intelligible as it is.

Option 1, the word αὐτοῖς is a contraction of ἑαυτοῖς, and means "they give themselves." This is the way the scribe of ms. 1828 saw it, which reads δωσιν ἑαυτοῖς, and this is certainly a real possibility. The ambiguity of αὐτοῖς with αὐτός (ἑαυτοῖς) is a common textual variant in Revelation that I have seen. Remember, the uncial and papyri did not have breathing marks. So, αὐτοῖς, even with the smooth breathing mark, can easily and rightly be understood as reflexive, and mean "themselves." So the scribe of ms. 1828 was either correcting grammar, or merely understanding αὐτοῖς as a contraction of ἑαυτοῖς. And it is possible that his exemplar had the long form ἑαυτοῖς.

Option 2, is what M. Black, in An Aramaic Approach to the Gospels and Acts, pp. 126-128, would call an Aramaism, and be a "third person plural impersonal" and the meaning be similar to what the Philoxenian and Harklean Syriac read, "they be given" or "they receive." An Aramaism is an unusual and rare occurrence, and I think the burden of proof that it is occurring, is on the one saying it is.

In The Morphology of Koine Greek As Used in the Apocalypse of St. John: A Study, G. Mussies states, "The 3rd person singular is the category which is used when the verb is impersonal," p. 232. Regarding 3rd person plurals as passives in Revelation, Stephen Thomson in his book, The Apocalypse and Semitic Syntax, Cambridge, he says on p. 21 that there are two instances: in 2:24 and 8:2. He says the ὡς λέγουσιν in 2:24 means "what is called" the deep things of Satan. (I disagree with this. I translate it as follows: 'the deep things of Satan,' as they say." In 8:2 the Greek text says ἔδοθέραν αὐτοῖς which is already passive. His example is from a Coptic text! Thomson does not mention this situation in 13:16. But I say, there were many, many opportunities for the proposed Aramaism to show up in Revelation, and it did not; so why must this here be such an example? I say this is not such, and I am saying here that the subject of this verb is the recipients, because autois in Revelation very often means "themselves," even without the rough breathing mark. At any rate, if the beast "causes all to receive a mark," the recipients are still getting it for themselves, unless the beast or his agent captures each individual, ties them down, and forces the mark onto them. But if that were the case, would God be able to hold them and makes it\textsuperscript{146} so that no one is able to buy or sell without having the mark—\textsuperscript{147} the name of the beast or the number of his name. \textsuperscript{18}Here is wisdom: he who has the understanding should calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a human being; and his\textsuperscript{148} number is 666.\textsuperscript{149} responsible for it? I don't believe so. So I am saying that you will have to get it for yourself, and then God can hold you responsible for doing it.

This Greek word translated "mark," χάραγμα - κάραγμα, means a poke into the flesh. (Perhaps like this: \url{http://www.wsj.com/articles/when-information-storage-grets-under-your-skin-1474251062} ) It also had the meaning of an etching, branding, carving, engraving or stamp. Slaves had a poke in the flesh of their ear to show ownership. So here also, the mark of the beast will show one's voluntary allegiance to the beast and submission to the ownership of the beast. I get the impression from translating this passage that this mark will be self-arranged; that is, people will be told to do it, but nevertheless they ultimately do it voluntarily. They themselves are responsible for making sure they have it, if they want to buy or sell. In other words, it need not be mandatory by law, but life will be extremely hard without it. How could a government give the mark to 20 billion people by force in the remotest jungle? On the other hand, economic incentives have historically worked very well, without the need for something being mandatory by law. Most people serve Mammon anyway, so it will be a no-brainer for most people to get the mark. It will be a blessing on the other hand, for God's people, in that those who are serving Mammon will repent of that, and truly be content with their daily bread from God, and truly live by faith. The exciting life. Exciting to see how God will feed them each day. But we see in this book that many or most of God's people will die or be killed during those days.

\textsuperscript{145} \textsuperscript{13:16d} The Greek word is χείρ, and meant the entire limb/arm, including the hand all the way up to the shoulder, as so also the word for foot can mean the whole leg; compare Revelation 10:1, where the Greek word is ποδες (feet, sg. πούς), but can and does mean there, the entire leg or limb. This is true also in many of the languages where I was raised – the word for hand or foot can mean the entire extremity. Thus here, this mark could be anywhere from the hand on up.

