Footnote Apparatus

I have tried to list all major Greek textual variants, and many of the minor ones. Variants that are not translatable into English are usually marked within the Greek text, and those that can affect the English rendering, marked in the English text. If this document is an edition without the Greek text alternating verse by verse with the English, then that explains why you might find a footnote referenced to "19:3c" but there are no footnotes for 19:3b or a. Those other two footnotes may be found in an edition that has the Greek text included.

The footnotes about Greek textual variants are in the following format. Here is a fictional footnote for an example.

19:15a txt {A} "of iron" A 046 0226 205 209 2344 MIa Jtavr vgww sryph copsa Cyprian Irenaeus
TR NA27 {\} // "two-edged" Ν P 1006 1841 1854 2030 2329 MIk itiğ vgcl sryh copbo arm eth
Ambrose Primasius RP.

The 19:15a means it is a footnote about chapter 19 v. 15, and the "a" implies that there is at least one other footnote about the verse. The letters "txt" mean that the text of my English translation follows the first (next) reading given. Next comes my rating of my certainty for this variant, as a capital letter in curly brackets.. Not all variants have one, since I am still developing my opinions thereon.

After that come a literal translation of the word(s) upon which my translation is based.

Next comes the listing of Greek manuscripts, first for the reading I translated, then any other variants, separated by "//". (Regarding the Greek manuscripts, their description, date, and genealogy, etc., see the table at the end of the document.) Uncials (mss. whose text is written in all capital letters) are listed first (those designated by a capital Hebrew, Latin or Greek letter, or a number starting with a zero), then minuscules (those designated by a number not starting with a zero), then early versions into other languages; first the italic, then vulgate editions, then Syriac, then Coptic, then others less important such as Armenian and Ethiopic. After that come early church fathers, if any.

Lastly, I list which ones out of six Greek New Testament editions follow that reading. They are listed in the following sequence as well. The letters TR stand for the 1550 Stephanus Textus Receptus; RP means the Robinson-Pierpont 2005 edition; NA27 means the Nestle-Aland 27th edition, and lastly, the curly brackets {B} contain the rating of certainty given in the UBS4, the United Bible Societies' 4th Edition. When there is a left slash in the brackets like this, {\}, that means that the UBS4 has neither footnote nor rating on that variant.

There are over 300 Greek handwritten manuscripts containing Revelation or a portion thereof. Not all of them are significant or important as pertaining to textual criticism, to grossly underestimate the matter. H. C. Hoskier, in the introduction to his apparatus in Concerning the Text of the Apocalypse, Volume 2, on p. 7 states, "There are two streams of the text of the Apocalypse, one Ecclesiastical and one extra-Ecclesiastical, which only join far back and high amongst the hills near the primal fount.” Though I don't necessarily subscribe to that nomenclature, I, after for a while listing the readings of all 300-plus manuscripts, realized that doing so was little more informative than listing only those from approximately the 9th century and earlier.

Hoskier has well pointed out how the uncials of the Revelation text are all over the place, with many omissions and additions. The wildest of them all in Revelation is Sinaiticus. The only uncial that is not “all over the place,” but which seems to represent a standardized majority text, is the uncial 046 (called B in his work). Hoskier on p. xxvii of Volume One of "Concerning the Text of the Apocalypse," calls this the "B revision, which was made in the VIIth century.” On p. xxxvi he calls it the "B recension.” He goes on to say, "roughly speaking, B and cursive groups may be neglected if opposed by a consensus of the older uncials, Versions and Fathers. If on the other hand B is joined Aleph, A or C, the greater weight can only be overborne by other subsidiary evidence, and if B have the support of Aleph A or C A together, we must grant the group a full hearing.” In the same paragraph, he declares that Erasmus and Stephen relied on just a few MSS that were faulty in certain particulars. And that we should restore from Tischendorf, Tregelles and Wescott and Hort readings taken away from the TR solely on the basis of one uncial like Aleph or A. With this all I agree.

I have in August 2015 adopted the sigla conventions of the NA28 for the correctors of Codex Sinaiticus in Revelation, and updated my apparatus accordingly:

Hoskier declared that the uncial 046 is a highly edited and smoothed-over text. Therefore, when 046 departs from MOST other uncials, its reading is highly dubious. When 046 differs from ALL other uncials, its reading is surely false. This fact gives greater value to any minuscules that do not always follow 046, and diminishes the value of those that do. Minuscules that depart are 922 1006 1611 1678 1778 1828 1841 2020 2050 2053 2062 2065 2080 2329 2344 2351, and many of these are also quite early for Apocalypse minuscules. Consequently, these have greater value than other minuscules Minuscules that slavishly follow 046 are 82, 627, 920, 2020, 2040, 2053, 2065, 2080, 2329, 2344, 2351, and many of these are also quite early for Apocalypse minuscules. Consequently, these have greater value than other minuscules Minuscules that slavishly follow 046 are 82, 627, 920, 2138. When these minuscules are not in unity, you will find a difference usually between the Hodges/Farstad majority text vv. the Robinson/Pierpont majority text. In many of these instances, the Robinson text has recently moved toward the correct reading, away from Hodges/Farstad. Where the conjunction of 82, 627, 920 opposes another edition, there you have clearly different text streams. Where minuscules 82, 627, 920 line up against most of the uncials, their reading is highly doubtful. Where these three line up with 046 against all other uncials, you have a false reading, a wrong reading in the Majority Text. For example, omit ἡλίου in 22:5c. There are also places where these three line up against all uncials and all early versions, even against 046; there you have most definitely, absolutely, a wrong reading in the Hodges/Farstad edition, in my opinion.

It would seem that many might agree with F.H.A. Scrivener, who said on p. 277 of Vol. 2 of "Criticism of the New Testament," as follows: "If the question be fairly proposed, 'What right have we to set virtually aside the agreement in the main of our oldest uncials, at the distance of one or two centuries—of which, owing probably to the results of persecution, we have no MS. remains—with the citations of the primitive Fathers, and with the ancient versions?: the answer must be rendered, without hesitation, 'no right whatsoever.' Where the oldest of these authorities really agree, we accept their united testimony as practically conclusive. It is not at all our design to seek our readings from the later uncials, supported as they usually are by the mass of cursive manuscripts; but to employ their confessedly secondary evidence in those numberless instances wherein their elder brethren are hopelessly at variance, eg. Matt. 1:18, Acts 8:37 for Irenaeus, Acts 13:33 for Origen. It is rare indeed that the express testimony of a Father is so fully confirmed by the oldest copies as in John 1:28, where Ἑβανγελία, said by Origen to be σχεδὸν ἐν πάσι τοῖς ἀντιγράφοις, actually appears in ℵ* A B C*.

There are several places in Revelation where Codex A shows that it is an older text, with older readings, prior to editing and standardization. I agree the UBS/NA editors in that they appear to value Codex A extremely highly for Revelation.

I have come up with 20 test passages, by which to classify the main Apocalypse manuscripts. The manuscripts may be placed on a continuum as shown below, with Codex A being on one end, and 757 the other, as the texts most differing from each other. And that continuum roughly corresponds to the GNT editions which line up like this:

NA27 TR RP HF PK.

A C \(\Psi^{47}\) \(\Psi^{18}\) 0207 2080 1678 1778 2062 \(\Psi^{119}\) 2053 1611 2050 1841 \(\mathsf{\kappa}^{}\) 1006 \(\Psi^{43}\) 2020 0163 2040 2329 2065 99 469 616 181 69 459 424 1862 1888 P 172 922 2814 1828 2060 2084 2074 2186 \(\mathsf{\kappa}^{2}\) 2351 61 2081 2302 792 1732 104 1854 2059 2019 2436 35 256 046 94 175 241 2017 2042 051* 2256 18 1859 1384 1852 2073 1733 2030 367 920 82 456 627 2138 468 2070 467 757 35c 051c

In the years since I completed my translation of the Revelation of John, I have received criticism from readers that I, like the UBS and the NA27, was cherry-picking what manuscripts I cited in my footnote apparatus. So, to solve that complaint, I have changed to using one very objective and indisputable criterion: I cite ALL witnesses 9th century and earlier, and I cite NO witnesses later than the 9th century. Consistently cited Greek witnesses therefore in this edition without the Greek text interlinear (where text is extant) for Revelation are these thirty-one: \(\Psi^{18}\), \(\Psi^{24}\), \(\Psi^{43}\), \(\Psi^{47}\), \(\Psi^{85}\), \(\Psi^{98}\), \(\Psi^{115}\), \(\mathsf{\kappa}\), A, C, P, 052, 0163, 0169, 0207, 0308. If there is a hiatus in any of the above, it will be noted, except if that manuscript is only a fragment anyway. Fragmentary mss. not therefore listed for hiatus, would be: \(\Psi^{18}\), \(\Psi^{24}\), \(\Psi^{43}\), \(\Psi^{47}\), \(\Psi^{85}\), \(\Psi^{98}\), \(\Psi^{115}\), 052, 0163, 0169, 0207, 0308. If you want to find out the readings of many of the minuscules, you can read the endnotes in the back of my longer edition; and to a lesser degree, in its footnotes. We really should not include anywhere, mss. 296 and 2049, which were merely handwritten copies of printed editions. Hoskier stated this plainly in several places of his work; see the table of MSS. at the end of the above-linked longer document.
The Revelation of John

Chapter 1

Prologue

¹The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave to him, to show to his servants what things must soon take place, and which he signified when he sent it via his angel to his servant John, ²who has confirmed as the word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ, what all things¹ he saw.²

³Blessed are the one reading and those listening to the words of this prophecy, and keeping the things written herein, for the time is near.

⁴John, to the seven churches in Asia, grace to you, and peace, from Him³ who is, and who was, and who is to come, and from the seven spirits before his throne,⁵ and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness,⁴ the firstborn from the dead, and ruler over the kings of the earth. To him who loves us and freed⁵ us from our sins with⁶ his blood,⁷ and made us into a kingdom of priests⁷ for his God and Father— to him be glory and power, for ever and ever. Amen.