\textsuperscript{146} \textsuperscript{13:17b} This "hina" is still connected to the poiọ́̄o of 13:16a. The initial "and" in this verse is absent from some manuscripts, because, I now quote A Textual Commentary on the Greek New Testament edited by Bruce Metzger, with text in square brackets supplied by me: "The absence of κατι [initial "and"] in N* C about 25 minuscules (including 1611) syrh\textsuperscript{h} cop\textsuperscript{sa,bo} \texttt{al} appears to be a secondary modification arising from misunderstanding the relationship between verses 16 and 17. Chapter 14

The Lamb and the 144,000

1And I looked, and behold, the Lamb is standing on Mount Zion, and with him the 144,000 who have his name and the name of his father written on their foreheads. 2And I heard a voice from heaven like the sound of many waters and like the sound of loud thunder. The sound which I heard was also like lyre players playing their lyres. 3And they sing a new song before the throne and before the four living beings and the elders. And no one is able to learn the song except the 144,000, the ones purchased from the earth. 4These are men who have not been defiled with women, for they are virgins. These are the ones following the Lamb wherever he goes. They were purchased from humanity as a firstfruits to God and to the Lamb, and in their mouths no falsehood has been found. They are blameless.

The Three Angels

6And I saw another angel flying at zenith, having an eternal gospel to herald above those dwelling on the earth, even over every nation and tribe and language and people, saying in a loud voice, "Fear God and give him glory; for the hour of..."
his judgment has come; and worship him who created the heaven and the earth and the sea and the sources of waters."

8And another angel, a second one, 157 followed, saying, "Fallen! Fallen 158 is Babylon the great, 159 which 160 had given all the nations to drink of the wine of the wrath of her whoredom."

9And another angel, a third one, followed those, saying with a loud voice, "If anyone worships the beast and his image, and takes the mark on his forehead or on his hand, 161 he shall himself also drink of the wine of the wrath of God, mixed undiluted in the cup of his anger, 161 and he shall be tormented with fire and sulfur before the holy angels and before the Lamb. 11And the smoke of their torment goes up for ever and ever, and they have no relief day or night, those who worship the beast and the image of him, and anyone who takes the mark of his name."

12Here is the endurance of the saints, 162 those keeping the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus. 13And I heard a voice from heaven saying, "Write,
'Blessed are the dead, those dying in the Lord from no
wrath of her whoredom."

"Yes," says the Spirit, "in that they shall rest from their labors, with their works, you see following right with them." 167

165 14:13c The Greek word “hina” here is exegeitical in that it explains how specifically the dead in Christ from now on are blessed. The blessing is two-fold, they shall rest, and two, their works are with immediate appearance and effectiveness, since it won’t be long until the end of the age (and the judgment with reward) from the time they die. Perhaps this is why DE replaced GAR

And the angel launched his sickle onto the earth, and gathered the vine of the earth, and he cast it into the great winepress of God's wrath.

\(^{171}\) And the winepress outside the city was trampled, and the blood went out from the winepress as deep as the bridles of the horses for a distance of 1,600 stadia.

Chapter 15

The Seven Bowls Full of Wrath

\(^{1}\) And I saw another sign in heaven, great and awesome: seven angels having the seven last plagues, for with them is completed the wrath of God. \(^{2}\) And I saw like a sea of glass mixed with fire, and the ones overcoming of the beast and of his image and of the number of his name were standing on the glassy sea, holding ...

"Great and marvelous are your deeds,
O Lord God Almighty.
Just and true are your ways,
O king of the nations."

Who shall not fear, O Lord, and glorify your name?
Because you alone are pure.
For all the nations will come,
and will worship before you,
because your righteous judgments have been revealed."

And after these things I looked, and the temple of the tabernacle of testimony was opened in heaven, and out of the temple came the seven angels who had the seven plagues, dressed in clean bright linen and gird around the ground with the sign of God's holiness, as follows,

Chapter 16

1 And I heard a great voice from the temple saying to the seven angels, "Go and pour out the seven bowls of the wrath of God onto the earth."
2 And the first one went and poured out his bowl onto the earth. And there came a nasty and painful ulcer on the people who had the mark of the beast and on those worshiping his image.
3 And the second angel poured out his bowl onto the sea. And it became blood like of the dead, and every living soul died, the ones in the sea.
4 And the third angel poured out his bowl onto the rivers and the sources of the waters. And they became blood.
5 And I heard the angel of the waters saying, "You are righteous, you who are and who was, O holy one, that you have judged these things, for they poured out the blood of saints and prophets, and you have given them blood to drink. They deserve it."