⁸Behold, he is coming with the clouds, and every eye shall see him, including of those who pierced him. And all the peoples of the earth shall beat their breasts over him.

The TR reading is based on about eight late and unimportant mss. The first reading preserves the formula for the divine name that had arisen from rabbinical exegesis of Exodus 3:14 ἐγώ εἰμι ὁ ὤν (עָנָן יְהוָה) ἐξ θεοῦ.
⁴1:5a Or, "the faithful martyr." The Greek word translated witness here is martyr, and there is good reason it came to have the connotation of one who is killed for his witness. For that is what happened to Jesus Christ, and also to Antipas, mentioned later in this book in 2:13, where he is also called a faithful witness/martyr.

The "freed" reading is reminiscent of λέλυται αὐτῆς ἡ ἁμαρτία in Isaiah 40:2, and it fits better with the preposition ἐν, see other footnote on this verse.
⁶1:5c This is a Hebraistic use of the preposition "en" meaning "with" in the sense of what item or money you use to pay for something. For example, "I bought the camera with the money you gave me." Jesus' blood was the thing of value exchanged for our freedom. This use of this preposition is a pointer in favor of the "freed" reading versus the "washed" reading, according to the Textual Commentary on the Greek New Testament. That copyists, not understanding this, thought that "washed in" made more sense than "freed in."
⁷1:6c See Mussies, G., "The Morphology of Koine Greek, as used in the Apocalypse of St. John: A Study in Bilingualism," Leiden, Brill Academic Pub. Novum Testamentum , Suppl. 27 (1971), "This line, as Charles has pointed out, is a quotation from Symmachus' and Theodotion's rather literal versions of Exodus 19:6, 'a kingdom of priests'. The LXX-version has βασιλείαν ἱερέων (quoted in 1 Peter 2:9), and Aquila translated by βασιλείαν ιερέων. Editors should therefore not place a comma after βασιλείαν, as ἱερεῖς is not an apposition, but represents a more grammatical ιερέων." (genitive plural)
⁸1:7 Daniel 7:13

8 "I am the Alpha and the Omega," says the Lord God, "the one who is, and who was, and who is to come, the Almighty."

Someone Like a Son of Man

9 I, John, your brother and fellow in the oppression and kingdom and endurance in Jesus, was on the island called Patmos because of the word of God and the testimony of Jesus, 10 was in the Spirit during the Lord's day, and I heard behind me a loud voice, like of a trumpet, 11 saying, 12 "What you see, write in a book, and send it to the seven churches— to Ephesus, and to Smyrna, and to Pergamum, and to Thyatira, and to Sardis, and to Philadelphia, and to Laodicea."

12 And I turned around to see the voice that was speaking with me. And when I turned, I saw seven golden lampstands, and in among the lampstands was someone like a son of man, dressed in a cloak reaching down to his feet, and gird around at the pecs with a golden sash, except his head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow, and his eyes like flames of fire, and his feet like bronze as if made to glow in a furnace, and his voice like the sound of many waters, and he was holding in his right hand seven stars, and out of his mouth was coming a sharp two-edged sword, and his face was like the sun shining in the strength of it.

For more information, see the source.
And when I saw him, I fell down by his feet as though dead. And he placed his right hand on me, saying, "Do not fear. I am the First and the Last, and the Living One, and I was dead, and behold, living for ever and ever, and I have the keys of death and of Hades.

Write therefore what things you see and what things are now, and also what things are about to take place after these things. The mystery of the seven stars which you see upon my right hand, and the seven golden lampstands: The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands are the seven churches.

Chapter 2

To the Church in Ephesus

"To the angel of the church in Ephesus, write: 'These things says He who grips the seven stars in his right hand, who walks among the seven golden lampstands:

I know your works, and your toil and endurance, and how you are not able to tolerate evil people, and have put to the test those who call themselves apostles and are not and have found them to be liars; and you have endurance, and have held up for the sake of my name, and not become weary.

But I have against you that you have left your first love. Remember therefore from where you have fallen, and repent and do your first works; otherwise I am coming to you, and will remove your lampstand from its place, unless you repent.

But this you have, that you hate the deeds of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.

He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. To him who overcomes, I will grant to eat from the tree of life, which is in the paradise of God.

To the Church in Smyrna

And to the angel of the church in Smyrna, write: 'These things says the First and the Last, who was dead and came alive again: I know your affliction and your poverty (but you are rich) and the blasphemy of those claiming to be Jews and are not but are a synagogue of Satan. Don't be afraid of any of the things you are about to suffer. Behold, the devil is about to throw some of you into prison, so that you may be tried, and you will have affliction for ten days. Be faithful until death, and I will give you the crown of life. He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. He who overcomes will certainly not be harmed by the second death.

To the Church in Pergamum

12 And to the angel of the church in Pergamum, write: ‘These things says He who has the sharp two-edged sword: 13 I know where you live, yet you hold fast to my law and have not denied my faith, even in the days of Antipas my faithful witness who was put to death near you, where Satan lives.

14 But I have a few things against you, that you have some who hold to the teaching of Balaam, who taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, to eat idol sacrifices and to commit sexual immorality. 15 So also in the same way you have some who hold to the teaching of the Nicolaitans.

16 Repent therefore. Otherwise I am coming to you soon, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

17 He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. He who overcomes, I will give to him from the hidden manna, and I will also give him a white stone, and on the stone a new name is written, which no one knows except the one receiving it.

To the Church in Thyatira

18 And to the angel of the church in Thyatira, write: ‘These things says the Son of God, he who has his eyes like flames of fire and his feet like glowing bronze: 19 I know your works and love and faith and service, and your perseverance, how your last works are greater than your first.

20 But I have against you that you tolerate that woman Jezebel, who calls herself a prophetess and teaches, and leads my servants astray, to commit sexual immorality.
immorality and to eat things sacrificed to idols. ²¹ And I have given her time to repent, and she is not willing to repent of her sexual immorality. ²² Behold, I am casting her onto a bed, along with the ones committing adultery with her, for an affliction of great magnitude, unless they repent of her works. ²³ And her children I will destroy in death; and all the churches will know that I am He who searches minds and hearts, and that I will pay to each of you according to your works.

²⁴ And to the rest of you in Thyatira I say, as many as do not hold to these teachings— the ones who have not known 'the deep things of Satan,' as they say, I am not laying any further burden upon you. ²⁵ Except what things you have, hold on to them until I come. ²⁶ And he who overcomes and keeps my works to the end, I will give him authority over the nations, ²⁷ and he will rule them with a rod of iron, shattering them to pieces like pots of clay, ²⁸ even as I also have received from my Father, ³⁰ and I will give to him the morning star.

Chapter 3
To the Church in Sardis

"And to the angel of the church in Sardis, write: 'These things says He who has the seven spirits of God and the seven stars: 'I know your works, how you have the name that you are living, and you are dead. ² Be watchful, and strengthen the things that remain, which are about to die. ³² For I have not found your works complete before my God. ³³Remember therefore how you received and how you heard, and maintain that, and repent. Now then, if you are not watchful, I will come like a thief, and you will not know at what hour I will come upon you.

³⁴But you do have a few names in Sardis who have not defiled their garments, and they will walk with me in white,³⁴ because they are worthy. ³⁵He who overcomes in this way³⁵ shall be dressed in garments of white, and I will never wipe his name out of the book of life, and I will confess his name before my Father and before his angels. ³⁶He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches."

To the Church in Philadelphia

³⁸Behold I will bring of the synagogue of Satan, of those claiming to be Jews and are not, but are lying; behold, I will make them such that they will come and fall down before your feet and know that I have loved you.

³⁹Because you have kept my word about endurance, I also will keep you from the hour of trial which is about to come upon the whole inhabited earth, to try those dwelling on the earth.

⁴⁰I am coming soon. Hold fast to what you have, so that no one takes away your reward. ⁴¹He who overcomes, I will make him a pillar in the temple of my God, and he will never depart outside anymore, and I will write on him the name of my God and the name of the city of my God, the New Jerusalem, which is coming down out of heaven from my God, and also my new name.

There is a passage in Ezekiel containing many similarities to this passage, Ezekiel 1:26-28, and there the throne is described as looking like stones similar to here. One wonders if some copyists conformed this passage to the one in Ezekiel. It seems more appropriate to describe a throne in terms of stones rather than a person. Yet the one seated is not human. So was the situation instead that some copyists were trying to clarify that it was the one sitting that was like that in appearance. At any rate, the stone carnelian is flesh-colored. One could understand either reading as referring to the one sitting. On the other hand, the rule of "lectio brevior lectio potior" favors the shorter reading here. The shorter reading makes fine sense, by simply putting a comma between verses 2 and 3. It seems reasonable that the longer reading is an added explanatory phrase. On the other hand, the seeming redundancy of the NA27 reading, after v. 2 having just said, “someone sitting” already, is very Johannine in style.

43b Greek, sárdion. Some also render this as Sardius. The English word carnelian is derived from the Latin root carn, from which we get carnal and carnivore and carne, and was named that appearance. ⁴And in a circle around the throne are twenty-four thrones, and on those thrones, ⁴³ twenty-four elders ⁴⁴ dressed in white, ⁴⁵ and on their heads crowns of gold. ⁵And from the throne come flashes and sounds and thunderings. ⁶And there are seven flaming torches burning before the throne, which are the seven spirits of God, ⁶and in front of the throne is like a sea of glass, like crystal.

And in between the throne and the circle around the throne are four living beings, ⁷full of eyes, front and back. ⁸And the first being is like a lion, and the second being like an ox, and the third being has a human face, and the fourth being is like an eagle in flight. ⁹And the four beings, every one of them has six wings each, which are covered completely around with eyes, even inward. And they take no rest day or night, continually saying, "Holy, holy, holy⁴⁸ is the Lord God Almighty, who was and who is and who is to come." ⁴⁹And whenever the beings give glory and honor and thanks to the one sitting on the throne, to him who lives for ever and ever, ⁵⁰the twenty-four elders will fall down before him who sits on the throne, and worship him who lives for ever and ever, and they will place their crowns before the throne, saying, ¹¹"You are worthy, our Lord and our God, to receive glory and honor and power, for you ⁴⁹ created all things, and for your purpose they exist ⁵⁰ and were created."

because the stone was flesh-colored. The Oxford dictionary defines carnelian as a flesh-colored, deep red, or reddish-white variety of chalcedony.