Several minuscules show knowledge of the λιθον reading in their scholia (242, 250, 743, 2070, 2075, 2077, and by inference versus "txt"- 2051, 2064, 2067). Hoskier points out Ezekiel 28:13-14, where that cherub is described to be dressed in stone. So perhaps A and C harmonized to Ezekiel. There are several instances of Apocalypse manuscripts harmonizing to Daniel or to Ezekiel, Ezekiel chapter 28: "13 You were in Eden, the garden of God; every precious stone was your covering, the sardius, the topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of your tabrets and of your pipes was in you; in the day that you were created they were prepared. 14 You were the anointed cherub that covers..." Oecumenius appears completely unaware of the "linen" variant, and knows only "stone", and comments at length about these angels' clean bright stone dress. He says angels were dressed in linen, or stone of various value, depending on their power and rank. See Arethas' and Andrew's scholi in 2070 and 250. They state that angels' native condition of ceremonial purity was to be dressed in a clean stone linen. Elsewhere Arethas says of the stone, that it was "golden, transparent stone." Some points to consider: 1. The wide variety of spelling and punctuation of the λινον variant makes it suspect. 2. The reading λιθον is certainly the more difficult reading, more likely to prompt revision, as the 046 stream is famous for. 3. Perhaps the reading "clean bright linen" is a harmonization to the gospels' description of angels on earth, and to the description of the armies of heaven elsewhere in Revelation, like 19:14. Or perhaps to 19:8, where the βύσσινον λαμπρὸν καθαρόν represents the righteous acts of the saints. Interesting that in both other instances of Revelation of bright clean linen, it is not the word λινον but βύσσινον. See the endnote in my longer version of Revelation, for the Greek text of Oecumenius' commentary.

Hoskier says Ethiopic reads qui fuisti et eris "who you were and will be," but his Latin is from the Walton Polyglot's Latin translation of the Ethiopic, which is known to be a poor translation by Dudley Loftus. The Ethiopic is probably more legitimately into Latin as qui fuisti et eris, "who you were and will be." But the verb's linear aspect could have a future meaning too.

7And I heard the altar saying, "Agreed, Lord God Almighty, your punishments are true and just."

8And the fourth angel poured out his bowl on the sun. And it was given to the sun to scorch the people by fire. 9And the people were burned a very bad burn, and they cursed the name of God, the one having authority over these plagues, yet they did not repent to give him glory.

10And the fifth angel poured out his bowl on the throne of the beast. And his kingdom became covered in darkness. And they were biting their tongues in pain, and they cursed the God of heaven, because of their pains and because of their ulcers, yet they did not repent of their works.

And it caused its water to dry up, so that a route was prepared for the kings from the east. 13And I saw coming from the mouth of the dragon, and from the mouth of the beast, and from the mouth of the false prophet, three unclean spirits, like frogs; 14for they are spirits of demons performing miracles, which are going out to the kings of the whole world, to gather them together for the war of the great day of God Almighty. 15(Behold, I am coming like a thief. The trouble with the English suffix "-ed" to show passive voice, is that it also is used to show past tense in a verb that is not passive. In other words, I could have said, "And the water of it was dried up," but in English that can sound like a past tense statement that says the water was already dried up. It is part of the meaning transfer to show that it was the 6th bowl that caused the Euphrates River to dry up. In American English the passive is disappearing, for some unjustifiable reason.

II Chron. 35:22; Judges 1:27 The triumvirate 82, 627, 920 unites here against all uncials - a sign of a definitely wrong reading. Hoskier lists the old Uncials Ν A as having the rough breathing, but he listed the smooth and rough together, only occasionally specifying the breaking breath, which I have shown in an endnote. Here is a snip from Codex Alexandrinus, by which you can see that Codex A has no diacritics.

Chapter 17

The Mysterious Prostitute

1 Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls came and spoke with me, saying, "Come, I will show you the judgment of the great prostitute who sits on many waters, 2 with whom the kings of the earth have fornicated. And those dwelling on the earth have become intoxicated from the wine of her fornication."

3 And he carried me away in the Spirit to a wilderness. And I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast that had seven heads and ten horns, which was full of blasphemous names. 4 And the woman was dressed in purple and scarlet, and covered with gold and precious stones and pearls, holding a golden cup in her hand, full of abominations and the uncleanness of her prostitution. 5 And on her forehead a title was written:

A Mystery
Babylon the Great,
the mother of prostitutes and of the abominations of the earth.

6 And I saw the woman drunk from the blood of the saints and from the blood of Jesus’ witnesses. And I was astonished when I saw her, with a great astonishment.

7 And the angel said to me, "Why are you astonished? I will declare to you the mystery of the woman, and of the beast carrying her which has the seven heads and ten horns. 8 The beast which you saw, was, and now is not, and in the future is to rise again from the Abyss, and then is to destruction.

17:8b The phrase "in the future is to" is from the Greek word mēllō, which often means, but does not always mean "about to." Often in the New Testament it means "is destined to," which is part of the meaning here. And often it makes a simple future infinitive, by being used with an infinitive following, as is the case here. Bauer says this phrase, a combination of mēllō followed by a present infinitive, replaced the future infinitive verb of Classical Greek. See also BDF §338(3), which says the same thing, but see BDF §356 about the "imminence" meaning of the paraphrasis of mēllō followed by a present infinitive.

on the earth will be amazed when they see the beast, anyone whose name has not been written in the book of life since the foundation of the world, for it was, and is not, and will be.

"Consider this, O mind having wisdom: the seven heads are seven mountains, where the woman sits on them. They are also seven kings. Five have fallen, one is, the other has not yet appeared, and when he appears, he must continue a little while. And the beast which was and is not, he also is an eighth king, and from the seven he is, and to destruction he is going.

And the ten horns which you saw, they are ten kings who have not yet received kingship; they only receive authority as kings for one hour with the beast. These have one purpose, and they give their power and authority to the beast. These will make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb will overcome them, because he is lord of lords, and king of kings, and those with him are the called, and elect, and faithful."

And he says to me, "The waters which you saw, where the prostitute sits, they are peoples and populaces, and ethnic groups and languages. And the ten horns which you saw, and the beast, these will hate the prostitute, and they will lay her waste, and bare, and eat her flesh, and burn her up with fire. For God has given it into their hearts, to carry out that purpose of His, even to perform one single purpose, and that is to give their kingdoms to the beast, until the words of God are accomplished. And the woman which you saw is that great city that has rule over the kings of the earth."

Chapter 18

Fallen Is Babylon the Great

1 After these things I saw another angel coming down out of heaven, having great authority, and the earth was lit up from his glory. And he cried out in a powerful voice, saying, "Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great, and has become the dwelling place of demons and the haunt of every unclean spirit and the haunt of every unclean bird, and the haunt of every unclean and detestable beast, because every nation has drunk of the wine of the wrath of her prostitution, and the kings of the earth have fornicated with her, and the merchants of the earth by virtue of her luxury have become rich."

4 And I heard another voice from heaven saying, "Get out, O my people, out of her, so that you not be parties to her sins, and not receive of her plagues. For her sins are piled up to the sky, and God has remembered her crimes.

204 18:2b The Textus Receptus, the Robinson-Pierpont, and the Tyndale House texts do not include the phrase "and the haunt of every unclean beast." They end it with "and the haunt of every unclean and detestable bird." Practically all MSS contain the unclean spirits, and regarding the remaining two items in the NA28 reading—unclean birds and unclean beasts, both are to be found in Isaiah 13:21-22; 34:11. And since all three phrases begin and end similarly, there was "ample occasion for accidental omission," according to the UBS Committee. But they give their reading a {C} rating of certainty because of the strength of the witness list for the reading of Ν 046 051 and the majority.

\(^{208}\) 18:6 The MSS 296 and 2049 do not count, as they are hand-written copies of printed TR editions, after the fact.

\(^{209}\) 18:7 The word horáō here means to see in the sense of to experience something. The whole verse emphasizes experience of the senses, and sensuality in general. Earlier in the verse, the word strēniāō means to "live luxuriously, sensually," which again is the idea of enjoying one's senses and experiencing good feeling things. So now she is condemned to experience bad things, since she earlier had experienced only good things, compare Luke 16:25, where Abraham said to the rich man, "Son, recall that in your lifetime, you received your good things, while Lazarus likewise received his bad; so now here, he is comforted, and you are suffering." And Luke 6:24, 25: "But woe to you who are rich, because you have received your share of comfort. Woe to you who are well fed now, for you will go hungry. Woe to you who are laughing now, for you will mourn and weep."

\(^{210}\) 18:8 Or possibly, "How has your doom come in one hour." See footnote on 18:17.