³² This is from the Greek word ιρίς, which can mean rainbow or halo. Webster's second definition of aura is: "a luminous radiation: Nimbus." I didn't like rainbow, since the rainbow by definition includes the whole spectrum of colors, whereas this phenomenon is only green. Halo is possibly suitable; it's just that the English reader is accustomed to it being only something around the heads of holy people or saints in art. But halo is also used in astronomy.
Chapter 5

Who is Worthy to Open the Scroll?

1And I saw upon the right hand of the one sitting on the throne a scroll, written on, inside and back, sealed up with seven seals. 2And I saw a powerful angel, heralding in a loud voice: "Who is worthy to open the scroll, and to break the seals of it?"

3And no one was able, not in heaven nor on the earth nor under the earth, to open the scroll, or even to look at it. 4And I was weeping greatly, that no one worthy was found to open the scroll, or even to look at it. 5Then one of the elders is saying to me, "Do not weep. Look, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, he has overcome, so as to open the scroll and the seven seals of it."

6And I saw in between the throne and the four living beings and the elders, a lamb, postured as though slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the [seven] spirits of God sent forth into all the earth. 7And he went and took the scroll from the right hand of the One sitting on the throne. 8And when he had taken the scroll, the four living beings and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb, each one holding a lyre and a golden bowl filled with incenses, which are the prayers of the saints,

9and they began singing a new song, saying: "You are worthy to take the scroll, and to open the seals of it, because you were slain, and thereby purchased some"
for God with your blood out of every tribe and language and people and nation!"

10 And you made them into a kingdom and priesthood for our God, and they will reign on the earth."

11 And I looked, and I heard the voices of many angels encircled around the throne, and of the living beings and of the elders, and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand and thousands upon thousands, saying with a very great voice, "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain, to receive power and riches and wisdom and strength and honor and glory and blessing!"

13 And every creature that was in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth, and in the sea, and all the things that were in them, I heard saying, "Blessing and honor, glory and power, be to Him who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb, for ever and ever!"

6.) lac: P115 C P7. The TR reading in v. 10 of "us" and "we will reign" is supported by only a few late Greek manuscripts. According to the UBS Textual Commentary, the reading of Codex A and the Ethiopic best explains the origin of the others: copyists wanted to supply an object for the verb. But when they added the ἡμᾶς, "us," they created a conflict with v. 10 where it says "you have made αὐτοὺς - "them" into a kingdom and priests, and βασιλεύσουσιν "they" will reign. As the text stands in the/RE editions, it at first seems you have the 24 elders saying they themselves were purchased by His blood, but then in v. 10 they exclude themselves from the group that will reign on the earth. But it is likely that the 24 elders will indeed be among those who reign on the earth, since they sit on 24 thrones and have golden crowns. Whereas, when you have the elders word it as in the NA27, they can be including themselves in the "some" who were purchased and will reign. However, Dr. Maurice A. Robinson says the solution probably lies in the fact that there are multiple groups who are singing this song, and they are taking turns singing different parts; i.e., the Elders sing the "us" part, and the Four Living Beings sing the "them" part. (See endnote in my longer edition for Dr. Robinson's exact words.) The idea the idea of a two-part responsive praise was (perhaps) first put forward by Moses Stuart in 1845.

Responsive praise. Moses Stuart "A Commentary on the Apocalypse Volume 2" Andover, New York 1845. H. C. Hoskier explains the omission of ἡμᾶς in Codex A as follows: "the word was 'lost' in the transition from one column to the next." (You can view the pertinent page of Codex A for yourself at the Center for the Study of New Testament Manuscripts, find Codex A, Codex Alexandrinus, MS. nr. GA02, page image 129b.) But since Revelation says Christ himself will reign on the earth (11:15; 20:6), the idea that the 24 elders will not reign on the earth is preposterous. Their 24 thrones surround the throne of the Lamb, and they will reign with Him on the earth. The New Jerusalem will be on the earth. That city has 12 foundations, and 12 gates, with the names of the 12 apostles and 12 tribes respectively; thus a total of 24 elders.

And to him was given a large sword.

5 And when the third seal was opened, I heard the voice of the third being saying, "Come." These are not Greek manuscripts in the normal sense, because they are handwritten copies of printed editions. In other words, they do not bolster the Textus Receptus as sources for the Textus Receptus, because they ARE the Textus Receptus. See where Hoskier states this in Text Volume 2, p. 156, lines 26,27, where he says "Negl. 57 et 141 ex ed. typ. exscripti." (This means, "Disregard 57 and 141 since they are handwritten copies of printed editions.") So yes, only one Greek manuscript reads with the TR here. “Manuscript” means “hand written.” If we are going to say that 57 and 151 are Greek manuscripts, then someone could fairly make 10,000 handwritten copies of the Nestle-Aland 27th edition New Testament, and then claim that the NA27 is the majority text.

The 144,000 Sealed

1 After this I saw four angels standing at the four points of the earth, holding back the four winds of the earth, so that no wind would blow upon the earth, or upon the sea or upon any tree.

2 And I saw another angel rising up from the east, holding the seal of the living God, and he cried out in a very great voice toward the four angels to whom the orders had been given to harm the earth and the sea, saying, "Do not harm the earth or the sea or the trees until we have sealed the servants of our God on their foreheads."

3 And I heard the number of the ones sealed, 144,000, sealed from every tribe of the sons of Israel: from the tribe of Judah twelve thousand were sealed, from the tribe of Reuben twelve thousand, from the tribe of Gad twelve thousand, from the tribe of Asher twelve thousand, from the tribe of Naphtali twelve thousand, from the tribe of Manasseh twelve thousand, from the tribe of Simeon twelve thousand, from the tribe of Levi twelve thousand, from the tribe of Issachar twelve thousand, from the tribe of Zebulun twelve thousand, from the tribe of Joseph twelve thousand, from the tribe of Benjamin twelve thousand were sealed.

10 And all the angels had stood in a circle around the throne and around the elders and the four living beings, and they fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God, saying, "Amen. Blessing and glory and wisdom and thanks and honor and power and strength be to our God for ever and ever. Amen."

11 And one of the elders responded saying to me, "These wearing the white robes, who are they, and where did they come from?"

12 And I spoke to him, "My lord, you know."

And he said to me, "These are those coming out of the great tribulation, and they have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."

Chapter 8
The 7th Seal: the Seven Trumpets

1And when he opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour. 2And I saw the seven angels which stand before God, and seven trumpets were given to them. 3And another angel came and stood at the altar, holding a golden censer, and many incenses were given to him so that he might present the prayers of all the saints at the golden altar which is before the throne. 4And the smoke of the incenses went up before God from the hand of the angel mingled with the prayers of the saints. 5And the angel took the censer and filled it with the burning incense, and he hurled it to the earth; and there came rumblings and voices and peals of thunder, and earthquakes. 6And the seven angels who had the seven trumpets readied themselves to play.

7And the first one sounded his trumpet; and there came hail and fire mixed with blood, and it was rained on the earth. And one third of the earth was burned up, and one third of the trees were burned up, and all the green grass was burned up.

8And the second angel sounded his trumpet; and something like a huge mountain burning with fire was hurled into the sea. And one third of the sea was turned to blood, and one third of the creatures that have lives in the sea died, and one third of the ships were destroyed.

This omission is a clear case of “homoioiteleuton” that happened in the Greek copying process. That means, the lines end the same, so a copyist, having left off his work for a break, then resumed doing his work, and he remembers, “I resume, at the line ending with κατεκάη,” but he resumed with the wrong line ending with κατεκάη. Skipped one line by accident. Homoioteleuton. Or, it could have been a case of "homoioarcton," that is, all three lines BEGIN the same, with καὶ, and the scribe having left off, resumed, thinking, "I resume with the line beginning with καὶ, but he picked the wrong line beginning with καὶ. Interestingly, the scribe of manuscript 620 wrote the phrase in question two times, which is another kind of result from parablepsis from homoioteleuton.

9Greek: τὰ ἔχοντα ψυχάς, literally, “a third of the creatures in the sea died, those possessing souls.” Bauer begins his lexicon entry for this word ψυχή, “soul,” by saying, "It is often impossible
And the third angel sounded his trumpet; and a huge star fell from heaven, burning like a lamp, and it fell on a third of the rivers, and on the sources of the waters. And the name of the star means "Wormwood." And a third of the waters were turned into bitterness, and many of the people died from the waters because they were made bitter.

And the fourth angel sounded his trumpet; and a third of the sun was struck, and a third of the moon and a third of the stars, such that one third of their light was darkened\(^{80}\) and a third of the daylight would not be shined, and the same with the night.

The Fifth Trumpet

And the fifth angel sounded his trumpet; and I saw a fallen star\(^{82}\) fallen out of heaven onto earth, and the key to the bottomless pit had been given to him. And he opened the bottomless pit, and smoke ascended from the pit like smoke from a giant furnace. And the sun and the sky became dark from the smoke of the pit.

And from the smoke, locusts went out over the earth, and they were given a power like the power that the scorpions of Earth have.

to draw hard and fast lines between the meanings of this many-sided word." It would certainly be silly to render this instance of the word as "lives," as follows: "one third of the creatures in the sea died, those having lives." It is very unlikely that any author would feel the need to make clear that it was those creatures that had lives, that died. This seems to be a demonstrative phrase, specifying some particular subset of creatures. "Those that have breath" seems possible, as in conformance with the usage in Genesis. Compare LXX Genesis 1:30, those having the breath of life; and 2:7, where the man became a soul when he received the breath of life through his nostrils. Further, the LXX in Genesis 1:20–23 calls those sea creatures that breathe, such as whales and snakes, "souls." But then the question arises why the bloody sea would kill only air-breathers. The problematic phrase, τὰ ἔχοντα ψυχάς, with the nominative definite article, is commented on in the BDF grammar in § 136(1) as follows, "Revelation exhibits a quantity of striking solecisms which are based especially on inattention to agreement (a rough style), in contrast to the rest of the NT and to the other writings ascribed to John: (1) An appositional phrase (or circumstantial participle) is often found in the nominative instead of an oblique case (§ 137(3))." The only reasonable apposition or circumstance seems to be as worded above: "those that have lives in the sea."