\(^{211}\) 18:10a All the nominative definite articles must be used for vocatives here, because the quotation ends with the second person pronoun, sou.

\(^{212}\) 18:10b The Greek says "thuonic wood." There was a "thuon tree" that grew in north Africa. The most important property of this tree is that its wood was burnt in offerings in ceremonies. Furniture made out of its wood was in popular demand. Its resin was valued not only for ceremonial incense, but may have been medicinally used, as an anti-biotic, anti-fungal and anti-wart. Some say this was the citron tree, also grown in north Africa, and valued for its resin and durable wood. They claim that for the Jewish feast of Booths, there developed a custom, based on the command in Leviticus 23:40 to "take the fruit of the goodliest tree" the custom to use the cedar cone in the ceremonies. But then that the custom changed to using citron fruit, with the Greek name for cedar, kedron, held over and applied to the citron. And that the Greek word for bodies and souls of human beings.

14 And your fruit, 216 what your soul had lusted for, has left you; yes, all the luxuries and the splendor, have vanished from you, and never shall men find 217 them again.

15 Those merchants who became rich from her will stand afar off for the horror of her torment, weeping and mourning, 16 saying, "Alas, Alas, great city dressed in fine 17 That this kind of wealth has been ruined in one hour!"

And every pilot and everyone sailing toward the place, 220 and mariners and such as work the sea, stood afar off, 18 and cried out, watching the smoke of her fire, saying, "What city is like the great city?" 19 And they threw dust above their heads cedar, κέδρον - kedron, was latinized into citron. I don't know how valid that is, since there was a specific Greek word for citron, κίτρον - kitéron. And this word was said by Pamphilus to be a word borrowed from Latin. The citron tree does have aromatic resin that was valued. This passage in Revelation does not mention how thuonic wood was used, but it reminds me of the Greek word for offering, thumos. I am not convinced that the thuon tree was the same as the citron tree. On the other hand, the Latin name thuja plicata, a kind of cedar with overlapping scale-like leaves, is said to be borrowed from the Greek word thuon. There is a tree in North America called thuja plicata, also known as red cedar. Obviously, this could hardly be the tree meant here in Revelation. But what all these trees have in common is aromatic properties - resins and hydrocarbons, that could be used for offerings as a pleasing aroma.

And the beast was arrested, and with him the false prophet who did the wonders before him by which he deceived those receiving the mark of the beast and worshiping his image. The two were thrown while living into the lake of fire burning with sulfur.

Chapter 20

The One Thousand Years

And I saw an angel coming down from heaven, holding the key to the abyss and a giant chain in his hand. And he captured the dragon, the ancient serpent, which is the Devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years, and cast him into the abyss, and closed and sealed it over him, so that he could no longer deceive the nations, until the end of the thousand years; after them he must be released for a short time.

And I saw thrones, and they took their seat on them, and judgeship was given to them, that is, the souls of those beheaded because of the testimony of Jesus, because of the word of God, and who did not worship the beast, neither the image of him, and did not take the mark on their forehead or on their hand. And they came to life, and reigned with Christ a thousand years. (The rest of the dead did not come to life until the thousand years were finished.) This is the first resurrection. Blessed and holy is he who takes part in the first resurrection; over such, the second death has no power, but instead they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.

The Last War

7And when the thousand years are finished, Satan shall be released from his prison, and he shall go forth to deceive the nations which are in the four points of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together for war, the number of them being as the sand of the seashore. And they rose up over the breadth of the earth, and surrounded the company of the saints and the beloved city. And fire came down from heaven and consumed them. 10And the Devil, the deceiver of them, was cast into the lake of fire and sulfur, where also the beast and false prophet were, and they shall be tormented day and night, for ever and ever.

The Great White Throne of Judgement

11And I saw a great white throne, and the one sitting on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away, and their place was found no more. And I saw the dead, the great and the small, standing before the throne, and books were opened. Another book was also opened, which is the book of life. And the dead were judged from what was written in the books, according to their works. The River of Living Water 1And he showed me the river of the water of life, bright like crystal, flowing from the throne of God and of the Lamb in the middle of its boulevard. And on either side of the river, the tree of life producing twelve fruits, according to the month each one yielding its fruit, and the leaves of the tree are for the healing of the nations. 3And every accursed thing will no longer exist. And the throne of God and of the Lamb will be in it, and his servants will serve him, and they will see his face, and his name will be on their foreheads. And night will no longer exist.

Affecting this and other variants in Revelation is the scribes’ and the interpreters’ understanding of passages such as 22:15, "Outside are the dogs, etc." If one understands that passage to mean that there will still be wicked and accursed people on the earth at that time, only not allowed into the city, then you might want to specify here that no accursed thing will be "there" in the city itself. But if you understand that "outside" to not be spatially literal, but rather global, that they will not even be in the kingdom even outside the city, then the "no longer" variant is more acceptable. One wonders too, concerning the similar phrase in 22:5 a couple verses later, how or whether these two pulled on each other. English translations vary greatly as to which variant, "no longer" versus "there," that they follow (several even conflate the two). They also vary greatly as to whether the phrase pān katāthema means "any curse" or "any accursed thing." I went with the latter because Revelation shows a distinct concern with Jewish cleanliness.

I am a fellow servant of yours and of your brothers the prophets, and of those keeping the words of this book. Worship God."

9And he says to me, "Do not seal up the words of the prophecy of this book, for the time is near. 10He who is doing wrong, let him continue to do wrong, and the unclean continue to be unclean, and he who is doing good continue to do good, and the holy continue to be holy."

Behold, I am Coming Soon

11"Behold, I am coming soon, and the repayment from me along with me, to pay back to each one such as his work truly is. I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end."
14"Blessed are those who wash their robes," so that access to the tree of life will be theirs, and to the gates, so they may go into the city. 15Outside are dogs, and sorcerers, and fornicators and murderers and idolaters and anyone who loves or does falsehood.

16"I Jesus have sent my angel to testify these things to you regarding the churches. I am the root and line of David, the bright and morning star."

17And the Spirit and the bride say, "Come." And he who is hearing this should say "Come." And he who is thirsty, should come. Whoever wants to, get the water of life without cost.

18I testify to everyone who is hearing these words of the prophecy of this book: if anyone adds to them, God will add to him the plagues that are written in this book; and if anyone takes away from the words of this book of prophecy, God will take away his share of the tree of life and of the holy city, of what is written in this book.

The exact TR reading is found in only two Greek manuscripts, 296 and 2049, (plus margin of 2067 in a very late hand) but these two, 296 & 2049 do not count, since both are 16th century manuscripts (Hoskier’s numbers, 57 & 141) that were handwritten copies made from the TR itself, according to Hoskier (see table at end of this document). One cannot use a copy of the TR to prove that a TR reading is found in Greek manuscripts. A plausible theory as to the origin of the reading is that it is probably from the Latin, and maybe confusion of libro and ligno. Proof that Erasmus got this “book" reading from the Latin is the fact that his one Greek Revelation manuscript, 2814, formerly known as No. 1, had an exact sister manuscript not known to him at the time, and this manuscript, 2186 (208), did not lack the end verses. bottom of page 1:615, Hoskier says, "This MS 187 with 57 and 141 must not be accorded any weight whatsoever. They are brought into the record because of their very connection with the printed text." Moreover, there should remain no doubt that Erasmus himself admitted that his TR Greek text of Revelation 22:16–21 was from Latin sources and not Greek. Erasmus wrote: "There was no doubt that some things were missing, and it was not much. Therefore we completed the Greek from our Latin texts, so that there might be no gap. We did not want to hide this from the reader, however, and acknowledge in the Annotationes what we had done, in order that, if our words differed in some respect from those that the author of this work had provided, the reader who obtained a manuscript could restore them." See Jan Krans' book "Beyond What is Written, Erasmus and Beza as Conjectural Critics of the New Testament," pp. 55–57, Brill, (2006), in which he cites sources in Erasmus' writings. The Ν reading is bolstered by another uncial, 052, in the form of its minuscule descendants 1678 1778, plus with the minuscules 2053 2062 2186 2329 added to them. This consortium is at least as good as A 046, and certainly better than 051 supp as a lone uncial. The 922 reading is simply a mistaking of ΝΑΙ for ΚΑΙ. I think that the Ν reading is probably correct. At the same time, I am loathe to remove the word Amen, because it is so natural- my soul immediately exclaims it in response to the statement "Yes, I am coming soon." But that may be another explanation as to how and why it got added as text: perhaps an enthusiastic remark in the margin eventually made it into the text itself.

"Angel" of each of the seven churches, or "messenger?"