\(^{80}\) 8:12 The verb 'was darkened' is singular. I don't think it is saying that one third of 'them were darkened,' but rather one third of something singular 'was darkened,' and the meaning is that one third of their strength, one third of the collective light was darkened. What it is NOT saying is that one third of the number of them were totally dark. And probably not that one third of the duration of the day or night was dark. It is saying that the day and the night were each only two thirds as light as normal. See Isaiah 13:10; Ezekiel 32:7; Joel 3:15

83 9:4 Compare ch. 6:6, "A quart of wheat for a day's wage, or three barley loaves for a day's wage. And don't you damage the oil or wine." An implication here about the green grass and trees, from the commandment to the locusts that they not damage anything green, could be that green things will be precious and rare in those days already, before all these plagues take place. On the other hand, locusts' natural inclination would be to eat such, and they are being commanded to do otherwise.

84 9:12 The Greek words I rendered "after all this" are "meta tauta." This phrase is usually found, in Revelation, at the beginning of a sentence, not the end as here. Therefore, there seems to be an emphasis put on this phrase by putting it last. And the word "behavior" adds to the emphasis.

That is, most manuscripts say, "TWO woe still IT IS coming." The TR has grammatical concord: "TWO woe still ARE coming." But what is most interesting is the concord of the Bohairic Coptic (3rd Century): "a SECOND woe IS coming." The Buchanan Italic manuscript h (55) (5th century) has a hiatus for the verb, but it also says "the SECOND woe." Yet the form δοῦ can still be taken to mean "second," with the word oxiōi being singular. In Semitic languages there is an ambiguity between "two" and "second," Cardinal and Ordinal. But in BDF §248(3), deBrunner says "Late Greek and Latin, however, concur in this ambiguity." Thus this might be properly translated, "still a second woe is coming." This variant is mentioned in BDF §136(5) as an example of the frequent solecisms to be found in Revelation. But, another possibility is a textual corruption. After all, 046 1678 1778 2080 read "two woes are coming." Is it not possible that this is the original? Yet I can see the validity of the argument that this reading is an editorial correcting a solecism. Thus my D rating. The word ἔτι "still / more" is a natural addition, and its addition is more easily explained than its omission.

17 And this is how I saw the horses in the vision, and those sitting on them: Having breastplates like fire, that is, dusky red and sulphur colored; and the heads of the horses like heads of lions, and from their mouths comes fire and smoke and sulphur. 18 By these three plagues, of the fire and smoke and sulphur coming from their mouths, one third of humanity was killed. 19 Now the power of the horses is in their mouths and in their tails; for their tails are like snakes, having heads, and with these they do injury.

20 And the rest of humanity, those who were not killed by these plagues, they did not repent, neither of the works of their hands, such that they worship demons and idols made of gold and silver and bronze and stone and wood, which can neither see nor hear nor walk, and neither did they repent of their murders, nor their sorceries, nor their sexual immorality, nor their thefts.

All the altars mentioned in the Mosaic temples, and in the Ezekiel 43:15 temple, have four horns, see Ex 27:2; 29:12; 30:10; 43:20; Lev. 4:7, 18, 25, 30, 34; 8:15; 9:9; 16:18; 1 Kings 1:50; 2:28; Psalm 118:27, Jer. 17:1; Zech. 1:18 (Amos 3:14 says "horns of the altar" without the number four). This Greek word φάρμακον - pharmacon is used nowhere else in the New Testament. Its meaning in other literature ranges from poison, to magic potions and charms to medicines and drugs. The other Greek words in the N.T. derived from the same root usually pertain to sorcery and magic. Even in the case of the BYZ reading φαρμακειῶν, the primary meaning is use of drugs for any purpose. In much of the world today, there are still witch doctors and shamans, and they commonly in their craft employ drugs and the altered state caused by them. The UBS committee says they chose the reading φαρμακειῶν "partly on the basis of external support, and partly because copyists would have been more likely to alter it to the more specific φαρμακ(ε)ιῶν, which occurs in 18:23 and Gal. 5:20, than vice versa." Looking at this text with current events in view, I must conclude that this text refers both to narcotics and to pharmaceutical drugs. Witchcraft and paganism are a dominant religion on planet earth, and always have been. But drugs are also a big problem. The dynastical families that constitute the invisible One World Government made their wealth from trading both in narcotics and in pharmaceutical drugs, on both of which they earn a huge retail mark-up. They also control most of the world's insurance companies and currencies. Note how many of the mainstream pharmaceutical drugs are now the target of tort lawyers for all the damage that they do to us.

The Prophet's Bitter Burden

1 And I saw another powerful angel coming down out of heaven, wrapped in a cloud, and a nimbus\(^{90}\) above his head, and his face like the sun, and his legs\(^{91}\) like columns of fire, \(^{2}\)and holding in his hands a little scroll that was opened. And he placed his right foot upon the sea, and his left upon the land, \(^{3}\)and he cried out with a great voice, like a lion roaring. And when he had cried out, the seven thunders spoke with their sounds.\(^{92}\)

4 And when the seven thunders had spoken, I was about to write, and I heard a voice from heaven saying, "Seal up what things the seven thunders have spoken, and do not write them."

5 And the angel which I had seen standing on the sea and on the land, he lifted his right\(^{93}\) hand to heaven, \(^{6}\)and swore by Him who lives for ever and ever, who gave birth to the heaven and the things in it, and to the earth and the things in it, and to the sea and the things in it, he swore\(^{94}\) that there shall be no more time, \(^{7}\)but that in the days of the blast of the seventh angel, whenever he is about to sound his trumpet, even then will be brought to completion the mystery of God, as he has announced it to his servants the prophets.\(^{94}\)

8 And the voice that I had heard from heaven, it spoke with me again, and said, "Go take the scroll\(^{95}\) that is opened in the hand of the angel who is standing on the sea and on the land."

9 And I went over to the angel, asking him to give me the little scroll. And he says to me, "Take it and eat it, and it will make your stomach bitter, though in your mouth it will be sweet like honey." 10 And I took the little scroll from the hand of the angel, and I ate it, and in my mouth it was sweet like honey. And after I had eaten it, my stomach was made bitter.

The Two Witnesses

1 And a reed was given to me, like a measuring rod, as he was saying, "Get up, and measure the temple of God along with the altar and those worshiping in it. 2 And the outer courtyard of the temple you shall exclude, and not measure it, for it has been given to the Gentiles, and they will trample on the holy city for forty-two months. 3 And I will give authority to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy, for 1,260 days clothed in sackcloth."

4 These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands which stand before the Lord of the earth. 5 And if anyone wants to harm them, fire comes from their mouth and consumes their enemies. And if anyone would want to harm them, this is how he ought to be killed. 6 These have the authority to shut up the sky so that no rain will fall during the days of their prophesying, and they have authority over the waters to turn them into blood, and to strike the earth with any kind of plague as often as they wish. 7 And when they complete their witness, the beast coming up out of the bottomless pit will make war with them, and will conquer them and kill them.

8 And their corpses lie on the boulevard of the great city which is spiritually named Sodom and Egypt, where also their Lord was crucified. 9 And from peoples and tribes and languages and nations they see their corpses for three and a half days. And they are not allowing their corpses to be placed in a grave.

10 And those dwelling on the earth rejoice over them, and celebrate, and will send gifts to one another. For these two prophets had tormented those dwelling on the earth.
And after three and a half days, the breath of life from God went into them, and they stood up on their feet. And great fear fell over those watching them. And they heard a great voice from heaven saying to them, "Come up here." And they went up into heaven in a cloud, and their enemies watched them. And in that hour a great earthquake took place, and one tenth of the city collapsed, and 7,000 people were killed. And the survivors were terrified, and they gave glory to the God of heaven.

The second woe has passed. Behold, the third woe comes quickly.

The Last Trumpet

And the seventh angel sounded his trumpet; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord, and of his Christ! And he shall reign for ever and ever!"

And the twenty-four elders, who sit on their thrones before God, fell on their faces and worshiped God, saying, "We thank you, Lord God Almighty, who is and who was, that you have taken that great power of yours and begun to reign. And the nations have become angry, and your anger also has come, and the time for the dead to be judged, and reward to be given to your servants the prophets and to the saints and to those fearing your name, both small and great, and to destroy the ones destroying the earth."

And the temple of God in heaven opened, and the ark of his covenant was seen in his temple; and there came peals of thunder, and voices and rumblings and an earthquake, and large hailstones.

The Philoxenian Syriac has “fire” instead of earthquake.
Chapter 12

The Woman, Her Seed, and the Dragon

1 And a great sign was seen in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars, and being with child, and crying out with contractions and anguish to deliver.

2 And another sign was seen in heaven, and behold, a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and on his heads seven crowns, and his tail is pulling one third of the stars from heaven; and it threw them to the earth. And the dragon took his stand in front of the woman who was about to deliver, so that he might devour the child whenever it was born.

3 And she bore a son, a male child, who was destined to shepherd all the nations with a rod of iron. And her child was snatched up to God and to his throne.

4 And the woman fled to the desert, to where she has a place prepared there by God, so that there they might take care of her for 1,260 days.

5 And there was war in heaven, Michael and his angels must make war with the dragon. And the dragon made war, and his angels also, and he was not strong enough, neither was their place found anymore in heaven.

6 And I heard a great voice in heaven, saying, "Now has come the salvation and power and kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ; for the accuser of our brethren has been thrown out, the one accusing them before our God day and night, and these have overcome him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, and they did not love their lives even unto death.

7 And I heard a great voice from the throne saying, "Now the dwellers in heaven, rejoice over this! Woe to the earth and to the sea! For the devil has come down to you with great fury, because he knows that he has but little time."

114 12:3 Greek, diadems; whereas the Greek word for the crowns of 12:1 is stephanos. The diadem is of Persian origin, signifying royalty; and the stephanos originally had more the meaning of a prize or trophy or reward. It was originally a wreath, as well.

115 12:4 That is, one third of the angels. We know of only three archangels: the being who is now Satan, and Michael, and Gabriel. Therefore it is reasonable to conclude that each archangel ruled one third of the angels. When Satan was cast out of heaven, he took the one third of the angels with him. See for example 12:7, where it says "Michael and his angels." Jesus said in Luke 10:18, "I was watching as Satan fell from heaven like lightning."

116 12:5 Or also "who is soon to shepherd."
And when the dragon saw that he was thrown to the earth, he went after the woman that bore the male child. And she was given the two wings of a great eagle to fly to the desert to that place of hers where she gets taken care of for a time, times, and half a time, away from the face of the serpent.

And the serpent poured water from his mouth like a river after the woman, to cause her to be swept away by a flood, and the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed the flood that the dragon had poured from his mouth.

And the dragon was enraged over the woman, and went off to make war with the rest of her seed, those keeping the commandments of God and bearing the witness of Jesus. And he stood at the shore of the sea.

Chapter 13

The First Beast, out of the Sea

And I saw a beast coming up from the sea, with ten horns and seven heads, and on its horns ten crowns, and on its heads a name that is blasphemy. And the beast which I saw was like a leopard, and the feet of it like a bear's, and his mouth like the mouth of a lion. And the dragon gave his power to him, and his throne, and great authority. 3And one of his heads was as good as slain to death, and the fatal wound was healed. And the whole earth was filled with wonder and followed after the beast, 4and they worshiped the dragon because he had given authority to the beast, and they worshiped the beast, saying, "Who is like the beast, and who is able to wage war with him?"

5And there was given to him a mouth speaking big things and blasphemies, and authority was given to him to act for forty-two months. 6And he opened his mouth in blasphemies toward God, to blaspheme his name and his tabernacle, those tabernacling in heaven. 7And it was given to him to make war with the saints and to conquer them, and authority was given to him over every tribe and people and language and nation. 8And they worship him, all those dwelling on the earth, every one whose name is not written in the book of life of the Lamb that was slain from the foundation of the world.

If anyone has an ear, hear. 10If anyone is to be taken captive, into captivity he is going. 11If anyone is to be killed with the sword, with the sword he will be killed. Here is the endurance and faith of the saints.

The RP reading of "if anyone has [the lot or destiny of] captivity, he must go," seems to be a clarification of the first clause of the Codex A reading. And it could be argued that the additional phrase "into captivity" he must go, in the second clause, was a clarification on the part of Codex A as well. And then the "HAS part of the RP reading, "has captivity" was then interpreted by the TR copyists as meaning, "if anyone has captives," rather than if anyone has that fate. Happily, the, RP, NA27 and UBS4 readings are the same in meaning. The TR reading has no Greek manuscript support as it is worded in the Greek, but agrees in meaning with the manuscripts listed with it, and even those three do not agree.

It is a principle of Textual Criticism that when there is a large set of variations on a reading, it is suspect. Such is the case here with the present indicative active reading. The UBS Textual Commentary says: "Among the dozen variant readings, the least unsatisfactory appears to be ἀποκτανθῆναι, αὐτὸν,"["is to be killed, he,"] supported by Codex Alexandrinus. As in the first two lines of the verse, the third and fourth lines teach (as does also Jr 15:2, on which the saying rests) the duty of endurance and the fulfillment of the will of God. Perhaps under the influence of such sayings as Mt 26:52 (πάντες γὰρ οἱ λαβόντες μάχαραν ἐν μαχαίρῃ ἀπολούνται), copyists modified in various ways the difficult Greek construction (which, as Charles points out, seems to be a literal rendering of a distinctively Hebrew idiom, "if anyone is to be slain with the sword, he is to be slain with the sword") and introduced the idea of retribution (persecutors will be requited in strict accord with the lex talionis)." See also Jeremiah 15:2.

pronoun 'autos' here. Many translations have rendered didōmi as "receive." Tyndale did it, though there were a few manuscripts that had the Greek word for receive here. But "receive" is not lexically supported as a possible meaning of didōmi. Again, it is fashionable to render 3rd person plural actives as passives; see for example Mark 4:21, erchetai, "exist"; Luke 12:20, apaitousin "they are demanding"; Rev. 10:11, legōsin, "they are saying"; Rev. 11:1, legōn, "as he is saying"; Rev. 12:6, trephōsin, "they might take care," and other examples. I am saying that I rendered all these as actives, and they work fine that way. So there is no reason compelling enough to break the rules of grammar. The only reason I can come up with for this trend, is that it is their idea of an "impersonal" verb. Yes, a general "they" is impersonal, but that is still not a reason to make an active verb passive. It is perfectly colloquial and grammatical to say "they call him Jesus," etc. The only justification for making an active verb passive that I know of in the grammars, is the Aramaic 3rd person plural impersonal; see next footnote. But that is a rare and questionable occurrence, and the burden of proof is on the one asserting that it is happening.

The TR has the verb "give" in 3rd person singular, δῶσῃ, and subjunctive aorist. The TR reading reflects an attempt to think to conform the clause to the standard Greek configuration for an "impersonal" verb, where there is no subject as a giver, and the verb is turned passive. Thus, "they might be given." This is a fact that the Greek grammars say that an "impersonal" verb in Greek grammar is in the 3rd person SINGULAR. I conclude that this is a deliberate change in the Greek text to correct grammar.

The TR reading is a small minority reading, in later manuscripts, and probably not the authorial text. Could it be conforming it to the Latin of Irenaeus and Victorinus? Or is it influenced by the late Syriac?

The majority reading, of the verb as 3rd person plural, and the object being αὐτοῖς, is unusual Greek, and there are really only two options as to how to make it intelligible as it is.

Option 1, the word αὐτοῖς is a contraction of ἐαυτοῖς, and means "they give themselves." This is the way the scribe of ms. 1828 saw it, which reads δῶσαι ἐαυτοῖς, and this is certainly a real possibility. The ambiguity of αὐτοῖς with αὐτοίς (ἐαυτοῖς) is a common textual variant in Revelation that I have seen. Remember, the uncials and papyri did not have breathing marks. So, αὐτοῖς, even with the smooth breathing mark, can easily and rightly be understood as reflexive, and mean "themselves." So the scribe of ms. 1828 was either correcting grammar, or merely understanding αὐτοῖς as a contraction of ἐαυτοῖς. And it is possible that his exemplar had the long form ἐαυτοῖς.

Option 2, is what M. Black, in An Aramaic Approach to the Gospels and Acts, pp. 126-128, would call an Aramaism, and be a "third person plural impersonal" and the meaning be similar to what the Philoxenian and Harklean Syriac read, "they be given" or "they receive." The TR reading with its 3rd singular verb would not qualify as the Aramaic impersonal remember.

An Aramaism is an unusual and rare occurrence, and I think the burden of proof that it is occurring, is on the one saying it. That said, I have come to believe that Revelation does show an Aramaic mind in its author. For example, though even ancient Greek the words for foot πούς and hand χειρ originally meant the whole limb, not just the foot and hand, this is most definitely always true in Hebrew and Aramaic. The author of Revelation uses πούς, "foot" to mean the whole limb, where he says the feet of the angel were like "columns" of fire. Legs are like columns, their forehead, so that no one is able to buy or sell without having the mark—the name of the beast or the number of his name. Here is wisdom:

and feet are not. Therefore similarly, we must conclude that in Revelation 13:16, with χείρ the author means anywhere on the entire upper right limb, not just the hand.

In The Morphology of Koine Greek As Used in the Apocalypse of St. John: A Study, G. Mussies states, "The 3rd person singular is the category which is used when the verb is impersonal," p. 232. Regarding 3rd person plurals as passives in Revelation, Steven Thomson in his book, The Apocalypse and Semitic Syntax, Cambridge, he says on p. 21 that there are two instances: in 2:24 and 8:2. He says the ὡς λέγουσιν in 2:24 means "what is called" the deep things of Satan. (I disagree with this. I translate it as follows: "the deep things of Satan," as they say.' In 8:2 the Greek text says ἐδόθησαν αὐτοῖς which is already passive. His example is from a Coptic text! Thomson does not mention this situation in 13:16. But I say, there were many, many opportunities for the proposed Aramaism to show up in Revelation, and it did not; so why must this here be such an example? I say this is not such, and I am saying here that the subject of this verb is the recipients, because autois in Revelation very often means "themselves," even without the rough breathing mark. At any rate, if the beast "causes all to receive a mark," the recipients are still getting it for themselves, unless the beast or his agent captures each individual, ties them down, and forces the mark onto them. But if that were the case, would God be able to hold them responsible for it? I don't believe so. So I am saying that you will have to get it for yourself, and then God can hold you responsible for doing it.

The Greek word is χείρ, and meant the entire limb/arm, including the hand all the way up to the shoulder, as so also the word for foot can mean the whole leg; compare Revelation 10:1, where the Greek word is πόδες (feet, sg. πούς), but can and does mean there, the entire leg or limb. This is true also in many of the languages where I was raised—branding, carving, engraving or stamp. Slaves had a poke in the flesh of their ear to show ownership. So here also, the mark of the beast will show one's voluntary allegiance to the beast and submission to the ownership of the beast. I get the impression from translating this passage that this mark will be self-arranged; that is, people will be told to do it, but nevertheless they ultimately do it voluntarily. They themselves are responsible for making sure they have it, if they want to buy or sell. In other words, it need not be mandatory by law, but life will be extremely hard without it. How could a government give the mark to 20 billion people by force in the remotest jungle? On the other hand, economic incentives have historically worked very well, without the need for something being mandatory by law. Most people serve Mammon anyway, so it will be a no-brainer for most people to get the mark. It will be a blessing on the other hand, for God's people, in that those who are serving Mammon will repent of that, and truly be content with their daily bread from God, and truly live by faith. The exciting life. Exciting to see how God will feed them each day. But we see in this book that many or most of God's people will die or be killed during those days.