The phrase "angel of" can mean the angel "in charge of" as in the following:
There was an "angel of the waters" in Rev. 16:5.
Angels of children in Matt. 18:10.
Angel of the fire, Rev. 14:18
Angel of the censer 8:3
Angel of the Abyss, 9:11

There is nothing unusual about God using an angel to deliver a message to humans. There are many, many such instances elsewhere in the Bible. Why not here? And according Hebrews 13:2, people have entertained angels without knowing it. Indeed, angels in the Old Testament often appeared as humans; see Gen. 16:7; 19:1; and many others.

The spies are called angels in James 2:25

The angel Gabriel, in Daniel 9:21, communicates between Daniel and God. In Daniel 10:12-14, Gabriel tells Daniel that in the process of delivering Daniel’s prayers, an angel, or fallen angel to be exact, whom he called the "prince of the kingdom of Persia, hindered him in delivering those prayers, but Michael, whom he calls “one of the chief princes” and whom we know is an angel, helped Gabriel. The point I am making is that there was "an angel of Persia," that is, a fallen angel in charge of Persia. So also there was a "Prince of Greece," in Daniel 10:20. This is left over from when Satan used to be an archangel along with Michael and Gabriel. They set angels over certain territories in their military planning.

Angel acts as messenger in Rev. 1:1; 22:6, 16.

It does not make sense for the messengers of each church to be a man. Because the churches had more than one pastor in each church, they are always mentioned in the plural:

When they had ordained elders in every church, Acts 14:23.
Elders of the church in Ephesus, Acts 20:17
Ordain elders in every city, Titus 1:5
Let him call for the elders of the church, James 5:14.
I Peter 5:1,2, "The elders among you I exhort, overseers of the flock..." Here Peter equates elders, presbuteroi, with overseers, episkopoi "bishops."
Acts 20:28, (see 20:17, elders of the church of Ephesus, 20:28, Paul now calls them overseers, episkopoi, so Paul also equates presbuteroi with episkopoi.
Philippians 1:1, the church there has plural overseers.
Titus 1:5, 7 Paul says appoint elders...for an overseer is... Paul again equates an elder with an overseer.

We can say that the office of elder and the office of overseer are the same office. The overseers should naturally be somewhat elder, especially elder in the faith (I Timothy 3:6, he must not be a recent convert) and one of their main functions is to both oversee and to visit; both meanings of episkopew.

Why not an angel in charge of each church in Asia. It would not be unreasonable to assume that there is a fallen angel in charge of each church as well, representing Satan’s interests.

Revelation 3:1

This is a very difficult variant, which I rate as [D]. See the long endnote following the text of Revelation. The NA28/TH and TR say essentially the same thing, except that the possessive pronoun in the TR for "their," follows the noun God, making it more emphatic. It could be that the original reading was the P 051 TR reading, θεος ημων, "God himself will be with them" as his own name in verse 8, and also by way of his own name Emmanuel, in Isaiah 7:14, 8:8; Matt 1:23: "Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Emmanuel, 'God with us.' " But the UBS committee commentary suggests that this Is 7:14 connection could have originally been a marginal note that became incorporated into the text.

If so, does the future verb θαναι, "shall be" couple to both "with them" and "their God"? So the KJV, NKJV, NIV, GW, NCV, ISV, HCSB, CSB, syrh say something like "God himself will be with them and will be their God." But the ESV, NAB, Mounce say, "God himself will be with them as their God." Then we have the NCB which reads "and he will be their God, God-with-them." The Geneva Bible reads: "God himself shall be their God with them." And the CJB reads: "he himself, God-with-them, will be their God." These last three apparently interpret the passage as meant to bring to mind Emmanuel, in Isaiah 7:14, 8:8; Matt 1:23: "Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Emmanuel, 'God with us.' " But the UBS committee commentary suggests that this Is 7:14 connection could have originally been a marginal note that became incorporated into the text.

They also suggest that αυτων θεος, "he shall be their God," could have been added by a copyist thinking that there needed to be a parallel phrase to complement the earlier αυτοι λαι ου αυτοι ο θεος αυτων θεος αυτων, "they shall be his people." They also point out that the word order θεος αυτων is more consistent with the Apocalypticist's style than is αυτων θεος.