The Greek word is χείρ, and meant the entire limb/arm, including the hand all the way up to the shoulder, as so also the word for foot can mean the whole leg; compare Revelation 10:1, where the Greek word is πόδες (feet, sg. πούς), but can and does mean there, the entire leg or limb. This is true also in many of the languages where I was raised—the word for hand or foot can mean the entire extremity. Thus here, this mark could be anywhere from the hand on up. This "hina" is still connected to the poioi of 13:16a. The initial "and" in this verse is absent from some manuscripts, because, I now quote A Textual Commentary on the Greek New Testament edited by Bruce Metzger, with text in square brackets supplied by me: "The absence of κύριοι [initial "and"] in κυριοὶ C about 25 minuscules (including 1611) syrph,h copsa,bo al appears to be a secondary modification arising from misunderstanding the relationship between verses 16 and 17. When the ἰνα μην ["so that not"] at the beginning of v. 17 clause was taken to be dependent upon δοκεῖν ["they might give"], κύριοι was naturally regarded as superfluous, whereas the clause is no doubt to be taken as dependent upon ποιεῖ ["he or it causes" at the beginning of v. 16] and therefore coordinate with the ἰνα δοκεῖν ["such that they might give"] clause. The text [that includes "and" at the beginning of v. 17] is supported by ἱνα Ἰούνιος A vid P 046 051 1006 1854 2344 itvs vg arm eth al."

Here is a link to the image of Papyrus 115: http://www.bibletranslation.ws/gfx/p115.jpg The Greek letters are Η ΧΙς. The "H" letter is a whole Greek word that can mean "or." It can also be the feminine definite article. David Parker writes (in his NTS article): "There is too much space in the papyrus for what one would expect from other witnesses, suggesting that something extra has been written by mistake." He considers the "line written over letter" Εta as a correction sign. The UBS Textual Commentary on the Greek New Testament states on p. 49 that Irenaeus "says that 666 is found 'in all good and ancient copies,' and is 'attested by those who had themselves seen John face to face.' ...When Greek letters are used as numerals the difference between 666 and 616 is merely a change from ξ to ι (666 = χξς and 616 = χις). Perhaps the change was intentional, seeing that the Greek form Neron Caesar written in Hebrew characters (ךֵּנַרָע) is equivalent to 666, whereas the Latin form Nero Caesar (נֵרוֹ), is equivalent to 616." In addition, Peter M. Head, in Some Recently Published NT Papyri from Oxyrhynchus: An Overview and Preliminary Assessment, Published in Tyndale Bulletin 51 (2000), pp. 1-16, points out that others have noticed that "two possible transliterations of 'beast' into Hebrew could produce either 616 or 666. That is, θηριου (genitive) as in Rev. 13:18 is תריון; while θηριον (nominative) is תריון. The mathematics is: χ = 100, ε = 60, η = 70, ρ = 100, ι = 400. For a full discussion see R. Bauckham, 'Nero and the Beast' in The Climax of the Covenant: Studies on the Book of Revelation (Edinburgh: T. & T. Clark, 1997), pp. 384-452, also D. Aune, Revelation 6-16 (Waco, Texas: Word, 1998), pp. 722, 769-73." There is a marginal note in MS 1854: "λατεῖνος." This reflects one of the early gematrial theories, held by, among others, Irenaeus, that 666 stood for the Roman Empire. (This is what λατεῖνος means, the Roman Empire.) Here is the math: λ = 30, α = 1, τ = 300, ε = 5, ι = 10, ν = 50, ο = 70, ς = 200, which add up to 666. Irenaeus favored Τεῦταν (Titus) as the most likely gematrial equivalent for 666, because it had six letters, and he favored Λατεῖνος second most. If the final ν is removed from Τεῦταν, you get the number 616. Another, current, theory is that John originally wrote just the 3 letters χξς and that the Arabic writing that Islamic Jihadists wear on their foreheads or the right arms, which looks very much like these 3 Greek letters, will be the mark of the beast, and that the beast will be the Mahdi, or Islam's Messiah:

12Here is the endurance of the saints, those keeping the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus. 13And I heard a voice from heaven saying, "Write, Blessed are the dead, those dying in the Lord from now on."
"Yes," says the Spirit, "in that they shall rest from their labors, with their works, you see following right with them." 14And I looked, and behold, a white cloud, and someone like a son of man sitting on the cloud, having a crown of gold on his head, and a sharp sickle in his hand. 15And another angel came, from the temple, calling out in a loud voice toward the one sitting on the cloud, "Send out your sickle and reap, for the hour to reap has come, since the harvest has become dry." 16And the one sitting on the cloud launched his sickle over the earth, and the earth was harvested. 17And another angel came from the temple that is in heaven, he also holding a sharp sickle.

17And another angel came from the temple that is in heaven, he also holding a sharp sickle.

Grain is ready to harvest when it is dry and the seed is no longer green.
And another angel came from the altar, who had authority over the fire, and he called out in a loud voice to the one holding the sharp sickle, saying, "Send out your sharp sickle, and collect the clusters of the vine of the earth, for its grapes have peaked." And the angel launched his sickle onto the earth, and gathered the vine of the earth, and he cast it into the great winepress of God's wrath.

And the winepress outside the city was trampled, and the blood went out from the winepress as deep as the bridles of the horses for a distance of 1,600 stadia.

Chapter 15
The Seven Bowls Full of Wrath

And I saw another sign in heaven, great and awesome: seven angels having the seven last plagues, for with them is completed the wrath of God.

And I saw like a sea of glass mixed with fire, and the ones overcoming of the beast and of his image and of the number of his name were standing on the glassy sea, holding lyres of God.

And they are singing the song of Moses the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, as follows,

Great and marvelous are your deeds,
O Lord God Almighty.

Just and true are your ways,
O king of the nations.

Who shall not fear, O Lord,
and glorify your name?
Because you alone are pure. 173
For all the nations will come, and will worship before you, because your righteous judgments have been revealed."

5And after these things I looked, and the temple of the tabernacle of testimony was opened in heaven, and out of the temple came the seven angels who had the seven plagues, dressed in clean bright linen and gird around the chest with golden sashes. 7And one of the four living beings handed to the seven angels seven bowls made of gold, which were becoming full of the wrath of God, who lives for ever and ever. 8And the temple was filled with smoke, from the glory of God and from his power, and no one is able to go into the temple until the seven plagues of the seven angels are carried out.

The family of minuscules 104, 336, 459, 620, 1918, are diglots, Greek and Latin, and their Latin text reads lapide, "stone." The Greek witnesses reading λιθον "linen" (only a small fraction of them cited here) do not as to its accent and spelling. They show a very wide variety thereof. Several minuscules show knowledge of the λιθον reading in their scholia (242, 250, 743, 2070, 2075, 2077, and by inference versus "txt"- 2051, 2064, 2067). Hoskier points out Ezekiel 28:13-14, where that cherub is described to be dressed in stone. So perhaps A and C harmonized to Ezekiel. There are several instances of Apocalypse manuscripts harmonizing to Daniel or to Ezekiel. Ezekiel chapter 28: "13 You were in Eden, the garden of God; every precious stone was your covering, the sardius, the topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the Jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of your tabrets and of your pipes was in you; in the day that you were created they were prepared. 14 You were the anointed cherub that covers..." Oecumenius appears completely unaware of the "linen" variant, and knows only "stone", and comments at length about these angels' clean bright stone dress. He says angels were dressed in linen, or stone of various value, depending on their power and rank. See Arethas' and Andrew's scholii in 2070 and 250. They state that angels' native condition of ceremonial purity was to be dressed in a clean stone linen. Elsewhere Arethas says of the stone, that it was "golden, transparent stone." Some points to consider: 1. The wide variety of spelling and punctuation of the λιθον variant makes it suspect. 2. The reading λιθον is certainly the more difficult reading, more likely to prompt revision, as the 046 stream is famous for. 3. Perhaps the reading "clean bright linen" is a harmonization to the gospels' description of angels on earth, and to the description of the armies of heaven elsewhere in Revelation, like 19:14. Or perhaps to 19:8, where the βοσσιων λαμπρον καθαρον represents the righteous acts of the saints. Interesting that in both other instances of Revelation of bright clean linen, it is not the word λιθον but βοσσιων. See the endnote in my longer version of Revelation, for the Greek text of Oecumenius' commentary.

The trouble with the English suffix "-ed" to show passive voice, is that it also is used to show past tense in a verb that is not passive. In other words, I could have said, "And the water of it was dried up," but in English that can sound like a past tense statement that says the water was already dried up. It is part of the meaning transfer to show that it was the 6th bowl that caused the Euphrates River to dry up. In American English the passive is disappearing, for some unjustifiable reason.

This is a passage in Revelation that really separates the good manuscripts from the inferior. The ones reading the word "temple" alone here are the best manuscripts of the Apocalypse of John. (See next footnote.) The uncial C is also good in Revelation, but it has a hiatus here.

\(^{189}\) 16:17e Regarding the phrase "And a loud voice came out of the temple from the throne," this source given for the loud voice, is rather perplexing at first. It would seem to be indicating a new and previously unknown throne existing in the temple, that is, the "temple of the tabernacle of testimony" in 15:5 which sets the context for this passage. Perhaps it was for this reason that many manuscripts add the explanatory phrase "of heaven," that is, designating a different temple, heaven itself being the temple, thus: "the temple of heaven." That would be something along the lines of 13:6 where it says "And he opened his mouth in blasphemies toward God, to blaspheme his name and his tabernacle, those tabernacling in heaven." In that passage heaven itself being the temple, that is, the "temple of God." In this passage heaven itself is called a tabernacle. So with the added words, this perplexing problem is then solved, designating heaven itself as being the temple, (though here the Greek word "naos" is used but in 13:6 it is "skeenee"), and that way the throne in the temple is not a new, previously unmentioned one. Yet, this present temple in this passage is first introduced in 15:5, "the temple of the tabernacle of testimony," and keys the start of this whole context of the seven bowls. So in 15:6 and onward, we now see other voices and angels coming out of this temple besides the present one. And since this particular temple is opened for the first time in 15:5, it cannot be referring to heaven, as the Majority Text seems to say. So perhaps there is an unusual meaning of the preposition apó here, such as "by authority of" the throne. According to Bauer, it is an expression known in Classical Greek to use the preposition apó to indicate the originator or authorizer of the action. John does use that expression in John 5:19, 30; 7:17; 7:28; 8:28, 42; 10:18; 11:51; 14:10; 15:4; 16:13; 18:34. Thus: a loud voice came out of the temple, on behalf of the throne. It is interesting to see that up to this point, John has been totally consistent in using the preposition ek in every case when a voice is coming from somewhere, see 9:13; 10:4; 10:8; 11:12; 14:2; 14:13; 16:1. And this applies in all editions of the Greek New Testament. But starting here and then in 19:5, there are textual variants between ek and apó. The Majority Text in the later instances says apó instead of ek. We would expect the two to be confused at a later date, since according to Blass, BDF §209, apó has absorbed ek in modern Greek. Whereas he says in §209(1) that in a locative sense the two were still distinguished for the most part in New Testament times. Now moving further in Revelation, again in 18:4 ek is used for a voice from heaven, and in 19:5 where the voice is from the throne, apó is used. That would be quite a pattern up to that point, but then 21:3 would seem to ruin it – there were lightnings and sounds and thunderings. And a powerful earthquake occurred, such as has not happened since humankind existed on the earth, so great an earthquake it was. And the great city was split into three, and the cities of the Gentiles collapsed. And Babylon the Great, it was remembered in the presence of God to give her the cup of the wine of the fury of God's wrath. And every island vanished away, and no mountains were found. And huge hailstones, about 100 pounds in weight, came down on the people out of heaven; and the people cursed God because of the plague of hail. For severe is the blow of it, extremely.

The Mysterious Prostitute

Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls came and spoke with me, saying, "Come, I will show you the judgment of the great prostitute who sits on many waters, with whom the kings of the earth have fornicated. And those dwelling on the earth have become intoxicated from the wine of her fornication."

And he carried me away in the Spirit to a wilderness. And I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast that had seven heads and ten horns, which was full of blasphemous names. And the woman was dressed in purple and scarlet, and covered with gold and precious stones and pearls, holding a golden cup in her hand, full of abominations and the uncleanness of her prostitution. And on her forehead a title was written:

A Mystery

Babylon the Great,
the mother of prostitutes
and of the abominations of the earth.

The NA27 text has a voice coming from the throne, using ek. There are two other instances in Revelation of the two prepositions ek and apó occurring together in one phrase, and they are both referring to the city called the New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, 3:12 and 21:2.

17:8a The phrase "in the future is to" is from the Greek word méllō, which often means, but does not always mean "about to." Often in the New Testament it means "is destined to," which is part of the meaning here. And often it makes a simple future infinitive, by being used with an infinitive following, as is the case here. Bauer says this phrase, a combination of méllō followed by a present infinitive, replaced the future infinitive verb of Classical Greek. See also BDF §338(3), which says the same thing, but see BDF §356 about the "imminence" meaning of the parphrase of méllō followed by a present infinitive.

Significant is that 43 or 44 minuscules run verse 8 on with v. 9, making the "here" that begins our verse 9 part of the previous clause, that is: "and will be present here.") H. C. Hoskier says there is only one Greek ms that reads as the TR, ms 141 (now known as 2049), which he says is merely a copy of the TR (probably of Erasmus' 3rd or 4th edition). Thus, the TR has no Greek manuscript support for this reading, and no versional or Patristic support either. And on page 1:615, Hoskier says, "This MS 187 with 57 and 141 must not be accorded any weight whatsoever. They are brought into the record because of their very connection with the printed text." Hoskier further states this plainly in Text Volume 2, p. 156, lines 26,27, where he says "...57 et 141 ex ed. typ. exscripti." This means 57 and 141 are "copied from printed edition."

Fallen Is Babylon the Great

1 After these things I saw another angel coming down out of heaven, having great authority, and the earth was lit up from his glory. And he cried out in a powerful voice, saying, "Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great, and has become the dwelling place of demons and the haunt of every unclean spirit and the haunt of every unclean bird, and the haunt of every unclean and detestable beast, because every nation has drunk of the wine of the wrath of her prostitution, and the kings...

197 17:13c The Greek word is gnōmē, which means what you have in mind, what you intend, what your purpose is. But it is not necessarily talking here about what the kings have in mind, (or what a one-world government has in mind) but what Satan and the beast have in mind, which providentially is also what God has in mind. Ultimately, these kings serve the purpose of God, the king of the ages. For from Him, and through Him, and to Him are all things. To God be the glory, for ever. Amen. Others think this means "these have one mind," in other words, they are in agreement with each other.

198 17:13d The Greek for "give" is in the present indicative. But this is sort of an "inverse infinitive of result." A kind of Semitism. In other words, there is a formula in Hebraic Greek called an "infinitive of result," where kai followed by an infinitive in the Greek means in English a result, ie, "and then he will do such and such." Here the formula is solved in reverse: The Greek "and then they will do such and such" means in English an exegeptical "and that is to do such and such." What they do, is what their one purpose was. And they do do it.

So now she is condemned to experience bad things, since she earlier had experienced only good things, compare Luke 16:25, where Abraham said to the rich man, "Son, recall that in your lifetime, you received your goods, while Lazarus likewise received his bad; so now here, he is comforted, and you are suffering." 213 18:12b The Greek says "thuonic wood." There was a "thuon tree" that grew in north Africa. The most important property of this tree is that its wood was burnt in offerings in ceremonies. Furniture made out of its wood was in popular demand. Its resin was valued not only for ceremonial incense, but may have been medicinally used, as an anti-biotic, anti-fungal and anti-wart. Some say this was the citron tree, also grown in north Africa, and valued for its resin and durable wood. They claim that for the Jewish feast of Booths, there developed a custom, based on the command in Leviticus 23:40 to "take the fruit of the goodliest tree" the custom to use the cedar cone in the ceremonies. But then that the custom changed to using citron fruit, with the Greek name for cedar, kedron, held over and applied to the citron. And that the Greek word for cedar, κέδρον - kedron, was latinized into citron. I don't know how valid that is, since there was a specific Greek word for citron, κίτρον - kitron. And this word was said by Pamphilus to be a word borrowed from Latin. The citron tree does have aromatic resin that was valued. This passage in Revelation does not mention how thuonic wood was used, but it reminds me of the Greek word for offering, thumos. I am not convinced that the thuon tree was the same as the citron tree. On the other hand, the Latin name thuja plicata, a kind of cedar with overlapping scale-like leaves, is said to be borrowed from the Greek word thuon. There is a tree in North America called thuja plicata, also known as red cedar. Obviously, this could hardly be the tree meant here in Revelation. 219 18:17a In Hebraistic Greek this word "hoti" like here can mean "how." There is a similar exclamation in 2 Samuel 1:19, 25, 27 about Saul and Jonathan, "How have the mighty fallen." (In
And every pilot and everyone sailing toward the place, and mariners and such as work the sea, stood afar off, and cried out, watching the smoke of her fire, saying, "What city is like the great city?" And they threw dust above their heads and cried out weeping and mourning, saying, "Alas, Alas, great city, through whom all those owning ships on the sea became rich from her Priceyness. How has she been laid waste in one hour?"

Rejoice over her, O heaven, and you saints and apostles and prophets! For God has adjudicated your redress from her. And a powerful angel lifted up a stone, like a giant millstone, and threw it into the sea, saying, "With such violence will that great city Babylon be thrown down, and never more be found."

And the sound of guitarists and musicians and flutists and trumpeters will never more be heard in you, nor will any craftsman of any skill be found in you anymore, nor the sound of a factory be heard in you anymore, and the light of a lamp will not shine in you anymore, and the sound of bridegroom and bride will not be heard in you anymore. For your traders were the lords of the earth, in that by your sorceries all nations were deceived. And in her was found the blood of prophets and of saints, indeed of all the slain upon the earth.

Hallelujah!

1 After these things I heard something like the sound of a very large multitude in heaven, saying, "Hallelujah! The salvation and glory and power of our God!

2 How true and right are his judgments! For he has judged the great prostitute who was destroying the earth with her prostitution, and has avenged the blood of his servants spilled by her hand."

3 And a second time they said, "Hallelujah! And the smoke from her ascends for ever and ever."

4 And the twenty-four elders and the four living beings fell down and worshiped God, the one sitting on the throne, saying, "Amen. Hallelujah!"

5 And there came a voice from the throne, saying, "Praise our God, all you his servants, and you who fear him, both small and great."

6 And I heard like the sound of a great multitude, and like the sound of many waters and like the sound of powerful thunderclaps, saying, "Hallelujah! For the Lord our God the Almighty has begun to reign.

7 Let us rejoice and exult, and give glory to him, for the wedding of the Lamb has come, and his wife has made herself ready;

8 and it was given to her that she be dressed in fine linen bright and clean, for the fine linen is the righteous acts of the saints."

9 And he says to me, "Write: 'Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding banquet of the Lamb.' " And he says to me, "These are true words from God."

10 And I fell down before his feet to worship him. And he says to me, "Watch out! I am your fellow servant, and one of your brothers in having the testimony of Jesus. Worship God. For the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy."

Behold a White Horse

11 And I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse, and the one sitting on it called faithful and true, and in righteousness he judges and makes war.
his eyes are like flames of fire, and on his head many diadems, having a name written on them which no one knows but himself, and he is clothed in a robe dipped in blood, and called by the name "the Word of God."

14 And the armies that are in heaven are following him on white horses, dressed in bright, clean linen. And from his mouth goes out a sharp sword, so that with it he might strike the nations, and then he himself will shepherd them with a rod of iron; and he himself will tread the press of the wine of the passion of the wrath of God the Almighty. And he has a name written on his robe and on his thigh: King of Kings and Lord of Lords.