The MSS 1678, 1778, and 2080 are direct descendants of the Uncial 052, and are often quite instructive. (Hoskier says this 052 text is 50 years older than that of K.) Usually they, 052, are united, but here, 1678 follows one line (052 I believe) and 1778* the other- K, while 2080 apparently conflates the two. The K branch reads in English: "Behold, God's tent is with humanity. And he shall dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them" This therefore states three times in one verse that God will be with them! This might seem quite improbable as the original reading. So naturally, there arises the argument that the last phrase "he shall be with them" was deliberately edited out as superfluous. The text of 1678 is attractive. Most all the other witnesses listed in this variant have the words o θεος preceeding, but 1678 reads only και αυτος η αυτων θεος: "Behold, God's tent is with humanity, and they shall be his people, and he shall be their God."

But we probably dare not have a translation based upon the reading of one minuscule. I decided to be conservative and go with what Tyndale and the King James Version have.

Endnote #3

Revelation 7:6, 8

In this list of the sons of Israel, as pertaining to the 144,000, 12,000 called from each tribe of Israel, Joseph is represented twice, as his own name in verse 8, and also by way of his son Manasseh in verse 6. Israel had only 12 sons, so if Joseph is represented twice, that means that one of the other sons of Israel is missing here. Dan is missing.
Jacob's blessing of Dan:

Genesis:
49:16 Dan shall judge his people, as one of the tribes of Israel.
49:17 Dan shall be a serpent in the way, an adder in the path, that bites the horse's heels, so that his rider falls backward.
49:18 I have waited for your salvation, O Yahweh.

Recall similar language about the Serpent: Biting heels Attacking the rider on the horse Does Jacob seem to be wanting Deliverance from Dan? Jacob waits for Salvation from Dan is what I think it means. Recall also that Satan is called the Accuser of the Brethren. Dan could be a judge in this sense.

Jacob's blessing of Joseph:

Genesis:
49:22 Joseph is a fruitful bough, a fruitful bough by a fountain; his branches run over the wall.
49:23 The archers have sorely grieved him, and shot at him, and persecute him:
49:24 But his bow abode in strength, and the arms of his hands were made strong, by the hands of the Mighty One of Jacob, (From there is the shepherd, the stone of Israel),
49:25 Even by the God of your father, who shall help you, and by the Almighty, who shall bless you, with blessings of heaven above, blessings of the deep that crouches beneath, blessings of the breasts, and of the womb.
49:26 The blessings of your father have prevailed above the blessings of my progenitors to the utmost bound of the everlasting hills: They shall be on the head of Joseph, and on the crown of the head of him that was separate from his brothers.

Moses' blessing of Dan:

Deuteronomy 33:22 "And of Dan he said, Dan is a lion's whelp, That leaps forth from Bashan."

Recall Psalm 22 "bulls of Bashan surround me..."? The Bull is sometimes a symbol of Satan. Baal-zibbul. Jesus was mocked by bulls of Bashan as he suffered on the cross. Bashan was the territory of Dan.

Moses' blessing of Joseph:

33:13 And of Joseph he said, Blessed of Yahweh be his land, for the precious things of heaven, for the dew, and for the deep that crouches beneath,
33:14 And for the precious things of the fruits of the sun, and for the precious things of the growth of the moons,
33:15 And for the chief things of the ancient mountains, and for the precious things of the everlasting hills,
33:16 And for the precious things of the earth and the fulness thereof, and the good will of him that dwelt in the bush. Let the blessing come upon the head of Joseph, and upon the crown of the head of him that was separate from his brothers.
33:17 The firstling of his herd, majesty is his; and his horns are the horns of the wild-ox: with them he shall push the peoples all of them, even the ends of the earth: and they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, And they are the thousands of Manasseh.

God's curse on the serpent:
Genesis 3:14 And Yahweh God said to the serpent, because you have done this, cursed are you above all cattle, and above every beast of the field; upon your belly shall you go, and dust shall you eat all the days of your life:
3:15 and I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her seed: he shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise his heel.

David:

109:8 Let his days be few; and let another take his office.
109:9 Let his children be fatherless, and his wife a widow.
109:10 Let his children be vagabonds, and beg; and let them seek their bread out of their desolate places.
109:11 Let the extortioner catch all that he has; and let strangers make spoil of his labor.
109:12 Let there be none to extend kindness unto him; neither let there be any to have pity on his fatherless children.
109:13 Let his posterity be cut off; in the generation following let their name be blotted out.

Ezekiel 47:13 "Thus saith the Lord Yahweh: This shall be the border, whereby ye shall divide the land for inheritance according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph shall have two portions."

Genesis 49:22, of Joseph: "His branches run over the wall."
This means Joseph went over the wall and took Dan's inheritance. That is what the wall signifies; the stone boundary between lots.