17 And I saw an angel standing on the sun, and he cried out in a very great voice, saying, "To all the birds flying in mid-air, Come, gather toward the great feast of God. That you may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of generals, and the flesh of the mighty, and the flesh of horses and of those riding on them; even the flesh of every sort, both free and slave, both the small and the great."

19 And I saw the beast and the kings of the earth and their armies, gathered together to make war with the one sitting on the horse and with his army. And the beast was arrested, and with him the false prophet who did the wonders before him by which he deceived those receiving the mark of the beast and worshiping his image. The two were thrown while living into the lake of fire burning with sulfur. And the rest were killed by the sword which goes out from the mouth of the one sitting on the horse. And all the birds got fat off their flesh.

The One Thousand Years

1 And I saw an angel coming down from heaven, holding the key to the abyss and a giant chain in his hand. 2 And he captured the dragon, the ancient serpent, which is the Devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years, and cast him into the abyss, and sealed it over him, so that he could no longer deceive the nations, until the end of the thousand years; after them he must be released for a short time.

4 And I saw thrones, and they took their seat on them, and judgeship was given to them, that is, the souls of those beheaded because of the testimony of Jesus, and because of the word of God, and who did not worship the beast, neither the image of him, and did not take the mark on their forehead or on their hand. And they came to life, and reigned with Christ a thousand years. (The rest of the dead did not come to life until the thousand years were finished.) This is the first resurrection.

6 Blessed and holy is he who takes part in the first resurrection; over such, the second death has no power, but instead they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.

The Last War

7 And when the thousand years are finished, Satan shall be released from his prison, and he shall go forth to deceive the nations which are in the four points of the earth, Gōg and Magog, to gather them together for war, the number of them being as the sand of the seashore. And they rose up over the breadth of the earth, and surrounded the company of the saints and the beloved city. And fire came down from heaven and consumed them.

10 And the Devil, the deceiver of them, was cast into the lake of fire and sulfur, where also the beast and false prophet were, and they shall be tormented day and night, for ever and ever.
The Great White Throne of Judgement

11 And I saw a great white throne, and the one sitting on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away, and their place was found no more. 12 And I saw the dead, the great and the small, standing before the throne, and books were opened. Another book was also opened, which is the book of life. And the dead were judged from what was written in the books, according to their works. 13 And the sea gave up the dead which were in it, and Death and Hades gave up the dead which were in them, and each person was judged according to their works. 14 And Death and Hades were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death, the lake of fire. 15 And if anyone was not found written in the book of life, he was cast into the lake of fire.252

1 And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and first earth had vanished away, and the sea does not exist anymore. 2 And I253 saw the holy city, the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride made beautiful for her husband. 3 And I heard a great voice from the throne254 saying, "Behold, God's tent is with humanity. And he shall dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and he shall be their God;255 and he256 shall wipe away every tear from their eyes. 284 22:2d Compare Ezekiel 47:12, where it says “all kinds of fruit.” Some interpreters see the δωδεκα “twelve” with a δωδεκάκις meaning, that is, “twelve times,” see BDF § 248(3). If δωδεκα here means “monthly,” then κατὰ μήνα “according to the month” would seem redundant. “Monthly” is what is said in Ezekiel and also in Shemot r. 15, acc. to Lohmeyer, Hdb. ad loc. But καρπούς “fruits” here is plural, and it seems to be saying that there are 12 different kinds of fruit (but all are “the tree of life”), and each different kind of fruit is borne in a different month. You could still have “12 kinds of fruits, every month each one yielding its fruit.” But I don’t know how “month” or “monthly” either one, could be literal, since there will be no more night or day. How then would still be “months” if there is no more night or day, and there is no need for a sun anymore?

Revelation Endnote #1

"Angel" of each of the seven churches, or "messenger?"

The phrase "angel of" can mean the angel "in charge of" as in the following:
There was an "angel of the waters" in Rev. 16:5.
Angels of children in Matt. 18:10.
Angel of the fire, Rev. 14:18
Angel of the censer 8:3
Angel of the Abyss, 9:11

There is nothing unusual about God using an angel to deliver a message to humans. There are many, many such instances elsewhere in the Bible. Why not here? And according Hebrews 13:2, people have entertained angels without knowing it. Indeed, angels in the Old Testament often appeared as humans; see Gen. 16:7; 19:1; and many others.

The spies are called angels in James 2:25

The angel Gabriel, in Daniel 9:21, communicates between Daniel and God. In Daniel 10:12-14, Gabriel tells Daniel that in the process of delivering Daniel's prayers, an angel, or fallen angel to be exact, whom he called the "prince of the kingdom of Persia, hindered him in delivering those prayers, but Michael, whom he calls "one of the chief princes" and whom we know is an angel, helped Gabriel. The point I am making is that there was "an angel of Persia," that is, a fallen angel in charge of Persia. So also there was a "Prince of Greece," in Daniel 10:20. This is left over from when Satan used to be an archangel along with Michael and Gabriel. They set angels over certain territories in their military planning.

Angel acts as messenger in Rev. 1:1; 22:6, 16.

It does not make sense for the messengers of each church to be a man. Because the churches had more than one pastor in each church, they are always mentioned in the plural:

When they had ordained elders in every church, Acts 14:23.
Elders of the church in Ephesus, Acts 20:17
Ordain elders in every city, Titus 1:5
Let him call for the elders of the church, James 5:14.
I Peter 5:1,2, "The elders among you I exhort, overseers of the flock..." Here Peter equates elders, presbuteroi, with overseers, episkopoi "bishops."
Acts 20:28, (see 20:17, elders of the church of Ephesus, 20:28, Paul now calls them overseers, episkopoi, so Paul also equates presbuteroi with episkopoi.
Philippians 1:1, the church there has plural overseers.
Titus 1:5, 7 Paul says appoint elders...for an overseer is... Paul again equates an elder with an overseer.

We can say that the office of elder and the office of overseer are the same office. The overseers should naturally be somewhat elder, especially elder in the faith (I Timothy 3:6, he must not be a recent convert) and one of their main functions is to both oversee and to visit; both meanings of episkopew.

Why not an angel in charge of each church in Asia. It would not be unreasonable to assume that there is a fallen angel in charge of each church as well, representing Satan's interests.
Revelation Endnote #2

Revelation 7:6, 8

In this list of the sons of Israel, as pertaining to the 144,000, 12,000 called from each tribe of Israel, Joseph is represented twice, as his own name in verse 8, and also by way of his son Manasseh in verse 6. Israel had only 12 sons, so if Joseph is represented twice, that means that one of the other sons of Israel is missing here. Dan is missing.

Jacob's blessing of Dan:

Genesis: 49:16 Dan shall judge his people, as one of the tribes of Israel. 49:17 Dan shall be a serpent in the way, an adder in the path, that bites the horse's heels, so that his rider falls backward. 49:18 I have waited for your salvation, O Yahweh.

Recall similar language about the Serpent- Biting heels Attacking the rider on the horse Does Jacob seem to be wanting Deliverance from Dan? Jacob waits for Salvation from Dan is what I think it means. Recall also that Satan is called the Accuser of the Brethren. Dan could be a judge in this sense.

Jacob's blessing of Joseph:

Genesis: 49:22 Joseph is a fruitful bough, a fruitful bough by a fountain; his branches run over the wall. 49:23 The archers have sorely grieved him, and shot at him, and persecute him: 49:24 But his bow abode in strength, and the arms of his hands were made strong, by the hands of the Mighty One of Jacob, (From there is the shepherd, the stone of Israel), 49:25 Even by the God of your father, who shall help you, and by the Almighty, who shall bless you, with blessings of heaven above, blessings of the deep that crouches beneath, blessings of the breasts, and of the womb. 49:26 The blessings of your father have prevailed above the blessings of my progenitors to the utmost bound of the everlasting hills: They shall be on the head of Joseph, and on the crown of the head of him that was separate from his brothers.

Moses' blessing of Dan:

Deuteronomy 33:22 "And of Dan he said, Dan is a lion's whelp, That leaps forth from Bashan."

Recall Psalm 22 "bulls of Bashan surround me..."? The Bull is sometimes a symbol of Satan. Baal-zibbul. Jesus was mocked by bulls of Bashan as he suffered on the cross. Bashan was the territory of Dan.

Moses' blessing of Joseph:

33:13 And of Joseph he said, Blessed of Yahweh be his land, for the precious things of heaven, for the dew, and for the deep that crouches beneath, 33:14 And for the precious things of the fruits of the sun, and for the precious things of the growth of the moons, 33:15 And for the chief things of the ancient mountains, and for the precious things of the everlasting hills,
33:16 And for the precious things of the earth and the fulness thereof, and the good will of him that dwell in the bush. Let the blessing come upon the head of Joseph, and upon the crown of the head of him that was separate from his brothers.

33:17 The firstling of his herd, majesty is his; and his horns are the horns of the wild-ox: with them he shall push the peoples all of them, even the ends of the earth: and they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, And they are the thousands of Manasseh.

God's curse on the serpent:

Genesis 3:14 And Yahweh God said to the serpent, because you have done this, cursed are you above all cattle, and above every beast of the field; upon your belly shall you go, and dust shall you eat all the days of your life:

3:15 and I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her seed: he shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise his heel.

David:

109:8 Let his days be few; and let another take his office.
109:9 Let his children be fatherless, and his wife a widow.
109:10 Let his children be vagabonds, and beg; and let them seek their bread out of their desolate places.
109:11 Let the extortioner catch all that he has; and let strangers make spoil of his labor.
109:12 Let there be none to extend kindness unto him; neither let there be any to have pity on his fatherless children.
109:13 Let his posterity be cut off; in the generation following let their name be blotted out.

Ezekiel 47:13 "Thus saith the Lord Yahweh: This shall be the border, whereby ye shall divide the land for inheritance according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph shall have two portions."

Genesis 49:22, of Joseph: "His branches run over the wall."
This means Joseph went over the wall and took Dan's inheritance. That is what the wall signifies; the stone boundary between lots.
